Judge to Urge Whipping Post

Magistrate Angered at Epidemic of Wife Beatings in South Omaha.

As the result of today's session of South Omaha police court Judge Wappich announced he will earnestly advocate a whipping post where wife-beaters can be punished.

"There seems to be an epidemic of wife-beating in South Omaha," said Judge Wappich. "Husbands who beat their wives should be tied up and whipped. It's the only way."

The judge's anger was particularly incited by R. Dupont, Thirty-sixth and U streets, who was arraigned for drunkenness and disturbing the peace. Mrs. Dupont testified her husband beat her because she had allowed her little daughter, by a former husband, to bob her hair. Dupont was sentenced to 15 days in jail and threatened with 90 days if he repeated his offense.

Edward O'Decker, 2410 R street, was also arrested on the complaint of his wife and sentenced to 10 days in jail.

Man Loses Clothing

But He Marries a Girl from Nebraska Anyway

On Eve of Wedding

By Associated Press.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—His wedding clothes, ring and $25 were stolen on the eve of his marriage to Miss Lillian Elsasser of Beatrice, Neb., but John Schroeder borrowed money from his landlady, telegraphed the young woman to come to Chicago and the marriage took place as scheduled, it was learned today when Samuel Castle and Frank Kittelson were brought back by the police from Vandalia, Ill.

The men roomed in the same house with Shroeder, who had asked Castle to telegraph $25 to his fiancee. Castle and Kittelson were arrested in Vandalia when they drove into that city without lights in an automobile which they are charged with having stolen in Chicago.

The prisoners, the wedding suit and the ring arrived here last night while the bride and groom were at South Haven, Mich., on their honeymoon.

Central Steel Made Defendant

Ed Seibel brought suit in district court today against E. Bignell of Lincoln; W. B. Lyons, cashier of the First National bank at Lincoln; M. Skinner, Ralston; R. S. Wylie and Frank A. Borghoff, alleging that they are directors in the Central Steel and Lock Nut company, which he declares has never been legally registered in Nebraska.

Seibel alleges that in 1919 Borghoff sold him stock in the company, for which he paid $3,600 in Liberty bonds. He declares Borghoff showed him a list of directors and told him the Omaha Chamber of Commerce had offered the company a tract of land if it would locate in Omaha. He asserts the company offices, in the World-Herald building, have been closed for some months.

Widow Testifies Investing $15,000 in Bankrupt Oil Firm

Philadelphia, Aug. 21.—A widow told on the witness stand Monday, at the trial of three former officials of the Black Panther Oil company, charged with fraudulent conversion of more than $1,250,000 of stockholders' money, how she had been led to invest $15,000 of a $17,000 estate bequeathed by her husband, in stock of the concern, which is now in the hands of a receiver.

The defendants, Max W. Friedell of Marion, Ind., president; Harry E. Lindley, Harrisburgh, Pa., vice president, and Reuben Douglass of this city, are charged specifically with conspiracy, false pretense and circulation of an erroneous statement as to the financial condition of the oil company.

Assistant District Attorney Shofield, in outlining the prosecution's case, said that officers of the company had represented the production of oil at thousands of barrels a day from extensive wells said to have been scattered throughout Montana and other parts of the mid-west.

Edward W. Cooch, receiver for the concern, testified that its first charter was issued in Delaware in 1919.
