

Slash in Freight on Wheat Urged Before Coolidge

Senator Capper Visits White House and Declares Railroads Can Afford to Cut Rates.

By Universal Service.
Washington, Sept. 15.—Downward revision of freight rates on agricultural products, particularly wheat, was urged on President Coolidge today by Senator Capper of Kansas as one means of government aid to the farmer.

The senator pointed out that the wheat growers of his state are now receiving only 80 to 90 cents a bushel for their grain, delivered at Chicago, out of which they must pay 22 cents a bushel freight charges. This is in contrast to the $2.26 a bushel they were receiving five years ago when the government guaranteed the price and when the freight rate was only 11 cents a bushel.

The Kansas senator answered that railroads engaged in carrying trade are getting in a more prosperous condition where they can stand a reduction in freight rates and enable the farmers of the west to minimize their crop losses.

Coolidge Interested.
Senator Capper said President Coolidge showed a sympathetic interest in the agricultural situation and expressed a desire to do whatever he could to improve the lot of the farmer.

He said the president talked particularly of the transportation and that he was confident there would be a well-defined program worked out for submission to congress this winter covering agricultural transportation questions.

He doubted that any effort would be made to revive the United States Grain corporation, as has been proposed in some quarters to solve the wheat problem.

Senator Capper arrived in Washington today from Massachusetts, where he has been enjoying a vacation. He leaves tomorrow for Kansas to jump into an aggressive two months' campaign for re-election as senator. He said he had already visited 42 counties in his state since the presidential nomination as a running mate for President Coolidge in 1924. He declared his only ambition is to continue in the senate. Thus far, he said, he has no opposition for the senatorial nomination and is not anticipating any.

The senator took occasion to comment on the enthusiasm he found in Massachusetts for the new president and the gratification Massachusetts feels over the strong position in which it now finds itself with the president, cabinet member, speaker of the house, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee and other positions of leadership, all from that state.

Content With Senate.
The senator said he had not taken seriously the recent suggestion of former Representative Campbell of Kansas, that he aspire to the vice presidential nomination as a running mate for President Coolidge in 1924. He declared his only ambition is to continue in the senate. Thus far, he said, he has no opposition for the senatorial nomination and is not anticipating any.

The senator took occasion to comment on the enthusiasm he found in Massachusetts for the new president and the gratification Massachusetts feels over the strong position in which it now finds itself with the president, cabinet member, speaker of the house, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee and other positions of leadership, all from that state.

Carload of Furnaces Shipped to Grand Island
The Jarvis Furniture company of Grand Island has just ordered one carload of Nesbit Standard furnaces shipped immediately.

W. E. Nesbit, vice president of the company, says the furnace business for this company has more than doubled as compared with any year in our history. "This carload order from a city the size of Grand Island is really encouraging for our fall business," he said. "The efficiency of the Nesbit Standard furnace because of the moist healthful heat it gives, has won a place in the heart of the housewives throughout the Omaha trade territory, but it is indeed gratifying when the popularity so increases through the Midwest to order in carload lots. This is evidence that the housewife is demanding a furnace that gives plenty of heat and also a moist healthful air."

The Nesbit Standard furnace is the most popular furnace in Omaha. Seventy-five per cent of all Omaha furnace dealers handle the Nesbit Standard furnace.

Mammoth "Chow Line" at Union Pacific Outing

Dining Car Chefs Stir Up "Mountains" of Delectable Meat and Vegetables to Feed the 10,000 Employees Gathered at Elmwood Park.

"Stir it with a hoe," was the motto of the 50-men of the dining car service who prepared the barbecue fed to 10,000 employees of the Union Pacific railroad Saturday afternoon at Elmwood park. No spoon manufactured by mortals would have made any impressions upon the huge vats of food used in preparing this feast.

Approximately 5,000 pounds of meat, boned and spiced, roasted over the coals for this feeding of 10,000. The cooks began work early Friday stripping the corn from 5,000 ears for the succotash, which required also 148 bushels of string beans, 70 baskets of tomatoes and 20,000 buns. Coffee was bought by the tub and made in a 300-gallon vat which required refilling more than once.

The cooking squad of Union Pacific dining car service men drawn from Kansas and Denver as well as the Omaha division, was on the job at 3 a. m. Saturday, starting the fire at the open-air kitchen in Elmwood park with three cords of wood. This had to burn to coal before the meat could be laid over the smouldering trench for its long slow roast. A man was kept busy all day turning the roasts and basting them with water, shaken from a brisk brush. Twenty gallons of sauce were used with the roast.

The barbecue supper began at 4 p. m. Saturday and for two hours the line wound in and out of the open-air kitchen to be served. Each guest received a bun and meat, succotash and coffee. During the supper the bands that marched in the parade gave programs, competing for a prize. After supper the diners proceeded to the Auditorium for the mammoth "Safety First" rally.

Omaha Stockyards Seek Ruling on Pens

Lincoln, Sept. 15.—The Union Stockyards company of Omaha appealed to the supreme court to have settled the disputed question whether it must furnish clean pens to shippers of stock in the Omaha markets, and whether any legal duty rests on it other than to see that these pens are not unreasonably filthy.

Salem Genho shipped 115 head of cattle to the Omaha yards from Holdrege and they were turned out into the pens of the stockyards company pending their sale.

He claimed and secured damages in court for $204, which represents the loss he says he sustained on the market from deterioration suffered by his dirt pens as a result of their stay in the stockyards company.

The stockyards company maintains the yards are kept as clean as conditions permit.

Tecumseh, Neb., Votes for New Park Site in City

Special Dispatch to The Omaha Bee.
Tecumseh, Neb., Sept. 15.—At a special election held here Friday, the propositions to sell the tract of land known as Brandon park, in the north-east part of the city, and use the funds, with others provided, for the purchase of land on the south side of the public square, carried by a large majority.

The Brandon park land was willed to the city by the late Mrs. Horace C. Brandon, but the site is not good and the property not available for park purposes. Tecumseh clubs have arranged to buy a strip of land 44 feet wide, the entire distance of the block, on the south side of the square from the courthouse to the Burlington station. It is proposed to convert this into a parkway and name it Brandon park.

Safety Parade of Union Pacific Pleases Omaha

Impressive Floats Tell Tragic Story of Careless Auto-ists and Employes to Thousands.

The parade feature of the Safety rally held Saturday afternoon in connection with "Union Pacific day" was a genuine surprise. Charles Garner, secretary of the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben, who viewed the spectacle from the city hall reviewing stand, asserted that the demonstration surpassed his expectations, and similar comments were heard from others.

In addition to the many safety first ideas which formed the theme of the event, there were various interesting and unique features and music aplenty. It was estimated that nearly 10,000 men and women were in the long line. Many came in special trains from points in Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming and Kansas.

One of the impressive floats illustrated in a convincing manner what may happen to the autoist who is not a member of the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben. On this float was a smashed automobile, with the prone figure of a man beneath the wreckage, and on another part of the float was a man safe in his car.

"I did not" was the placard on one, and "I did" was the other legend, referring to "Stop, look and listen."

Stage Coach Appears.
The contingent from Green River, Wyo., appeared with an old stage coach drawn by six horses. D. L. Mitchell of Armstrong, Kan., with a record of 55 years' service with the Union Pacific, appeared with a banner.

The following band organizations participated: Seventeenth infantry, One Hundred and Sixty-eighth infantry, Council Bluffs High school, Kimball (Neb.) Boosters, North Platte Municipal, Evanston, Wyo., Union Pacific; Denver Union Pacific; Omaha Central High; Kansas City, Kan., Union Pacific; Sidney, Neb., boys, carrying a banner which stated that their dad worked for the Union Pacific; Pine Bluff, Wyo., in red uniforms and a banner which read, "Out where the west begins," and Dan Desudues' Omaha band.

The parade was led by Everett Buckingham as marshal, followed by the men of the Seventeenth infantry. Among the uniformed contingents were Company K, the Union Pacific company of the Nebraska National guard; Omaha Central High school cadets and the Omaha fire department.

The shopmen's float illustrated the possible fate of the man who does not observe safety rules at work, and the happy home of the man who observes the rules.

The safety first legends were: "Wear your goggles," "Eternal vigilance is the price of safety," "We take no chances."

All Branches Represented.
Men and women of all branches of the service were in the line of march. The Wyoming division brought several Indians, one illustrating the primitive method of dragging the Indian kiddles on an attachment to a horse. This was referred to as "The first overland limited." A midjet train was one of the unique features. Retired employes rode in automobiles. The men who appear the hunger of travelers in dining cars appeared in fresh linen and broad smiles.

A smile was seen here and there when the legal department of the Union Pacific was followed by the

"Black and White" Show at the Gayety

Jimmie Cooper's revue, a study in white and black, with Jimmie Cooper himself as chief entertainer, assisted by a company of 70, is the attraction at the Gayety theater which opened to two packed houses yesterday.

The production is divided in two parts, the first being in charge of white performers exclusively with the exception of a colored jazz band, while the second section of the show is presented by a galaxy of stars of the colored race.

Tarzan the Ape, is one of the performers, whose antics create amusement.

One of the features of the second act is a wrestling match between Tarzan and a number of his opponents. Julian Arthur and his band create a lot of pleasing harmony, which elicited an abundance of applause.

There will be a matinee this afternoon at 3 and Thursday night there will be an extra midnight show at 11:30, half an hour after the close of the regular performance of the evening.

Radio Fans Smiling Over 'Air Courtesy' Station WOAW First

Radio fans are still smiling at the agitation of the Herald in its "No courtesy of the air" complaint in broadcasting of the Dempsey-Firpo fight results.

The records show that The Omaha Bee, through station WOAW, sent out the first word, "Dempsey wins by knockout," at 8:07. The Herald, through station WAAW, gave the first news of the knockout at 8:10. Announcer Rouse at WOAW station again announced the knockout at 8:15 and several other times in the course of the regular evening program.

"The courtesy of the air," which the Herald was mourning about," said Announcer Rouse, "is making the fans smile. WOAW station broadcasts on a 526-meter wave, while WAAW station uses a 260-meter wave length. Both can broadcast simultaneously without interference."

Carl J. Springer of Fremont Killed and Edna Boorman, Ernie Grainger and Helen Stott Severely Injured.

Nebraska Man Weds His Sister

Girl Kidnaped by Gypsies, Marries Brother Who Didn't Recognize Her.

Special Dispatch to The Omaha Bee.
Lincoln, Sept. 15.—Official investigation of the fatal ending of a University of Nebraska fraternity "rushing" party here last night is under way and a coroner's inquest will be held Monday. Casualties in the early morning automobile ride which followed the party held at the home of H. E. Grainger, one of the wealthiest men in Lincoln, follow:

Carl J. Springer, 21, Fremont, dead.
Edna Boorman, 21, Fremont, skull crushed, in dangerous condition.
Ernie Grainger, 19, Lincoln, temporarily derailed by shock and internally injured.
Helen Stott, 18, Douglas, Wyo., badly bruised and internally injured.
The accident occurred at 2:30 this morning at a sharp curve on the Lincoln-Beatrice road, three miles south of Lincoln.

After Fraternity Reception.
The car, which some farmers say was speeding and others assert was going slow, as if a tire had been punctured, turned entirely over, pinning Springer and Miss Boorman, who were in the rear seat, underneath. Grainger, who owned the car, and was driving, and Miss Stott, were thrown several feet through the air.

The fatal ride started shortly after midnight, when the "rushing" festivities at the Grainger home were concluded. It was a party staged by the Sigma Chi fraternity in honor of candidates for initiation into the fraternity. The Misses Stott and Boorman are members of the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority and were assisting in serving and entertaining.

The Omaha meeting will be held at the Swedish auditorium, Sixteenth and Chicago streets.

Coolidge Leaves World Court Up to Senate

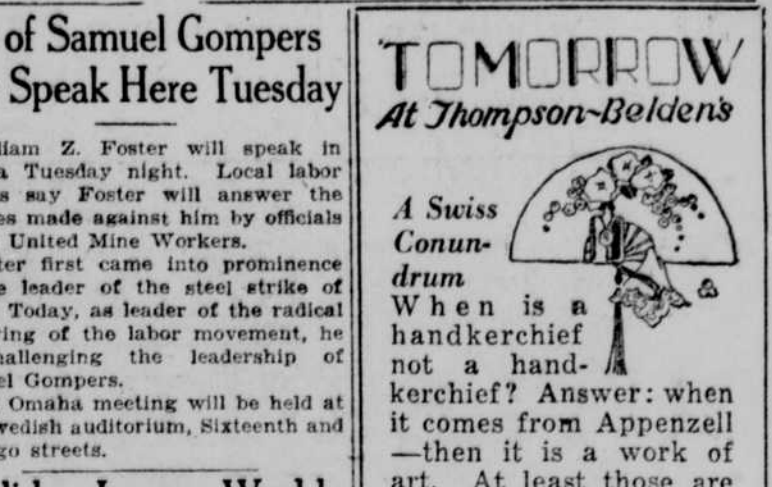

Washington, Sept. 15.—The question of American participation in the world court is regarded at the White House as one still pending before the senate for such action as it may decide to take upon it. Inquirers have had their attention directed that President Harding submitted the matter to that body last February and have been told that in the circumstances there remains nothing for President Coolidge to do, at least for the present.

Judge Munger Upholds Hotel Company Decision

Lincoln, Sept. 15.—Judge T. C. Munger in the federal district court today handed down a memorandum opinion sustaining the bankruptcy adjudication of the Nebraska Hotel company and stating that the petition to vacate the adjudication would be dismissed. The effect of the ruling is to refuse the application for a reopening of the status of bankruptcy of the two companies, whose officers were practically identical and to confirm the receivership under the trusteeship of B. F. Baylor. Hotels included in the trusteeship include the Lincoln of Lincoln and the Pontenelle of Omaha.

King Corset is dead—Long live Bandobelt! The stern old tyrant whose harsh and unyielding stays once ruled a vast empire of fair feminine subjects must now make way for a youthful descendant. Bandobelt, let me explain, is not one of the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben, but a new fall model in Frolaset girdles. It supplants the rigid lines of the stiff, heavy corset with easy, natural contours. It is no use wearing a 1923 model in dresses if your girdle is a back number. Be fitted first in a Bandobelt. One attractive model of elastic webbing and brocade is $5.

A Swiss Conundrum
When is a handkerchief not a handkerchief? Answer: when it comes from Appenzell—then it is a work of art. At least those are in this new importation from that famous Alpine canton in Switzerland where patient peasants work on gossamer bits of linen under a microscope to make the fairy-like embroideries of the handkerchiefs that you may buy at Thompson-Belden's for $1.50 to $6. For a small gift that conveys a subtle appreciation of finer things—give her an Appenzell handkerchief.

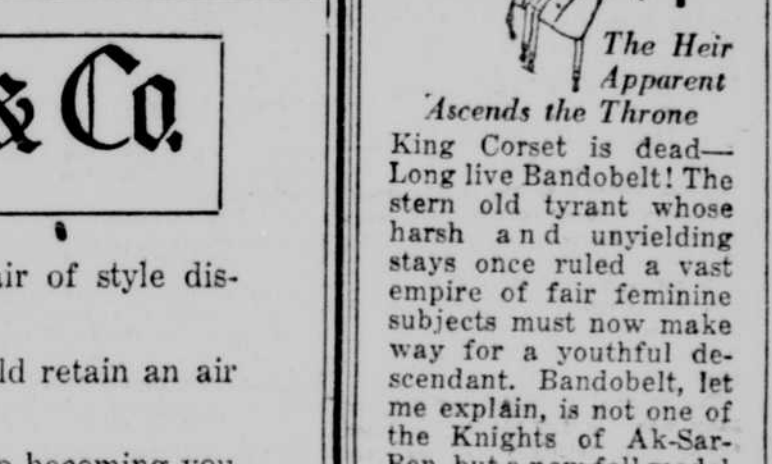

A Total Eclipse

Oak is a good one for it is effective with navy, brown or black and 16-button chambrases in this shade with embroidered backs and pique seams that make fingers look slim and graceful are only $2.25 a pair.

Embroidered in D. M. C.
—boast new apron frocks as proudly as if they were decorated with the D. S. M. Well, in a way D. M. C. does hold the distinguished service medal among embroideries. And this is typical of the quality of everything about these pretty slip-on frocks. The one I like best is a golden glow shade of yellow satinette hand embroidered in a black lattice effect. But if this color seems too passionate for your household duties, there's black and all the soft pastel shades, priced $8.50 to $3.50.

Did You Ever Hear This One?
Once there was a super sales manager who kept photographs of his salesmen in his desk. When he wanted to write them a super letter to make them do exactly what he wanted, he took out their pictures and looked at them while he wrote! So it occurred to me it might help our out-of-town patrons in their correspondence with Thompson-Belden's to have a picture of the head of our shopping service. Well, she's blonde. Not very short—not very tall and not a bit fat. But who could be, running about a store from morning till night matching a sample of silk, looking for fat ankle baby shoes and other odd things people want Thompson-Belden's to send them. She is wonderfully canny about knowing what out-of-town patrons like. But that's only natural, for, without referring to the matter too definitely (she's a lady, you know), she has been shopping for them for a long, long time. Now that you know what she looks like, do write often. G. P. S.

The Best Place to Shop After All

If a coat possessed the undefinable, unmistakable air of style distinction—

If it were hand-tailored from fine fabrics that would retain an air of smartness under constant use—

If the design was so thoroughly right and the lines so becoming you wouldn't tire of it easily—

If it were fur trimmed with luxurious full furred pelts—

If it were crepe silk lined throughout—

Wouldn't It Be Worth $98.50?
