Watch the Top.
48 Times Happy We.
Do You Gently Inhale?
The Horse and the Ashes.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

Five thousand bankers, in convention, were assured yesterday that everything would be all right in the best possible of worlds but for "socialism, communism, syndicalism and dangerous advocacy of government ownership."

Many of the 5,000 bankers are intelligent gentlemen, and reading history they know this:

Radicalism becomes dangerous at the bottom only when prosperity and power become foolish at the top.

Bulgaria is torn by revolutions; peasant friends of the murdered Stamboulski are determined to avenge him and kick out their king.

We are fortunate with 48 different nations tied up as one. Anything can happen in one of the 48 states without seriously disturbing the others.

In Oklahoma the governor orders the soldiers to "shoot to kill" if the legislature attempts to meet and impeach him. It's all about the Ku Klux Klan, etc. In Europe that would be enough for a "news" revolution. Here it is just "news" from one state. The beauty of it is that the 48 united nations have free trade among them, protection from the outside. Our ancestors were wise, and we are fortunate.

Do you inhale your cigarette smoke, chin in the air and forehead thrown back. And do you then proudly blow it out of your nose, up toward the ceiling, saying, "If you don't inhale you don't really smoke?"

It may interest you to know that inhaling tobacco smoke means absorbing into the system eight times as much nicotine as non-inhalers absorb. A learned German professor proves it.

Bear in mind also that when your nose is in the air inhaling tobacco smoke, you are not thinking. This is loss of time. You can't think with your nose in the air. Thinking makes the forehead turn downward.

Life is strange. Henry Ward Beecher would have found a text in the westbound Aquitania, bringing Papyrus, the great English race horse, and the ashes of Princess Anastasia, American woman of great wealth, married to a brother of the Greek king. A live horse means more than a dead princess. Wireless messages from the world tell you that Papyrus is well in his thickly padded stateroom. Bar Gold, another horse brought to keep him company, is seasick. No word by wireless or otherwise about the sad journey to her homeland of the American princess. It is all over for her.

The franc continues its upward dance. Finance thinks France has won. So she has, although with one side disarmed, there isn't as much glory in holding the Ruhr as there was in holding Verdun.

The London stock market was a little more cheerful yesterday, but not too cheerful. Our stock speculators did not share the European stock exchange cheerfulness. They were gloomy.

The broker that recently asked people to gamble with him by selling francs short, isn't feeling happy today, if he did, since there isn't any short selling.

The government has sold the Muscle Shoals plant to a corporation, and that ends Henry Ford's attempt to get the great water-power.

All London went grouse shooting yesterday. It is called sport. Men hide in "butts" each with a servant to load his gun for quick work in killing. The birds are driven by beaters toward the "butts" and butchered as they fly over. It isn't as bad as the old cowardly pigeon shooting, but nearly as bad.

Congressman Simmons "Flivvering" to Washington

The 38-year-old Congressman, Nebraska's youngest congressman, leaving Omaha for his maiden session of congress. His wife and kiddies are aboard also.

Residents of the "Big Sixth," which in itself is nearly as large as all the New England states, excepting Maine, know the "flivver" almost as well as they know Bob, who was born in the district and has always lived there, except during the years when young men aided in keeping the boches from the American hearthstone.

This "flivver" carried Congressman Bob over the dubious cow trails in his district before election. After election he spent most of his time traveling over his district with his family.

Now the "flivver" and Congressman Bob are on the last long mile, figuratively speaking. They are on their way to Washington.

Congressman Bob stopped in Omaha long enough to become imbued with the Omaha Bee plan of forcing a high tariff on wheat to protect the middle-west wheat farmer from a Canadian wheat invasion. He's promised to do all he can to put over the plan at the coming session of congress.

The Big Sixth representative admits that he and his "flivver" are leaving Nebraska rather early for the session. But he believes a number of the old-time politicians are there now jockeying for committee appointments.

Nebraska's youngest congressman is like all the others from the farm belt in Nebraska and elsewhere—he wants an appointment to the agricultural committee. He knows someone is to be disappointed. He's endeavoring to exclude himself from the "also rans."

formed a connection through his body to a live wire at the top of a 16-foot pole, burning one shoe and stocking off and singeing the foot badly, is reported still in a serious condition at a Lincoln hospital. He was also badly bruised by the fall to the ground.

Boy Bandits All Parole Violators

Four Youths Have Served in Reform School—Two Others Implicated, They Say.

Four boy bandits arrested Tuesday in the process of holding up the Sterling grocery at 1511 St. Marys avenue, declared this morning that six persons participated in the hold-up and that police released two of them.

They asserted that they were "framed" by the police and by the two members of the gang who were turned loose by the detectives who made the arrest. One of the boys turned loose is said to be Joseph Langton, a brother of John Langton, clerk in the store.

Detectives, questioned concerning the statement of the boys, said that the other two bandits would "be on hand when they are wanted."

The four arrested are Clifford Hill, 4705 South Twenty-seventh street; Rudolph Mertz, 4622 South Twentieth street; William Rybin, 4715 South Twentieth street, and James Brennan, 6615 Gilmore avenue.

All have been confined in the Kearney Industrial school at one time or another and will be turned over to juvenile authorities as parole violators.

Clifford Hill, in a statement this morning, said that they met at a pool hall on Twenty-fourth street, between L and M streets, yesterday afternoon and went directly from the pool hall to the grocery store, where the hold-up was attempted.

At the store Sam Rothenberg, 201 South Thirty-sixth street, manager, was forced to the rear of the building at the point of a gun. John Langton and Morris Waxenberg, clerks, and Harry Koepck, truck driver, were herded into a corner at the rear of the store by another member of the gang. Three hundred dollars, the gang's receipts, was in the cash register.

Then detectives, who had received a tip, appeared at the store entrance, armed with sawed-off shotguns, and the holdup fell flat.

Potatoes Drop 50 Cents;
Fall Digging Progresses
Chicago, Sept. 26.—Increased supplies and an increased crop estimate combined with warm weather have sent potato prices downward from 25 to 50 cents a hundred pounds in most terminal markets and much stock is going into storage as the digging of the fall crop progresses, according to the bureau of agriculture economics in a review.

In 1921 the heaviest movement of potatoes took place in the second week of October when a peak of 12,000 carloads was reached. The high point in 1922 was the last week of September when 8,000 cars were shipped. The week under review showed 6,420 cars, a 15 per cent increase over the previous week.

Nebraska Has Executed 11 Criminals Since 1903
Lincoln, Sept. 26.—Assistant Attorney General Dorr today answered the letter of Judge Marous Kavanagh of Chicago, which asked for the number of legal executions in Nebraska. There have been 11 executions in the state since 1903, the reply stated. Three of these have been carried out in the last three years and have been by electrocution, according to the assistant attorney general's letter. The Chicago jurist asked for the information for the purpose of including it in similar data from all states, which is to be presented to the American Bar association. It is collected to form a basis of a study on the effect of capital punishment as a deterrent to crime.

Wymore, Neb., Sept. 26.—The total subscriptions from Gage county to the Japanese earthquake sufferers, according to remittances and reports turned in from the various solicitors of the county to the Red Cross secretary at Beatrice, show that Gage county collected a total of $1,590, and that of this amount $437.25 was sent in by residents of Wymore and employees of the Wymore division of the Burlington railway. This was over 300 per cent over-subscription for the city of Wymore, its quota being $150.
