Governors Agree With Coolidge

Conference on Prohibition Enforcement Ends With Endorsement of Seven Points.

Al Smith Denounces Act

By International News Service. Washington, Oct. 20.—A sweeping program of federal and state co-operation and education—designed to dry up America and stop the leakages in the Volstead act and the 15th amendment—was adopted tonight by President Coolidge's "law and order conference" at the White House, attended by the governors of 36 states and territories.

The program was agreed on only after four hours and a half of oratory, during which three governors, Al Smith, democrat, of New York; Albert C. Ritchie, democrat, of Maryland, and Cameron Morrison, democrat, of North Carolina, denounced the Volstead act and informed the president and their colleagues, that, in their opinion, the law was not enforceable and should be changed.

Six points for prohibition enforcement were proposed by President Coolidge. These provided for state meetings of prosecuting attorneys, enrollment of the press, co-ordination of state and federal enforcement personnel and other measures. The president's program was adopted without a dissenting vote after the governors had added another seventh point providing for education of children to the dangers of alcoholic beverages.

He declared to the governors, his luncheon guests, that enforcement of the Volstead act is not a "cannot be made a political question." He made no reference to the merit of prohibition except to say that the matter should be left to the judgment of the people.

The people made it the law of the land and it is the duty of every law agency in the land to enforce it, he declared.

Governor Smith of New York, in a ringing speech which drew commendation even from dry governors, declared that the law "cannot be enforced as at present constituted," and he further declared that it should be modified to permit the manufacture and sale of light wines and beer, Governor Pinchot issued a statement endorsing the president's speech.

Eight Girl Hikers "Through" With Movies

Special Dispatch to The Omaha Bee. Columbus, Neb., Oct. 20.—Eight young women, whose homes are in Illinois and Indiana, hiking back to their home states from Los Angeles, where they admit they "chickened" while "movie struck" and "chickened" again, walked into Columbus last night and resumed their journey eastward this morning.

Five of the girls were one-time rural school teachers in their home state, one a stenographer and two of them "home girls."

The best they could do in the movies was as "a man" about once in three weeks at from $2 to $5 a day. The girls say they found living so high, wages so low and jobs so scarce they decided to start home on foot with the savings they had left.

Pooling their savings they started out, having been on the road two weeks, riding 99 per cent of the way, they being given lifts by tourists.

"Bungalow" Raided by Deputy Sheriffs. Deputy sheriffs, led by Olf Thstrup, raided the "Bungalow" 15th and Center streets, last night, confiscating five pints of alcohol and arresting Johnnie Moore and Froggie Howard as keepers. Inmates were not arrested.

Mr. Waugh was cut and bruised, one cut in his scalp requiring several stitches. News of the accident came yesterday in a letter to Rev. H. G. Heuser, pastor of Miller Park Presbyterian church.

Mr. Waugh is active in the Minne Lusa Chautauqua circle and was elected its president in 1921.

Woman, 30, Hit by Automobile Dies of Shock

Accident at Nineteenth and Douglas Streets Proves Fatal; Driver Held on $2,000 Bond.

Josephine Verber, about 30, address unknown, died at Paxton Memorial hospital Saturday as the result of shock a short time after she was run down at Nineteenth and Douglas streets by an automobile driven by Milton Swift, carpenter, 2907 Mormon street.

The accident occurred at 2. At the hospital, where she was taken in Swift's car, Miss Verber was found to be suffering from a bruised leg. She died shortly afterward without regaining consciousness.

Police believe that she has relatives in Iowa. She at one time worked for Mrs. George Kennedy as a housemaid, according to police information.

The body was taken to the Cole-McKay undertaking establishment. Swift was arrested on a charge of reckless driving and his bond was fixed at $2,000.

Pershing Sails for Europe With Sister

New York, Oct. 20.—Gen. John J. Pershing attempted to sail from America incognito today, but his efforts were about as successful as were those of the prince of Wales when he entered Canada as Lord Renfrew.

He said he was going on a "flying vacation trip" of from one to three months, and would visit France and possibly other European countries. He was accompanied by his sister, Mrs. Mary E. Butler of Lincoln, Neb.

In a hurried session with his interviewers the general answered most questions with a jolly remark, and then added laughingly, "but don't say that." Typical of these was a query concerning who the next president would be.

33d Year in Harness Is Near for Intrepid Fighter of Flames

But Martin J. Dineen Doesn't Want to Be Called Veteran—Still Young.

Next Saturday Martin J. Dineen, assistant chief of the fire department, will complete 33 consecutive years in fighting fires in Omaha.

His name ought to be Phoenix, which is the moniker of a mythological bird that came out of the mountains in Asia every 500 years, burned itself upon an altar, then rose, from the ashes, more beautiful than ever.

Dineen has been dragged out from many a smoldering ruin, but he dodges unnumbered falling walls, he has galloped across plenty of burning floors.

And so agile has he been that he has escaped serious accident all through the years—although he was reduced to crutches for one brief period last year—and today declares he feels younger than ever. The other fire fighters declare he is strong as an ox and lively as a cricket.

Martin admits it himself and declares you'll have to ask someone older than he is if you want to find out how it feels to be past 25.

First Assistant Chief Dineen went to work for the department October 27, 1891, in the fire house at Twenty-ninth and Dorcas streets, driving a horse wagon. That was before Fords were heard of or automobiles invented.

He was made a lieutenant in 1895, a captain in 1896, second assistant chief in 1901 and first assistant chief in 1915.

Bavaria Sets Out to Secede From Germany

Nationalist Move Launched to Rout Socialism—Food Raids Are Staged Over Republic.

By International News Service. Berlin, Oct. 20.—Bavaria tonight was trying to rally to its support all the nationalist forces in Germany to establish the Bavarian state as the predominant state, instead of Prussia. The Bavarian nationalists want to "clean house in Germany," routing out socialism.

The action of Bavaria in appointing the notorious General Von Lossow as commander of the reichswehr in Bavaria was regarded as the first step toward secession. A communique was issued depicting the "terribly aggravating situation."

To add to the seriousness of the government's position, food riots took place in Hamburg, Dresden, Berlin, Schoenberg and Nuremberg.

Ruhr industrialists have decided to finance material deliveries of reparations to the allies until April, on condition they are provided by the German state with the amounts of cash they will need for taxes, it was learned tonight. Officials believed this may stave off the threatened labor upheaval in the Ruhr.

The German government issued a statement at 8 o'clock tonight charging Bavaria with flat violation of the German national constitution.

There are about 12,000 reichswehr in Bavaria. These divisions, by the decree of Munich, are placed under command of Von Lossow, who is virtually in mutiny against the Berlin government through his refusal to enforce government decrees.

The Bavarian government and Herr Von Kahr, the Bavarian dictator, issued statements acknowledging Von Lossow's dismissal by Berlin, but appointing him commander of the reichswehr divisions in Bavaria. This put the Bavarian reichswehr between two masters and in effect invited secession and military mutiny.

General Von Zeek issued a proclamation declaring that "whoever obeys General Von Lossow, deposed commander of the reichswehr in Bavaria, breaks his oath to the German republic."

'S Funny About This Tangle of Police Doctors

Suspended Surgeon and Acting Mayor Butler's New Appointee Have Offices Together.

Who is the police surgeon of Omaha? Up to last Thursday Dr. F. H. Kinyoun was.

On that day, City Commissioner Dan B. Butler became acting mayor by virtue of his transfer to the department of finance and the further fact that Mayor Dahlman is in the hospital.

One of the first acts of Butler's reign was the suspension of Dr. Kinyoun because the surgeon had stated he was not at all displeased at the removal of Butler from the police department.

Butler appointed Dr. J. C. Follman to act as police surgeon.

But last night Dr. F. T. Lovely appeared at the police station. He said Dr. Kinyoun sent him to act in his place, Saturday being the police surgeon's night off.

What Means This? The office of Dr. Kinyoun, the suspended police surgeon, is 1138 First National bank building.

The office of Dr. Lovely, the man sent by Dr. Kinyoun to act in his stead, is 1138 First National bank building.

Dr. Follman, at his home last night, didn't know.

"Why aren't you at the police station tonight?" he was asked.

"Yes, we offices together."

"Are you going to accept Mr. Butler's appointment?"

"Well, I don't know."

So the question propounded at the opening of this ditty remains unanswered.

$200 Offer for Return of Violin

Genuine Gagliani, Worth $3,000, Was Priceless Possession of Henry Cox for 19 Years.

Henry Cox, prominent Omaha violinist and musical director, wants the thief who stole his treasured violin to return it. He longs for the feel of its well-worn surface under his chin, and his ears ache for the mellow tones of its aristocratic voice.

For no ordinary violin was this one which was stolen from the home of the Omaha musician, at 3320 Dewey avenue. A genuine Gagliani, this violin was purchased by Mr. Cox from August Granander in New York city at a price which runs well into four figures.

The purchase was made 19 years ago, and since then Mr. Cox and the violin have seldom if ever been parted. The violin was stolen as the result of an oversight. In the haste and flurry of the departure for a visit in Mason City, Ia., the musician forgot to take the violin.

Old Silver Taken. And using his absence thieves took it. The thieves also took practically everything in the Cox home, including silver three generations old and linen which belonged to Mrs. Cox' grandmother.

But Mr. Cox grieves for but one thing—his treasured violin. Last night he offered a $200 reward for its return. And he won't bother whoever returns it with any questions, either.

A short time later he was rejoiced at word from police stating they had a clue as to the possible whereabouts of the instrument.

None to Replace It. "Mr. Cox has had police and a private detective working to get back his precious violin," said Mrs. Cox. "It's worth $3,000, but of course the thief couldn't begin to get that much for it. And it's worth much more than that to Mr. Cox. Why, he can't find a violin he wants to buy; one that could possibly replace the stolen one. So he's had to borrow a violin from Leo Wilson."

The robbery of the Cox home occurred in daylight. A truck drove up to the front door and a man calmly removed the most valuable things, placing them in the truck, it is believed. Neighbors saw the truck arrive, but they suspected nothing. When the Cox returned from Mason City they discovered the robbery.

Niece Loses Suit Over Miller Will

Lincoln, Oct. 20.—Miss Nellie M. Johnson of Omaha lost her appeal to the supreme court to have the disposition of the estate of the late Dr. George L. Miller set aside, according to a decision handed down today.

Attorneys for Miss Johnson endeavored to establish that Dr. Miller, one-time owner of the Omaha Herald, had been of unsound mind at the time he devised a trust to handle his estate after his death. His disposition provided that the proceeds from the estate were to go for the establishment of the George L. Miller home for the prevention of cruelty to animals.

The property in question includes Seymour lake and the tract upon which the Cudahy ice plant stands. Miss Johnson was a niece of Dr. Miller and his only heir at law.

Bus Queen Spurns Proposals; Prefers to Become "Old Maid"

Miss Harriet Metz Shows Father Her "First Pay Check."

Omaha has a "poor little rich girl" all its own.

When Miss Harriet Metz, daughter of Fred Metz and divorced wife of William Schnorr, showed her father a check for $42.50 with the remark, "I earned it," he raised his eyebrows in surprise.

He questioned her, and is said to have voiced strong objections to her desire to assume the role of a working girl.

The daughter of one of the most wealthy families in Omaha then is said to have poured forth a torrent of pleas, interspersed with cries of "bored with this sort of life," "tired of it all" and "want to do something worth while."

And then she confessed to her father that she had signed up to sing in the choir at Temple Israel and the check she had shown him was her first "pay check."

It was the first money she had ever earned, it is said.

Her father finally gave his consent to her efforts.

Wife Uses Hammer on Eye; Neighbors Think He's Shot

Robert Evans, 2015 Charles street, called at the police station last night and exhibited a badly cut and swollen eye, which he said his wife gave him by striking him with a hammer.

The police surgeon dressed the injury and he was sent home.

Just before 12 came a report that there was a "shooting" at 2018 Charles street. Thither rushed the police ambulance, laden with policemen. They found a man in bed and neighbors gathered around, declaring him to be badly wounded and dying.

But the police recognized the man in bed as Robert Evans and found he had no other injuries than the hammered eye.

W. C. T. U. of Sioux City Declares Lord Birkenhead Guilty of Lack of Good Taste.

Daughter Smokes Cigaret.

The earl of Birkenhead, former lord high chancellor of the British empire, may be all right in London, but he didn't make a hit with the W. C. T. U. of Sioux City, Ia.

Neither did his daughter, the Lady Eleanor Smith.

Lord Birkenhead spoke in Sioux City last week, just before coming to Omaha to speak before the Society of the Fine Arts.

The city on the river, according to dispatches, is all wrought up over the actions of his lordship and Lady Eleanor.

The W. C. T. U. called a special meeting yesterday and passed resolutions condemning the former lord high chancellor and his daughter for "lack of good taste and manners."

Liquor in Church? It is alleged that Lord Birkenhead treated prohibition and woman suffrage with contempt in Sioux City. The report went forth that his lordship, in the basement of Grace Methodist church, where he lectured, permitted several Sioux City citizens to sample his liquor, said to be of the king's own private stock.

Lady Eleanor, as she sat in an automobile on the campus of Moritz college, puffed a cigarette. For this she was also reprimanded by the W. C. T. U., according to Mrs. W. W. Bowers, former president.

Defenders Not Wanting. Such goings on may be all right in England, but not in Sioux City, the women said in strongly worded resolutions. His lordship and his daughter should at least respect the laws of the land while they are sojourning here.

But the defenders of his lordship are not wanting. Plenty there are who shuddered as they saw Eleanor smoking.

But no one has been discovered who saw or tasted his lordship's liquor in the basement of the church or elsewhere.

F. H. Rice, a lawyer, said he was in the basement and knows Lord Birkenhead poured no drinks.

Not at the Church. Thomas Deslery, livestock man who entertained his lordship, called up the Sioux City Tribune last night and indignantly denied that any liquor was drunk in the church.

It is reported to have admitted that they consumed a quart of good stuff at the Country club, but this was not furnished by his lordship.

Copies of the resolution will be sent to Lord Birkenhead, the W. C. T. U. officials said.

Troops Sent to Quell Rebels in Philippines

By International News Service. Alarming reports from constabulary officers at Mindanao concerning the Moro uprising caused Governor General Wood this afternoon to order two companies of the Philippine constabulary to proceed immediately on the steamer Nell MacLeod, which was scheduled to sail at 6 o'clock tonight. The departure of the vessel was delayed to get the troops aboard.

The exact nature of the reports from Mindanao was not made public, but it is known that constabulary officers there feel they are unable to control the situation without outside aid.

Miss Helen Schultz.

Mason City, Ia., Oct. 20.—Winning success in her first legal tilt in which she was awarded damages from a former mayor and town marshal of Waterloo, Helen Schultz, Mason City bus queen, has set several masculine hearts aflutter over the country.

And why not? Miss Schultz is a pleasing combination of business acumen and feminine charm. A dozen missiles, quivering with the palpitation of emotional hearts in love, have been aimed at the bus queen, but against them she has set up an impregnable defense. The proposals of marriage were on her desk when she returned from Waterloo. But after she had read them she announced to the world—

"I intend to be an old maid; I will never marry."

From a 70-Year-Old. One of the letters came from a 70-year-old youth in Colorado. He admitted age, but said there were other things that made
