

Poincare Reveals Charming Side in Visit to Old Home

French Premier Shows Gentleness Unsuspected by Friends, During Trip to Sampigny.

By Associated Press.

Paris, Aug. 18.—Premier Poincare's essentially legal mind, his high pitched metallic voice and his disposition to keep his own counsel have given him the reputation of being cold, aloof and unemotional, but his visit last Sunday to his native village of Sampigny in the devastated Meuse district, brought out hidden characteristics and his charming tenderness with children.

He spoke at the distribution of prizes to the children at the end of the school year. It was the first time prizes were given in the shell-ton village in the memory of the pupils, for they were all infants when war interrupted classes.

The premier told his "dear little friends" a thousand-year history of their once embattled homes, and spoke of the war deeds with tear-glazing eyes and a voice that trembled despite its vibrant ring.

Takes First Vacation.

"Never forget my children, it was your fathers who did these things," he said. "Let those among them who did not come back remain always living in your hearts; let those who are among you forever be the objects of your love, your veneration."

Two weeks ago M. Poincare took a few days' vacation, for the first time since the war began, in his old home villa on the side of a hill overlooking the village and in sight of St. Mihiel. He went there alone and listened over a secret telephone wire to an official of the foreign affairs department of Paris who read the recent British note on reparations and the Ruhr occupation.

Talking to a friend the other day about his first visit to France, Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the United States treasury, recalled that it was 44 years ago and that he came over with the late Henry C. Frick of Pittsburgh. They had occasion to go to a dance, he remarked with a reminiscent smile, and as neither had evening clothes, they rented from a store in the Latin quarter. He said he had been in Paris many times, but never had he enjoyed himself so much as at that time.

Mr. Mellon made it known that his interests on his present trip were concerned with art more than finance or politics.

Plan "American Room."

Americans are writing about the war and peace to such extent that an "American room" will be established when the French war library and museum are moved into permanent quarters at the Chateau de Vincennes next year. There already are $500 volumes by Americans and the museum boasts that it has one of the finest collections of American war posters.

German writers, too, have been busy writing about the war, their works comprising 25,000 volumes. France, however, has been the most prolific writer more than others, but because it is easier for the library to get hold of French works.

This institution was set up by the government to develop the work started by a wealthy Frenchman who early in the war began assembling war documents.

Whadya Mean, Gasoline Cut? Ainsworth Gets It for Nothing

Wreck of Two Tank Cars on Northwestern Railroad Spills 40,000 Gallons of Free Motive Power Into Tanks of Happy Flivver Owners.

Special Dispatch to the Omaha Bee.

O'Neill, Neb., Aug. 18.—It is immaterial to the auto owners of Ainsworth whether the Standard Oil company, the independent of the local gasoline dealer has been making the graft on past exorbitant prices of gasoline. They are not interested in any price-cutting campaign on gasoline now being waged, and the reduced prices will have to prevail for several weeks longer at least, to affect Ainsworth gas consumers. Ainsworth started to get its gasoline for nothing last Monday, while the competing gasoline dealers still were neighborly and on speaking terms. Its citizens now have enough free gasoline on hand, in barrels, tubs, fruit jars and other containers, to last them some time. It was donated to them by the Northwestern railroad company.

The free gas era in Ainsworth is due to a freight train wreck a mile west of Ainsworth last Monday, when a journal on a freight car on Northwestern eastbound freight No. 122, broke and five cars were derailed as a consequence. Two of the cars were tanks, each loaded with some 20,000 gallons of gasoline. The cars overturned as they went in the ditch and soon a lake of gasoline was formed beside the track. A flivver driver who was passing when the wreck occurred, at once sent a telegraphic message to fellow sufferers and the response was prompt. A large number responded with barrels, tubs and kettles and good time was had by all.

Consequently Ainsworth residents are not worrying about gas prices and none of the local dealers are going bankrupt selling below cost.

ADVERTISING THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL

Few People Know How Useful It Is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when properly prepared and taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, and after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the face and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

At druggists and charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Absorbent Lozenges; they are composed of the finest quality Willow charcoal powdered to extreme fineness, then compressed in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being sweetened to be smooth and palatable.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.

Many physicians advise Stuart's Absorbent Lozenges to patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat. They are also believed to greatly benefit the liver.

These lozenges cost but thirty cents a box at drug stores, and you get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Absorbent Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets.

Simple Way to Get Rid of Blackheads

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads, that is to dissolve them. To do this get two ounces of calomel powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions that form in the pores of the skin. The calomel powder and the water dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition.—Advertisement.
