Noted Author to Lecture in Omaha

Ludwig Lewisohn to Appear Under Temple Israel Auspices.

Ludwig Lewisohn, author of "Upstream," will speak in Omaha this fall at Temple Israel, under the auspices of the Brotherhood of Temple Israel, as one of a series of lectures to be brought here in a similar manner during the winter. It was announced Saturday by Martin Sugarman.

Other persons who will appear on the lecture series are Prof. F. H. Clark, dean of dramatics at the University of Chicago; Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of New York City, who holds a national reputation as a pulpit orator; and "Newman's Shadow Talks," the only appellation by which the fourth member of the group chooses to be known.

Blocks of seats for the entire series already has been reserved by a group of members of the City Teachers' association.

No dates for the lectures have been fixed. The first will be sometime in October, however, and the others will follow at intervals of one month.

Omaha Hop Off in Plane for International Congress

Victor Roos and Harry Mallo of Omaha hopped off Saturday afternoon at Ak-Sar-Ben field in an Omaha made airplane piloted by Bob Akkison, with Otto Ramer as mechanic, for St. Louis, Mo., to attend the international aero congress to be held there Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Airmen from all over the country are making the trip to St. Louis by plane to attend the congress.

Belfast, Ireland, has the largest rope works in the world.

Douglas County Boys' and Girls' Clubs Have Their Work on Display

Dainty frocks for juniors, mono-gramed middy blouses, attractive novelties, exquisite lingerie, delicious edibles.

No it is not a department store advertisement but a description of the exhibit of the achievements of the Douglas county boys' and girls' clubs now on display in the Omaha National bank.

These exhibits, which line the wall in the east and north parts of the bank building, will remain hanging for a week. Next Saturday, prizes offered by Walter Head, president of the Omaha National bank, will be awarded as follows:

For the best club exhibit including five problems, sewing clubs of both the first and second course will be awarded $15 first prize, $10, second prize, and $5, third prize.

Individual exhibits of sewing including three articles will receive $10 first, $5 second, and $3 third prize.

Rope splicing and knotting clubs will receive $10, $5 and $3, respectively, for the three best exhibits.

Similar prizes are offered canning clubs, but none are competing at present.

Police Chief Given

Entire Force Salutes as Token Is Pinned on Jewel Studded Badge

While 250 members of the Omaha police department rose and saluted, Capt. George W. Allen pinned on the coat of Chief of Police P. H. Dillon a solid gold, diamond studded chief's badge, the gift of the department, Saturday afternoon.

The presentation speech was made by Police Commissioner Dan Butler. "There is nothing I value more highly than the friendship of men," said the chief, in responding.

"I shall certainly keep this badge with me always, whether my life be long or short."

Subscriptions to The Omaha Bee May Be Charged

Arrangement With Thompson-Belden Company Enables Subscribers to Add to Monthly Bill.

Subscribers to The Omaha Bee may now have the subscription charged on their monthly bill at Thompson-Belden & Co., under the provisions of a new service inaugurated by the store.

Thus, without extra cost, subscribers may be relieved of the weekly call of the carrier collector, the carrier receiving his pay as usual from The Omaha Bee. Only six months' subscriptions or more may be so charged, at the rate of $7.50 for the Evening and Sunday Bee for one year, or $3.90 for the Evening and Sunday Bee for six months, or $10.40 for the Morning and Sunday Bee for one year, and $5.20 for the Morning and Sunday Bee for six months.

When You Think Of Insurance - Think Of Tom Kelly

NO LIVING MAN CAN AFFORD TO BE WITHOUT HIS INSURANCE COUNSELOR

Do you know that ninety-eight out of every one hundred men who start selling Life and Accident Insurance fail to make good and are no longer in the business at the end of one year.

And do you know that there are more than ten thousand different kinds of Life and Accident policies, each with a distinct purpose and each written to fulfill a given need.

To buy insurance carelessly is beyond the understanding of any good insurance man. To buy insurance that was never intended to cover your requirements is certain to develop dissatisfaction. And to buy insurance on a "competitive" basis is sure to lack many of the necessary clauses of protection for which you think you have no need.

Life and Accident Insurance is my business. My twenty-five years in this business has born within me the courage to serve well instead of with a desire to sell huge volumes of insurance through "crafty" salesmanship.

More than half of my business is the serving of those people who are unwilling to "gamble" upon the success or failure of some friendly insurance agent. Insurance should be "gilt-edge" as to PURPOSE as well as to the strength of the company writing it. The inexperienced "seller" is unfit to measure your needs or to select the policy you should buy.

For you to experiment with two or three different policies or men; or for you to lose the time which this experimenting takes is to increase the cost of your annual premium as well as to cause unfortunate dissatisfaction at a time when you are no longer physically able to declare your rights or intents.
