Affects Italy's Honor.

The Italian government asserts strongly that the question is not one for the league of nations, but con cerns only Italy and Greece and affects Italy's honor. The Greek government apparently adopts an attltude of helplessness; it says it is in the hands of the league of nations and will do whatever the league decides it should do.

The Greek government also says it is prepared to accept in advance any reparations demanded by the council of ambassadors. Greece has protested to the powers against the bombardment of Corfu and makes the point that Italians opened fire at 4 in the afternoon, whereas the second ultimatum was not to expire until 5. "There Seems to Be an Effort Greece also makes the point that Corfu was not fortified. The reports of the casualties there vary from 10 killed or wounded to 15 killed.

The Italian navy proceeded with the organization of Corfu in a businesslike way. Vice Admiral Simon etti was appointed governor, and local police who were willing to serve were drafted into the Italian service. Occupation Resented.

This proceeding is not welcomed with enthuslasm abroad, certainly not in England, for while all comments, official and by the newspapers here, with exceptions on the part of a few liberal papers, are arded, there is beneath the sur Ne unmistakable uneasiness garding Mussolini's ambitions, for the Italian premier is a man of mys-It is not forgotten in tery abroad.
