Kearney Will Be Host to Teachers

Over 2,000 Expected to Attend District Meeting—Col. Owsley to Speak.

Kearney, Neb., Oct. 25.—Colonel Alvin W. Owsley, commander of the American Legion, will deliver the opening address at the meeting of the fourth district of the Nebraska State Teachers' association in Kearney, October 31 and November 1 and 2. Educational experts of the first rank in reputation are listed on the general program, representing states from every part of the United States.

Varied sectional meetings will take care of every phase of the course of study, and the speakers on these sectional programs are widely known through Nebraska as ranking first in the educational field. Provision has also been made for the teachers of each county to meet with the superintendent of that county once each day.

Six counties will hold their institutes in connection with the district meeting this year, in addition to the twenty counties which are included in the district four.

Kearney is making extended plans to accommodate and entertain these teachers, the number of which is estimated at between 2,000 and 3,000. Mrs. Ruth Elliott, dean of women at the state teachers' college, is at the head of the committee on housing. The convention will use the college as headquarters, since the auditorium there is the largest in the city, having a capacity of 2,000. Classes at the college will be dismissed and the students required to attend a minimum number of sectional and general meetings.

Special Dispatch to The Omaha Bee.

North Platte, Neb., Oct. 25.—The sheriff's force, assisted by a state agent and the city police, made liquor raids on half a dozen places and arrested 18 persons, including two Chinamen. Liquor violators convicted before County Judge Streitz are given jail sentences instead of being fined.

AT THE THEATERS

THE pictorialization of Emerson Hough's famous story, "The Covered Wagon," which will be shown for the last two times at the Columbia theater, has been established itself through its presentation in Los Angeles, Houston and Chicago, as the highest achievement in the art of the picture. It is a story of the pioneer life and the great deal of humor, and many scenes of high excitement. The chief characters are impersonated on the screen by J. Warren Kerrigan, Louis Wilson, Alan Hale, Charles Ogle, Ethel Wales, Ernest Torrence, Pauline Weston, and John Fox. The musical accompaniment is by the orchestra of Hugo Rosenfeld, as played by an orchestra of 20 pieces.

A little team of vaudeville singing and dancing comedians came underlined into New York a short time ago. They were introduced as Ryan and Lee, and not much attention was paid to them until they had become the vaudeville hit of New York. They just get out there in "one and two" methods. Aside from their dancing there is nothing along unusual lines in their entire act. But they are dynamic with their bright, sparkling songs as they drive away from the stage. Harriet Lee is an excellent comedienne of rare quality. She is most distinctive and a place among the comedians of the top is awaiting her. Her Ryan is original and naive, making a team of equality in merit.

Ladies who have formed the habit of attending the daily matinees given for their benefit by the Columbia theater, shows at the Gaiety theater, will be afforded the opportunity of seeing the most delightful attraction at that theater starting tomorrow when Jacobs and his company start their tour for its annual visit. John Barry, a delightful comedian of much fame on the Columbia circuit, heads the big cast which includes Sam Raynor, Eddie Wright, Walter, Frances Marshall, Jack O'Brien, David Room, Little York and a chorus of 16. Other attractions on the same program include Little York and company in "Dance 'Em Around" and Fred Ardath in "The Boy Who Stole Nothing." Arthur Hays offers another new organ novelty, "The Feature Picture Here in 'Hello Good Times,'" enacted by an all star cast of screen celebrities.

Billy Maine, the "hoop" toughboy in "The Passing Parade," vaudeville's most brilliant attraction, will be introduced by J. Ardath in the headline. Ardath is supported by Sammy Weston, Muriel Day, and a chorus of 16. The feature picture is "Hello Good Times," enacted by an all star cast of screen celebrities.

some ideas of his own on how to meet running expenses on the farm. "If every farmer would have from six to a dozen good milk cows, some chickens and high grade hogs, he would be able to take care of the ordinary running expenses of his place," declared Mr. Minick.

"The condition of the farmer has not, in my opinion been overdrawn, but the fact remains that he is no worse off than many industries. We have tried out the idea of getting dairy cows on farms in the western part of the state, and I am sure that the same good results could be gained by the application of the plan in the east."

Mr. Minick believes that better results could be obtained if the farmers in the state were united more closely into associations.

John M. Flannigan Says Montana Prospering

John M. Flannigan who is here from Helena, Mont., where he is now attached to the War Finance corporation of that state, brings good reports as to the general western situation. What is most needed in that state in the farming section is diversified farming, and it offers a fine opportunity to the younger dairymen of Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Life

Life plays queer tricks on most of us. To some who deserve little, it gives all. To others who merit everything, it gives nothing. To some, life is a jest; to some, a solemn business; to some, a gentle comedy; to some, an unending tragedy; to others, nothing. Irvin S. Cobb, Robert Hichens, Coningsby Dawson, Fanny Heaslip Lea and others make you see all of this—and your life, too—in a new light in November Good Housekeeping.

Have you a right to take your own life?

There comes a time when a man says that life has cheated him, that life has withheld what it had every reason to give. In those dragging days of desperation, there sometimes seems only one way out—to meet death more than half way. Is such a course ever right? What are the emotions of a man contemplating suicide? In "A Letter to a Relative," Irvin Cobb has written his greatest story. Complete in November Good Housekeeping.

A woman's life

What do women demand most from life? What does a woman get out of a successful career? One of the most famous women in America—in the world—has reached the height of her fame and now she wonders. Who she is we have promised not to say. But she wonders what a woman's life should be. And she confesses her own mistake. This anonymous revelation complete in November Good Housekeeping.

Beginning life over again

What chance has a man for happiness after he has been accused of a crime? Life may bring him many things, but can it bring the joy of inconspicuousness in a crowd? Start Robert Hichens' great story "After the Verdict" in November Good Housekeeping—a story of the powerful inner voice which often drives a man to reveal what he has concealed, and to be sincere in spite of himself.
