Chamber Hears Dairying Plans

Program in Scotts Bluff and Cheyenne Counties Explained to Committee

Dairying was the topic considered at the noonday luncheon of the agricultural committee of the chamber of commerce, Friday. After various committee reports had been submitted, W. M. Maupin of The Omaha Bee and Martin Dimery, banker of Sidney, spoke on different phases of the plans now being made to develop the dairy industry in Nebraska.

Mr. Maupin outlined briefly the plan of organization now being perfected in Scotts Bluff county, which is to finance the dairy business by means of a revolving fund that will assist worthy applicants in purchasing dairy cows, and also provide expert advice in handling them and marketing the product. He reported that the interest in the movement was such as to promise worth while results in a comparatively short time, and explained why Scotts Bluff county is an ideal dairying section.

Mr. Dimery aroused enthusiasm when he explained how the Better Cheyenne county organization was rapidly developing diversified production in that county, not the least of the development being along dairying lines. He cited several instances of prosperity due to raising less wheat and more corn, coupled with the making of more good cows.

Co-operation with local organizations formed to develop dairying was designed the best plan to pursue at this time, and the committee is engaged in formulating plans to that end.

Firemen Want Bigger Fund for Insurance

Columbus, Neb., Oct. 26.—Following a call from H. A. Gray, Seward, chairman of the constitution and by-laws committee of the Nebraska State Volunteer Firemen's association, the committee members met in Columbus to discuss the adoption of a plan to change the mutual aid department's insurance features.

All of the volunteer firemen in the membership roll of the state association who have entered voluntary fire fighting service before they attain the age of 40, enable the heirs of their estate, in event of their death from injuries while fighting a fire, to obtain a $500 indemnity. This is also paid on the natural death of a member under a long period of service. The fund to make these payments is obtained by assessing each member of the organization $1 a year. The firemen have found that a larger reserve fund must be created to meet the growing demands from natural death claims of many of the men grown old in the service. When the plans are ready they will be submitted at the next state firemen's convention to be held in Beatrice next January.

Among those participating in the meeting with the committee here were H. A. Webber, Kearney, state secretary; L. M. Halg, Minden, attorney for the state association; Mike Saunders, Omaha, and William McCune, Norfolk.

Farmer Killed When Motor Car Scares Horses

Wagon Crushes Anton Bergelt After He Is Dragged 400 Feet by Runaway Team.

Anton Bergelt, 65, farmer living four miles northwest of Florence, was killed yesterday afternoon at a bridge over the Minneapolis & Omaha railroad tracks on which he was working. Sheriff Endres sent two motorcycle deputies to the scene and they obtained from witnesses the number of the license of the automobile, which did not stop.

George Best, 4120 North Twenty-sixth avenue, who came along on a truck just after the accident, obtained a doctor.
