J. Schwartz & Sons, one of the largest and best high-priced clothing manufacturers, who made clothes only for such stores as Marshall Field & Co., Franklin Simons, Fifth Ave., New York, and many other prominent clothing stores, got up against it financially. A friend of mine tipped me off that their woolens were to be sold at auction, and to convince myself of the greatness of the value he told me about, I grabbed the first "Rattler" for Chicago, and I was amazed when I saw them. Now I have the biggest part of them in my store.

EDDIE'S FRIENDS The Weekly Penny Ante Game.

These woolens are of the finest quality of new fall and winter patterns, everything that a man could want. They are all high-grade woolens, intended to sell up to $100.

Harry Says:

"Friends Are a Great Asset" A friend of mine, who is well posted on conditions in the woolen and clothing markets, tipped me off about a high-grade clothing manufacturer who wentbankrupt, and whose stock of woolens was to be sold at auction. I knew my friend was a good judge of woolens, but to convince myself, I jumped on the first Chicago-bound train, and when I saw their stock I had to admit that it was everything that my friend had said it was.

I bought as much as my bankroll would permit, and bought it at such a ridiculously low price that it will enable me to offer the men of Omaha and vicinity the Greatest Tailoring Value that was ever put before them. I was doubly anxious to secure these woolens, so that every man for miles around could help me celebrate my first birthday.

You know, men, knowledge is the greatest thing in the world. The only way to know it is to find out. It costs you not one penny to stroll into my shop and see these fabrics. If they are not absolutely up to your expectations, you can stroll right out again It is just a year ago since I threw my doors open to the men of Omaha. They told me that Omaha men were very skeptical, and that there was no room here for a merchant who was a "Jipper." I started laying my plans to meet the men as I myself would want to be met, and I can now say with pride that I have thousands of Omaha's best business and professional men as my boosters.

So I urge you men to be here Saturday and help me celebrate my first birthday, and in doing so, share in my wonderful tailoring values.
