Buffet Supper in Honor of Omaha Guests at Miss Morton's Wedding

A heritage of executive ability from her illustrious grandfather, J. Sterling Morton, enables Miss Martha Morton of Nebraska City to attempt social affairs on her wedding day that would daunt the most efficient and modern of brides.

Twenty guests from Omaha are motoring down the afternoon of September 26 for the ceremony which will be solemnized in St. Mark's Episcopal church there and Miss Morton is planning a buffet supper on the lawn for the visitors, which will be as perfect in detail as the ceremony and reception which follow it.

The only concession she has made to the pressure of circumstance is to set the hour at 5:30, and then the lawn where it will be served will be loveliest.

The Omaha guests will include Messrs. and Mesdames Amos Thomas, Carl Paulson, Newman Benson, Dr. and Mrs. Earl Sage, the Misses Nan Hunter, Erna Reed, Gertrude Stout, Emily Keller, and Messrs. Charles Deuel, Lake Deuel, Dr. George Boehler, Dr. Robert Schrock, Dr. Allan Moser and Porter Allan.

Ann Axtell Weds Today in New Mexico.

This afternoon in Shiprock, N. M., a wedding of great interest to Omahans will be solemnized, when Miss Ann McChene Axtell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Axtell of this city, and Earl H. Morris of Aztec, N. M., are wed. The bride went there in the early summer to engage in archaeological research in continuation of a career she has been schooled for.

The romance began in 1919, when Miss Axtell went to New Mexico to visit her aunt, Mrs. F. M. Barnard. The bride is a graduate of Central High school, class of 1918, and of Smith college, 1922. Immediately following her graduation from Smith she went to France with an expedition in charge of Harvard university for archaeological research in France, Italy, Spain, Sicily and Africa. Miss Axtell's studies took her to ancient Carthage. She also spent some time at the Sorbonne in Paris and returned to the United States early this summer.

Mr. Morris is an archaeologist of considerable reputation, who has been stationed for five years at Aztec, N. M., in connection with the American Museum of that place. He has recently signed up for another five years, and his first duties will take him to Yucatan, with his bride accompanying him. Mr. and Mrs. Morris will maintain a home at Aztec, N. M.

Miss Goss Hostess. Miss Catherine Goss, who recently returned from a month spent in southern California, has issued invitations for a luncheon to be given Saturday, September 15, at the Field club.

Family Dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Busch will give a family dinner of 11 covers Sunday, honoring Mrs. Busch's mother, Mrs. Frank Rogers of Davenport, who will remain here until the end of next week.

Two Omaha Women Appointed on National D. A. R. Committees.

Mrs. Philip Welch, a member of Major Isaac Sadler chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, has been appointed to the national committee of the D. A. R. for work at Ellis Island. Mrs. Welch is also Nebraska state chairman of the Ellis Island committee.

During the summer she has been instrumental in teaching many foreign-born women the principles of American citizenship.

Mrs. Anthony Wayne Cook, president general of the National Daughters, has appointed Mrs. F. P. Larson a member of the national committee on genealogical research. Mrs. Larson is regent of Omaha chapter.

The Omaha chapter will hold its first meeting of the season October 9, at the home of Mrs. J. M. Metcalfe.

Major Isaac Sadler chapter has issued letters to all ministers of the city asking that they on September 16 incorporate in their sermons and teachings an explanation of the meaning of the constitution of the United States to the end that they may arouse a renewed loyalty and devotion to this document. Many ministers have willingly complied with this suggestion. Rev. R. R. Browne, in his radio sermon, will broadcast the message for the Daughters of Major Isaac Sadler chapter.

This action of the Daughters is to comply with the request of Mrs. Anthony Wayne Cook, president-general, in her September message regarding Constitution week.

Soak the salt fish in sweet milk instead of water and the salt will soak out much sooner.

Well, Joe, I don't see how I can help you unless to give you a little courage. You know the old saying, "Faint heart never won fair lady." If you want to take her for a ride, I guess you will have to ask her, and run the chances of being turned down. Somehow I am inclined to think that she will not refuse. Buck up and ask her, and let me know what luck you have had.

Mrs. M. M.: Most married women who seek employment outside of the home do it for one or two reasons. Either they are forced by grim need or they prefer a business career to household cares.

Surely it is unsound to deny the woman who loves a 45-a-week-clerk the right to augment his earnings by her own wages, and so make it possible for them to marry and establish a home. Surely it is folly to ask a woman to wait 10 years for a man to make enough money to

Take Courage and Ask Her—Only Way to Find Out

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX.

Dear Miss Fairfax: I am a constant reader of your column and think your advice is fine. I hope you will be able to give me some help with my problem, which is this: There is a real nice girl who has been working as a stenographer in my father's store. I have grown to care for her, but the trouble is, Miss Fairfax, I don't know how I stand with her. She is always very friendly to me, but then she is nice to every one. I would like to take her for a ride some evening, but am afraid she will refuse to go with me, and I wouldn't like to get turned down. How can I find out if she likes me. Thanking you for your trouble, I am,

BASHFUL JOE.

There is a lot of discussion about married women as workers, but I've yet to hear one good, strong argument against it.

Suppose the woman who hates dusting and cooking and mending (and some normal women have no joy in these tasks) can earn $39 a week in an office where she enjoys the work and the broadening human contacts. Is it economically unsound for her to pay $15 to a woman who understands housework and does it well, and so be free to do work she likes and come out $15 ahead each week?

The Greater Excellence of Cudahy's Puritan

BACK to the wholesome, pure foods of Grandmother's day. Back to crisp, flaky pie crusts. Back to fluffy cakes and nutritious digestible fried foods. Back to better cooking through the use of creamy-rich, snowy-white lard that is

100 per cent pure leaf

Puritan is not only 100% pure leaf lard, it is selected leaf and rendered in open kettles with scientific precision. It is then slowly chilled in the package to give it the essential grainy texture which means more thorough mixing with flour and other ingredients used in pastry and cakes. Remember that Puritan is always uniform, always pure. You can't buy a better shortening.
