Every One Is Honest

Every one is honest at heart, they are born that way. Truly the experiences of life warp the minds of some of the weaker folks and they practice dis-honest methods. Many honest people pass remarks in jest saying that if they could find money, jewelry, etc., they would keep it.

The number of lost articles recovered through advertisements in classification 4 proves that the people who actually keep lost articles are few and far between, so when you have lost something, either read or use classification 4.
