Can't Insure Genius. Typewriters and Cement. Mysterious Cancer. If a Man Bites a Dog. By ARTHUR BRISBANE

Dr. Banting, discoverer of insulin, that controls diabetes, is insured for $5,000,000. The Rockefeller Foundation, anxious to use and develop Dr. Banting's genius, is said to have paid for the insurance. That sounds improbable. Rockefeller, father and son, know that one thing money can't buy, or make up for, is genius.

Two great anniversaries approach. Fifty years ago on September 12, the typewriting machine began its career, saving time, increasing efficiency, and most important of all, introducing into business the good influence of hundreds of thousands of women. That anniversary will be celebrated at Ithaca, N. Y., by Mr. B. L. Winchell and others. Fifty years ago Americans began the manufacture of Portland cement, which is, to building, what the typewriter is to business. For the first 10 years this country made only 26,000 sacks of cement annually. Last year the country used 470,000,000 sacks, and American plants now possess a capacity of 800,000,000 sacks.

Death from cancer is three times as numerous today as 50 years ago, and is increasing. What is worse, science knows nothing about cancer. It plants a cancer in the body of a mouse, sees the cancer grow to be three times as big as the mouse on which it lives, and knows nothing about the disease or its cure.

That's the bad news from the doctors. The good news is that women in this country are growing taller, and suffer less and less from a disease with a long name that means poverty of the blood, anemia, that has made so many lives miserable and deaths premature.

"A dog biting a man is not news. A man biting a dog is news." Amos Cumming said it. A woman sticking to her son through poverty, misfortune, evil conduct is not news.

But Mrs. Simiz shot her 19-year-old son, an idler and dishonest, "to save his soul." That's news. The Chicago police said they never heard of such a thing.

Behold an interesting international contest on the bounding deep.

United States Leviathan races with British ship Majestic. Leviathan wins and America slaps its chest proudly.

Both ships are German, built by Germans. The Leviathan was the Vaterland and the Majestic was the Bismarck.

That contest between England and America must amuse the Germans if they have time for being amused.

It isn't likely, however, that Germany feels like laughing at anything just now. Its money fell absolutely into the subcellar yesterday—a million marks sold for 10 cents and the interest rate, at conservative German banks, is 24 per cent on your balance.

Over here, financially speaking, we are cheerful, stocks up a little more, "bonds firm," call money 5 1-4 per cent, time loans much cheaper, exports of manufactured articles increasing. "He hath not dealt so with any nation; and as for his judgments, they have not known them." Praise ye the Lord.

Louis Chalif tells the American Dancing Teachers' society that body and brain are improved by dancing. Nature knew it long ago. The animals danced, lizards, dinosaurs, jungle fowl, goats and monkeys, long before man came. What nature orders is wise.

President Coolidge advises southern newspaper publishers to urge "unhesitating obedience to legislative action." Sound advice, but while obeying the law, every citizen has the right to work for change if he doesn't approve the law. Witch ducking and burning, torture of witnesses, human slavery, were all once lawful. Oppression, questioning, make better civilization, better laws. When England's parliament forbade free publishing of books, Milton printed his "Areopagitica" in defiance, and killed the stupid law. Some times resistance is useful and necessary. Of the "Areopagitica" Hallam said, "An intense love of liberty and truth glows through it." That's more important sometimes than unreasoning submission to unreasonable law.

Learned lawyers of the Bar association say the most important task is to fight crime." Well said. The fight should start in the Bar association. The highly priced corporation lawyer of whom the late William C. Whitney said, "That man can tell me how to do whatever I like; other corporation lawyers only tell me what I can't do," represents a type of respectable crime that needs checking. (Copyright, 1923.)

Two Missionaries Slain by Chinese Bandit Band

Shanghai, Aug. 30.—Rev. W. A. Whiteside and Rev. F. J. Watt, British missionaries of the Church Missionary society, were shot and killed by bandits when traveling in Szechwan province August 14, according to a letter from Mienchow, received here today.

Veterans Plan Hospital. Norfolk, Va., Aug. 30.—Plans for the erection of a tuberculosis hospital to cost about $12,500,000 as a memorial to war mothers and to other women in the United States, who made sacrifices for the cause of the world war, were approved Wednesday by the Veterans of Foreign Wars in annual encampment here. No site was named in the resolution proposing the hospital which was presented by J. H. Toulouse, commander of the department of New Mexico.

Hughes Explains Attitude of U. S. Toward Europe

Our Position Is "One of Independence, Not Isolation," Secretary of State Says.

Minneapolis, Aug. 30.—The Monroe doctrine as a cherished national policy of the United States, "inimical to no just interest and deemed to be vitally related to our own safety and to the peaceful progress of the people of this hemisphere," was discussed here tonight by Secretary of State Hughes, in addressing the American Bar association. Mr. Hughes pointed out that the American people "are still intent upon abstaining from participation in the political strife of Europe." The American attitude, he explained, is "one of independence, not of isolation."

In this connection, Mr. Hughes said: "Our people are not disposed to commit this government in advance to the use of its power in unknown contingencies, preferring to reserve freedom of action, in the confidence of our ability and readiness to respond to every future call of duty."

Ready for Co-operation. "They have no desire to put their power in pledge, but they do not shirk co-operation with other nations whenever there is a sound basis for it and a consciousness of community interest and aim. Co-operation is not dictation, and it is not nartianship."

Mr. Hughes reviewed the historical development of the Monroe doctrine from the birth of the nation. Then, he said, "there was a deep-seated conviction that the opportunities of a hard-won freedom would be threatened by the ambitions of European powers constantly seeking their own aggrandizement and that the peaceful aims of the new nation could be achieved only by keeping clear of the toils of European politics and strife."

The words of Washington's farewell address, Mr. Hughes asserted, "were more than a solemn admonition of the foremost American patriot—they set forth principles which those who established our foreign policy held to be its cornerstone."

Explains Monroe Doctrine. The secretary then took up the promulgation of the doctrine by President Monroe in his message to congress just a century ago, and sketched its development in later years. Outlining "the doctrine as it has been and as it is believed to remain," Mr. Hughes emphasized the following points:

- First—The Monroe doctrine is not a policy of aggression, but a policy of self-defense. Second—As its policy is distinctively the policy of the United States, the American government reserves to itself its definition, interpretation and application. Third—The doctrine "does not infringe upon the independence and sovereignty of other American states." Fourth—Interventions in Haiti, Cuba and elsewhere were "not to exploit, but to aid, not to subvert, but to help in laying the foundations for sound, stable and independent government. Our interest is in having prosperous, peaceful and law-abiding neighbors with whom we can cooperate to mutual advantage." Fifth—The Monroe doctrine "does not stand in the way of pan-American cooperation; rather it affords the necessary foundation for that cooperation in the independence and security of American states."

can cooperation; rather it affords the necessary foundation for that cooperation in the independence and security of American states." Finally, Mr. Hughes concluded, "it should be observed that the Monroe doctrine is not an obstacle to a wider international co-operation beyond the limits of pan-American aims and interests, whenever that co-operation is congenial to American institutions."

Aged Woman Dies. Mrs. Anna McKerigan, 78, 539 South Twenty-sixth avenue, died Wednesday following a short illness. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. R. J. Parks and Mrs. Margaret Walker, both of Omaha, and three sons, Daniel J. McKerigan of Pierce, Neb.; John J. McKerigan of Scottsbluff, Neb.; and Leo J. McKerigan of Petosia, Ia. Short services were held at the Heafey & Heafey chapel Thursday. Rev. J. C. Buckley officiated. The body was taken to Mrs. McKerigan's old home at Norfolk, Neb., of which city she is a pioneer resident.

36 Free State Candidates in Party Leaders Declare Majority in Favor of Anglo-Irish Treaty Assured.

By International News Service. Dublin, Aug. 30.—The election count up to noon today showed 36 free staters elected to the Dail Eirann, 22 republicans, 9 independents, 8 farmers and 7 laborites. Free state officials claimed that a majority in favor of the Anglo-Irish treaty was assured. A canvass of ballots has found five women republicans elected, including Mary MacSwiney, sister of Terrence MacSwiney, former lord mayor of Cork, who died on a hunger strike. The laborites failed to make the showing they expected. President John, of the labor federation, was barely elected. The votes counted showed 350,000 for free staters, 200,000 for republicans and 100,000 for others. The election of all free state ministers is now assured. The republican victors include Mrs. Cathal Brugha, wife of one of the leaders in the old Irish republican army, and "Acting President" Rutledge, who was proclaimed chief of the "republican government," after the arrest of Eamonn de Valera.

New Kind of Dope. City Commissioner H. W. Dunn, commenting on a report that he would resign, that Police Commissioner Butler would be returned to the department of accounts and finance and that Municipal Judge W. F. Wappich would be named police commissioner, said: "It seems that a new brand of dope is being peddled in Omaha. I think the narcotic division should enforce the Harrison act."

A. Mitchell Palmer Weds in Connecticut. Grotton, Conn., Aug. 30.—Mitchell Palmer of Philadelphia, former attorney general in President Wilson's cabinet, and Mrs. Margaret Fallon Burrall, widow of John B. Burrall, a New York manufacturer, were married Wednesday at her home at Eastern Point.

Lincoln Man and Sons Drown While Fishing. Fond Du Lac, Wis., Aug. 30.—Jacob Jacobs, 48, of Lincoln, Neb., a beet field worker, and his two sons, John, 4, and Jacob, Jr., 14, were drowned in Stockbridge harbor on Lake Winnebago when the smallest boy caught a fish and capsized the boat. All the bodies were recovered.

If you are caught in a shower and are afraid the rain will spot your dress, wipe it off immediately with a piece of soft silk, always stroking in the direction of the nap.
