

World League of Labor Urged on Federation

Held Way to End War and Bring Prosperity—Unions Plan to Exclude Reds.

By Universal Service.
Portland, Ore., Oct. 6.—War can be prevented and the advancement and prosperity of the workers of the world assured through a league of trades unions, according to John W. Brown of England, secretary and organizer for the International Federation of Trades Unions, with headquarters in Amsterdam-Holland. Mr. Brown addressed the convention of the American Federation of Labor today.

"The one besetting sin of the Anglo-Saxon race," said Mr. Brown, "is that of running into snug self-complacency. The interests of the labor movements of the Anglo-Saxons is bound up with the interests of labor in other countries.

"Apart from the communists, the trade union movement has nailed its banner to democracy. The three weapons used are the industrial weapon, the political weapon and the weapon of the consumers.

"The trade union international body that I represent embraces over 23,000,000 workers. In a resolution passed by our organization in May, 1921, any organization affiliated with the Moscow red international movement was automatically dropped from the federation.

"We believe in fostering the trade union movement in countries where it is weak. We cannot take the position of splendid isolation. Competition in other countries requires that we raise the standard of wages and the standard of living in all civilized countries. They cannot grant an eight-hour day in one country, competing with a 10-hour day and a 12-hour day in other countries.

"We must see fair conditions established for labor throughout the world. Unless we can raise the standards of living and wages in other countries, our own standards will be forced to come down."

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, in a speech, said that his organization found that it was being made a breeding place for a great many policies running counter to the established policies of the organized labor movement.

Stand by Contracts.

"Our union has long stood for the validity of contracts and has insisted on members carrying out such obligations when properly assumed," he said.

"The teachers of false philosophies are able to imbue some of our members with their beliefs and induce them to depart from us and follow after false gods."

"Boring from within," will receive the official attention of the American Federation of Labor Monday, it was forecast today. Also the convention is seriously considering the advisability of unseating the borers on the charge that they are enemies of the organized labor movement of America.

The chief borer is William Z. Foster, who has failed to put in an appearance in Portland because of warnings from the Department of Justice, it was stated. He is represented here by deputy "borers from within."

James A. Duncan, delegate from the Seattle Trades and Labor council, and William F. Dunne, editor of the Butte (Mont.) Bulletin, and a delegate from the Butte Central Trades and Labor council, are two of the delegates who are facing possible expulsion.

Third Party Opposed.

James Duncan, vice president of the American Federation of Labor and chairman of the resolutions committee, will be held tonight in the De Luxe academy, 111 South Eighth street. Miss M. Coleman, the evangelist, will speak on "The Second Coming of Christ." Services are interdenominational.

Gen. Primo de Rivera, new premier of Spain, arrived in New York today. He is accompanied by King Alfonso XIII and a large staff. The king and premier are expected to remain in the city for several days before departing for their respective homes.

The report of the resolutions committee will be against the adoption of the resolutions calling for the formation of a third or farmer-labor political party, amalgamation and the recognition of soviet Russia. Copies of a resolution alleged to have been passed by the allied labor organizations of Birmingham, Ala., were circulated today by Lewis Bowen, secretary-treasurer of the Alabama State Federation of Labor, denouncing the candidacy of Senator Underwood for presidency.

They met last summer at Green lake, Spicer, Minn., where Mr. Munson was champion fisherman, breaking the records every day with such things as six-pound bass and seven-ounce walleyed pike.

"I combine business with fishing," said Mr. Munson. "I have caught salmon in Puget Sound, salmon lake trout in the Great Lakes, bluefish in the Great South bay, Long Island, and small mouth bass in the Ozarks." Mrs. Munson is also a follower of the sport made famous by Isaac Walton and accompanies her husband on his trips.

Ex-Premier and Son of Lincoln Meet in Vermont

Lloyd George Reaches Montreal—Scenery Along the Route From New York Offers Nice Change.

Montreal, Que., Oct. 6.—The ancient city of the province of Quebec turned out tonight to give a royal welcome to David Lloyd George.

Lloyd George's first speech in Canada was delivered at St. Lambert, seven miles from Montreal. The train then proceeded on the way to Montreal and was greeted by the blowing of factory whistles and sirens as it entered the station.

The second day of David Lloyd George's visit to America was spent on tour through the beautiful valley of the Hudson and the Green mountain region of Vermont on the way to Montreal. It was a decided change from the noisy roar of the city which greeted him upon his first landing in New York yesterday, and from the wide expanse of ocean which surrounded him the day before.

Lloyd George expressed great satisfaction over the fact that it had been chosen to make the trip from New York to Montreal by daylight instead of at night, as originally planned. He was delighted with the trip and declared he already had seen enough of America to convince him it was a wonderful country, surpassing even his expectations.

The most notable stop was at Manchester, Vt., the summer home of Robert T. Lincoln, son of the great emancipator, who had sent word to Lloyd George on the train that he desired to meet him. Although 78 years old and very feeble, Mr. Lincoln met the premier at the station and they chatted for a few minutes about incidents of the civil war with which Lloyd George showed great familiarity.

"The episode of my meeting Lincoln's son thrilled me," Lloyd George said afterwards. "I was always a great admirer of Lincoln. His position in the civil war was far different from my own in the world war. Lincoln was compelled to fight his own people; it was not like a war with another nation. The war saddened him and broke his heart. I admire his career greatly."

The first stop of the day was at Albany, where a large crowd gathered. Lloyd George left the train escorted by former Gov. Martin Glynn, who introduced him as the one who settled the Irish question. In response Lloyd George paid a high tribute to the work performed by Governor Glynn, who was a liaison between the British government and the Irish forces when the settlement was effected. Of himself, he declared that ever since he entered political life he had been fighting the cause of the people, and was grateful to find here a citizenship that stands for liberty and democracy.

At Troy another large crowd greeted him. He was introduced by Mayor Fleming and spoke briefly, expressing his gratitude for the warm reception received and his pleasure in visiting the country. A similar demonstration occurred at North Bennington.

Bishop Pleads for Recognition of Soviet

Chicago, Oct. 6.—An American returning from Russia is branded as a bolshevist or else as reactionary if he tries simply to tell the truth as he has seen it. Bishop Edgar Blake of the Paris area, told the Rock River conference of the Methodist Episcopal church here this afternoon. Delegates applauded when he said "I'm not a reactionary and I'm not a bolshevist, thank God—I'm a little of both."

"I am opposed to dictatorships, whether in Russia, Italy or Oklahoma," he continued. "That isn't reactionaryism nor Bolshevism; it is plain Americanism as I understand it. Americans ought to establish contacts by which they can help guide the intellectual movement in Russia. World problems cannot be solved without reckoning with Russia."

If Wakihi can't talk to Omaha, at least Omaha can talk to Wakihi.

A letter received last week by radio station WAOV, the Woodmen of the World Life Insurance association, from A. L. Costa, postmaster at Wailuku, Hawaii, reports receipt of test signals from station WAOV on September 29 at 9:55 p. m. Hawaiian time, or 2:55 a. m. Omaha time.

Flood Victims Sue City for Ditch Damage

Writ of Mandamus for Drainage of Pettibone Ditch Is Sought in District Court.

Petition for a writ of mandamus, forcing the city of Council Bluffs and the Union Pacific railroad to open the inundated area north of Broadway, between Thirtieth and Twentieth streets, was filed in district court yesterday by nearly half a hundred property owners in that vicinity. The action names as plaintiffs, Ed Thrush, George S. Steinberg, J. L. Walker, L. R. Kramer, H. Nichols, William Beltz, W. Ward and 49 other property owners and taxpayers. It also requests a mandatory injunction, obliging the defendants to leave the ditch open.

The petition alleges that the open sewer, known as Pettibone ditch, drains the entire area from Avenue C, north, between Twelfth and Twentieth streets, carrying flood waters to Spoon lake, which is situated near the Union Pacific right of way.

It charges that track extensions made by the railroad have blocked the ditch from an outlet into the lake, and that improvements along Broadway made by the city have narrowed the passage of the ditch through that thoroughfare to an inefficient stage.

An attempt made by residents of the district during the height of the recent flood to cut channels through Twentieth street for drainage purposes was blocked by police and members of the National guard, called by citizens living on the other side of the ridge.

No date has been fixed for hearing upon the application for a writ of mandamus.

Spectacled Women Not Conducive to Love

Esthetic Sense of European Shocked

Chicago, Oct. 6.—While Lloyd George is anxious to learn about the more politic things of the United States in his visit here, Johan Bojer, noted Norwegian novelist, wants to ascertain but one fact about America. He asked today:

"Why do American women wear spectacles?" "It is impossible for me to understand why the so beautiful American women wear such hideous spectacles," remarked the novelist.

"How can a young American man and a young American lady meet at rendezvous? It is not esthetic. Spectacles must be ruinous to love."

Highest Cross Seen by Chicago People

Chicago, Oct. 6.—The gold-covered emblem of Christianity was placed in position today atop the slender spire of the Methodist temple—the highest cross in the world.

In the heart of Chicago's business district, 556 feet above the street, the cross will be visible day and night for miles around. Each evening searchlights will be trained upon it so that its brilliance will never be dimmed.

The cross is made of bronze, with a heavy coating of copper, upon which comparatively heavy gold leaf has been placed. The searchlights are hidden in the ornamental stonework below, and only 20 feet from the cross itself.
