

Nebraska Corn Is Out of Danger

Other Products Also Look Good, Says Government Report Just Issued.

Lincoln, Oct. 7.—About 90 per cent of Nebraska's corn crop was matured beyond danger from frost by the end of September; reports indicate a large crop of poor quality, a fair potato crop of poor quality, and soil conditions in the state are ideal. This is the summary of a report made public by A. E. Anderson, head of the United States bureau of crop and livestock estimates.

The report states that the remainder of the corn crop will have matured enough by October 10 to withstand a heavy frost, adding that western Nebraska has the largest corn crop on record and it has practically all matured. The only sections in Nebraska reporting any injury from drought are a strip extending from Nuckolls county to Butler county and a small area about the center of the state, the report declares.

The remainder of Mr. Anderson's report follows, in part: "Soil conditions have seldom been better for seeding winter wheat. This year the wheat crop is expected to be better than planned, particularly in western Nebraska where wheat is often drilled in the corn fields. A second inquiry on winter wheat yield gave exactly the same average, 16.5 bushels, as given in the August preliminary report. Spring wheat returns were lower than previous estimates.

"Returns from grain dealers substantiated previous reports on other grain crops, all of which were large. The quality of the oats crop was impaired by rains while in the shock. Due to low quantity, comparatively low prices, and shortage of other grain feed, most of the oats are being fed to livestock.

"The hay crop is large but of rather poor quality due to both delay in harvest and rain during the period. The United States hay crop is short and the price very good. Pastures are exceptionally good for this time of the year, and were far above the average throughout the summer season.

"Yields of the late commercial crop, particularly the Early Ohio variety are considerably below previous expectations and the quality is also very poor. Red Triumphant are generally yielding better and of a much better quality this year.

"The harvest of sugar beets has started. The acreage is above that of last year, but the production has not exceeded last year's. Cane beetles are being picked and the crop far below last year. Heavy yields of forage crops are being harvested."

Columbus to Have Big County Fair

Forty-Six Merchants Will Use Store Windows for Display of Exhibits.

Columbus, Neb., Oct. 7.—Columbus will have a three-day county fair. But it will be "different." Instead of big booths and buildings, store windows of 46 merchants will be used to display exhibits. Each window will be devoted to an exhibit of a different nature. There will be windows filled with fresh home grown fruits, vegetables, corn, small grain, school work of rural schools, and high school exhibits of bread, pastries, candies, needlework, sewing, small livestock, pet livestock, etc. In each window the prize will be shown that will be given for the best exhibit of its kind in the window.

Each merchant will give the prizes for the exhibits in his own window. He will also gather in the offerings. He has to select. Judges of three farmers and one town man will be appointed to judge the farm exhibits while the Business Women's club will appoint three judges to take charge of the women's exhibits. The fair will begin October 15 and close October 17. Stores will be open and windows lighted every night during the festival.

With the close of the festival will come the close of the five-week sales campaign the merchants have been conducting. At that time there will be street festivities as well as a "fun auction" in the Frankfort park square.

At the "fun auction" bidders will bid on a 1924 model touring car. The losers will then have the privilege of bidding on 500 different kinds of merchandise offerings of 45 merchants, the articles to go to the highest bidder.

October 17 charitable and religious organizations will have street celebrations.

Farmers Need Aid, Union Man Says

National Union Secretary Cites Better Banking and Prices Among Wants.

West Point, Neb., Oct. 7.—The annual meeting of the Farmers Exchange and Co-operative Union of Cumming county was held here. A. C. Davis, national secretary of the union, was the principal speaker at the meeting, which was well attended. State President Osborn also addressed the meeting.

Mr. Davis, whose headquarters are in Washington, is working in the interests of legislation for the benefit of the farmer through their union and the Milk Producers union. He also spoke of the need for better banking and financial aid for farm products.

Mr. Osborn told of the union's efforts to get a seat on the grain exchange at Omaha and of the aid that will come from all over the country. The Spillman exchange seat of the Spillman in the last 60 days banded 100 carloads of grain, according to Mr. Osborn.

These officials intimated that the union in time would go into the packing business in Omaha and other cities and that they would try to get their share of the export grain business. They pointed out, however, that the union will not participate in politics.
