

Morals Squad Suspended by City Council

Motion Offered by Koutsky; Passed by Vote of 5 to 1; Mayor Absent.

Sergt. Earnest Fee and three other members of the police morals squad were suspended by the city council Tuesday morning pending hearing of charges against them next Tuesday morning. The other members suspended are E. A. Heller, A. P. Paulson and N. A. Searl. All had been notified to appear this morning to answer charges brought by Charles Nejetinsky, 1417 1/2 South Sixteenth street, to the effect that they broke into his house and searched it, without a warrant, one day last March. When the hearing was called this morning, Fee failed to appear. Police Commissioner Butler explained that he went to Lincoln yesterday. Commissioner Koutsky then moved the suspension of all four officers, and the motion carried, 5 to 1, Butler casting the opposing vote. Mayor James Duhman was absent. Commissioner Hummel, who seconded the motion for dismissal, declared that a police officer, above all other persons, should observe a summons to a hearing. The chief of police was asked to advise the men of their suspension.

Time Thins Ranks of Civil War Men

Only Two Remaining Fully Equipped Companies March in Milwaukee Review.

By Associated Press. Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 4.—Fighting back the attacks of time, the ironrads of which have depleted their ranks, the boys of '61 to '65 refuse to admit they are unable to carry on as in the days when the United States regular army uniform was their only dress. Garbed in the blue of fighting days, their dimming eyes brightening, as from time to time an old friend grasps them by the hand, the passing army of the civil war is being cared for as never before in the history of an encampment. The downtown section of the city was full of bluecoats and their wives yesterday, many of them finding the short walks about a severe test of their strength. The only two remaining fully equipped companies of the Union army of 1861 to 1865, are here today from Ohio, 93 strong, Captain M. Hall, 80, in command of 55 men of Company A, from Columbus, and Captain M. Bousch, 78, in command of Company B of the old guard. Only 48 of the original complement of Company B responded to roll call when they entrained at Newark, O. The average age of the two companies is 78. The 93 will march, fully equipped, in the grand review Wednesday.

"Die If You Wish, But Don't Get Blood on the Rug," Shooter Is Admonished

"Go ahead and die if you want to, but don't get blood on the rug."

It was this admonition, given him by a sister of his wife, formerly Amelia Brady, employed in the Burgess-Nash beauty parlor, which sent Eugene W. Dillon, 33, of Boston, out to buy the pistol with which he later sent two bullets into his wife's body, he told police Tuesday morning.

That and the agonizing moments he spent later under a bed in her apartment, listening to her two sisters, Dorothy and Charlotte, discuss him, in the presence of another man and woman, while the wife made no effort to defend him, he added.

The other woman, who acted as a witness when he was married to the Brady woman in Council Bluffs on Aug. 26, and who gave her name as Hazel Nevin, was the only one who defended him, he said. It was then that he emerged from his hiding place and fired three shots at his wife and then attempted to shoot himself through the head. He bumped his elbow against a dresser, he said, and the bullet merely passed through his cheeks.

In his statement yesterday Dillon said he came to Omaha April 2, began working about May 1 for the Butterick Seven Reading club, with offices at 301 Baird building.

He became acquainted with Amelia Brady while she was living in the east two years ago, he said, and they had been engaged several times. He said she left him each time to go with other men. About January 15, he said, she went to Florida.

He next met her in Omaha shortly after his arrival, and she pleaded with him to remain and get married, he claims. They were married by Rev. R. C. Harvey, pastor of the Fifth Avenue Methodist church in Council Bluffs on August 26. The following day they returned to Omaha, and Amelia left him at a corner near her apartment.

He did not see her until the following Sunday. She told him she had been unable to communicate with him because she had been injured in an automobile accident.

She urged him to go away before her sisters saw him. While they were talking, Dorothy Brady emerged from the house and pulled Amelia away. That night, he said he saw his wife leave the apartment and drive away with another man. The next morning she told him she was going to get a divorce.

Dillon threatened to commit suicide and did, in fact, slash his wrist with a safety razor blade. The sisters asked him not to get blood on the rug, and brought him a basin, after which they went out in the hall.

He bound up his wrist with a tourniquet and walked out into the hall. The women ran back into the apartment, and slammed the door in his face, he said.

He then purchased a pistol in a store at Sixteenth and Webster streets, and returned to the house. He entered and hid under a bed. Later, about 1:30 p. m., his wife and her sisters returned, in company with the other man and woman, and the shooting followed. Amelia Dillon was reported to be in a critical condition at Lord Lister

Keep Clear of Europe, Says Hi

California Senator Says Only American Money or Men Welcomed.

San Francisco, Sept. 4.—Characterizing the world court as a "hamstrung" tribunal without jurisdiction, United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson delivered an address here last night under the auspices of the San Francisco labor council in which he told an admiring audience of the futility of any effort on the part of the United States to end armed conflicts in Europe through the court or the League of Nations.

Europe, he said, was not interested in advice from the United States, "but wants aid in either money or men."

"There's a certain class of Americans," he said, "who believe the Lord intended them as world advisers, and who are anxious to fulfill their destiny."

"I wish them Godspeed; but a brief sojourn in Europe taught me that the people there, with the centuries behind them, and the civilization and culture of the ages, will be quite content to worry along in their own appointed way without the advice or counsel of the men's auxiliary of the weekly club of the cities of America."

He also warned labor to be on its guard for attacks directed against progressive legislation in the state and nation by hostile interests.

"The attacking forces today upon progressive legislation extend from the Atlantic to the Pacific," the senator declared. "They are well organized and, of course, heavily financed. They have their string of newspapers stretching across the continent, in concert praising every attack, and mendaciously denouncing every defender of progress."

She called at the police station to learn what the seven days would be, reduced to dollars. She learned it would be $45. She left, and obtained $45. On the way back to the station she lost it.

She went back and got another $45, with which she ransomed her spouse.

"I haven't got any more money, but I have my husband, haven't I, darling?" she queried. Harold allowed as how she had.

Bluffs Addition Is Completed

New Type of Residence Area in Forest Park District.

Completion of the development of 25 acres of land in the Forest Park district northeast of Council Bluffs, was announced by Roy N. Towle, Omaha engineer.

"Heretofore the development of residence districts in Council Bluffs has been one of leveling. We are leaving the bluffs as they are, making contour drives and endeavoring to preserve the timber in its natural beauty.

"The lots, which are big ones, are irregular in shape, harmonizing with the ruggedness of the landscape. Drives lead up the bluffs 250 feet above the river, and an excellent view of Omaha and the country for miles around can be obtained. "The addition is less than a mile from Pearl and Broadway streets. It is south of the Willow Greenhouses. We have installed curb, gutter, sewerage, water, gas and light in the 25 acres developed. It will make lots for some 70 homes. Work will be continued until the development of 55 acres is completed."

Bank Assistant R. B. Barnum has joined the staff of the Commercial National bank of Council Bluffs to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Ward Price, formerly assistant cashier.

The Pony Express

SPEDDING westward from Missouri and eastward from California relays of riders are retracing the trail of the Pony Express. Through blizzards and sandstorms, over mountains and deserts, among hostile Indians, the express riders of 1860-61 carried messages vital to the nation. In the sixteen months before the rails were laid, they travelled a total of 650,000 miles with the loss of but a single pouch of mail. They made a superb record for fidelity in public service. Other means of communication have supplanted the Pony Express. The telephone lines of the Bell System span the continent. Communication from coast to coast takes but the fraction of a second. The Pony Express lives only in memory, reawakened today by the hoofbeats of ponies along the winding trail. But the spirit of devotion of its riders lives in the men and women who carry on our nationwide telephone service.
