

Polish Army Head Comes to Omaha for Two-Day Visit

Gen. Josef Haller and Party to Arrive From Minneapolis This Morning.

Gen. Josef Haller, commander-in-chief of the Polish army, is scheduled to visit Omaha today and Monday, his train being due early this morning from Minneapolis.

He is accompanied by his adjutants, Capt. Josef Sierocinski and Lieut. John Roskosz; also the following: Lieut. Col. Brzigg, U. S. A.; Col. Van Henssler King, American Legion military aide; Lieut. Col. Bauman Elder, chairman of the committee of the American Legion; Capt. L. Z. Adams; and Lieut. R. Hanzasz, of the Polish army; Lieut. S. H. Reaney, railroad representative, and Capt. S. Nasal, executive officer in charge of the tour.

The general is on leave in this country and is visiting 12 cities en route from the American Legion convention at San Francisco, where he was the principal speaker.

Today's program follows. It includes a special mass this morning in St. Francis church, 4513 South Thirty-second street, Rev. Michael Gluba, pastor; luncheon at Polish hall, South Side; tour of the South Side this afternoon; Frances Nash concert at 4 p. m.; dinner at 6 at Hotel Fontenelle; mass meeting at 7:30 in South Side high school.

The following program has been arranged for Monday:

Public affairs committee luncheon in Chamber of Commerce, where Dr. Ralph Lukart will preside; tour of Omaha in the afternoon; informal dinner and reception at Hotel Fontenelle, with Goulet Dietz in charge.

Among those who arranged to meet the general and his party at Union depot this morning are Gen. George B. Duncan and staff, Michael Kalamaja, chairman of the local branch of the Polish Army Veterans' association, and L. L. Kinsey, chairman of the American Legion local committee.

General Haller was commander-in-chief of the Polish army during the world war, and recently resigned his membership in parliament from the district of Warsaw to re-enter active military service.

Anonymous Letter Threatens Omahan

Another anonymous letter threatening his wife has been received by V. S. Wilson, Nebraska man, now living in Omaha, who was forced to sell his paper in a little Oklahoma town at ruinous loss, and leave, because of activities which he attributes to the Ku Klux Klan.

Following publication of his story in The Omaha Bee, he has received several such letters from various parts of the country.

This last letter, written on Hotel Sanford stationery and dated October 25, follows:

"I have just had my attention called to an article published recently in one of the Omaha papers about you and what you said regarding the Ku Klux Klan in Oklahoma. I am a Catholic and you are a Catholic and you d-d Catholics may think you can run this country but you will see you are badly mistaken, and I want to warn you that you are spotted, and the first time you see that name you are a p-ner.

"I think it should be the Knights of C- that should be run out of the country, for you well know that the Ku Klux Klan is under strict state supervision, and you had to leave Oklahoma, as it was the dirty stuff you were peddling in your dirty sheet.

"I am hot on your trail and you had better look out for the range. I was one time a d-d Catholic and why God will punish such a bunch of themselves church people, I can't understand. There is nothing to it and you know it. He member you are marked, and that Smith you are staying with, Beware, Beware! You are a Catholic that belongs to the K. K. K."

Lafayette, He Is There.

Paris, Oct. 27.—General Pershing arrived here this evening, motoring here from Cherbourg where he landed from the Leviathan. He refused to see the newspaper correspondents or even to accept their cards, declaring that he is traveling strictly incognito and desires to be left alone.

'Baby' Stock Show at State College of Agriculture

Prize-Winning Shorthorns to Be on Display at Lincoln Next Saturday Night.

A class of yearling shorthorns, winners of their division at the Denver Livestock show last January, will be shown at the annual Baby International Livestock show given by the students of the agricultural college of the University of Nebraska next Saturday evening.

The Block and Bridge club, an organization of students in the agriculture college, is in charge of the sixth annual affair, which is second only to the Farmers' fair in importance on the "Ag" calendar. The show is called the Baby International, since it is a reproduction of the world-famed show in Chicago.

The purpose of the show is to train students to fit stock for show purposes, since the most effective manner of advertising stock is by exhibition. The public is invited to the show, and the committee in charge expects a large out-state representation. The stock on display will be among the best owned by any college in the country.

Col. K. C. Fouts has been chosen as chief judge. Fouts is a graduate of the Nebraska Agricultural institution and is rated as one of the best stock judges in the state. The committee in charge of the show is composed entirely of students and the exhibit will be managed by the following: Bud Stenger, Columbus; Buss Daniels, Bancroft; Wilber Shalnoltz, South Omaha; Clyde Walker, Waverly; Gaylord Hatton, Lincoln; H. G. Glass, Cozad; Hugh McLaughlin, Dornphian; Lee King, Central City; Dean Higgins, Stella; and Hobb Turner, Omaha.

Bank Deposit of $1,000 in Defunct Bank Forgotten

Consider the predicament of Miss Clara Kramer, 1408 South Seventeenth street, who "forgot" about $1,000 deposited in the defunct American State bank, until after the receivership was closed.

Now, unless she wants to start a lawsuit to get her money, she must have the receivership reopened, in order that her certificate may be exchanged for cash. As things stand now, the former receiver has no power to liquidate the instrument.

Republican Voters Asked to Suggest State Platform

Women to Have Part in Primary Arrangements, Conference at Lincoln Decides.

Lincoln, Oct. 27.—Need of a constructive program to put before the voters of Nebraska was the keynote of the discussion at a meeting of republican state committeemen held here this afternoon. In order to formulate that program committeemen who were not present and county secretaries will be asked to send in their views to the secretary of the state committee.

It is hoped that they can be coordinated and that the nucleus of a definite platform can be prepared prior to the state convention. That the women of the state may have a voice in the program, Mrs. Blanche Williams of Ainsworth, was appointed chairman of a committee of three to present to the state advisory committee the views of Nebraska women voters.

A motion was put by Robert Smith of Omaha, that the chairman of the county delegations meet with other chairmen in the same congressional district with the idea of selecting a delegate who could outline a platform that would conform with the views of the district. The motion failed, when it was demonstrated to

New Army Officers Assigned to Seventh Corps

Col. Alvin K. Baskette has been assigned to the Seventh Corps area army headquarters as corps area quartermaster.

Maj. E. A. Lathrop, infantry, has been assigned to the non-divisional group of organized reserves at Omaha.

Capt. Burritt H. Hinman has been assigned as assistant to the corps area judge advocate.

Lieut. Clifford Smith has been assigned as assistant to the corps area quartermaster.

John L. Kennedy Hopes to See 500,000 in Omaha Soon

John L. Kennedy addressed the first meeting of the insurance division of the Omaha Chamber of Commerce. "I want to see Omaha a model city with a population of 500,000," he said. F. N. Croxson, chairman of the membership committee, drafted the entire division to help him obtain 1,000 new members.

2 Boys to Riverview; Two Are Exonerated

Jack Brall, 15, 3523 Parker street, and Robert Detweiler, 16, 3524 Dodge street, were committed to Riverview home for an indefinite period by District Judge L. B. Day in juvenile court Saturday.

Prall, a high school student, admitted stealing 18 automobiles since the beginning of school, for joyriding purposes, according to police.

Two other boys arrested in connection with the thefts, William Anderson, 17, 5310 North Twenty-seventh avenue, and Delmore Hill, 17, 2303 North Twenty-fourth street, were exonerated by the court.

They told the judge they had taken only two rides with Prall and that on neither occasion did they know the car was stolen.

William Anderson testified that Prall picked him up once when he was "hooking" a ride to Sioux City to attend a football game. He did not learn the car was stolen until afterward. Another time, he said, he left a car Prall was driving and boarded a street car, when he learned the machine was stolen.

Home Missionary Society Meet at Grace Methodist

The Women's Home Missionary society of Grace Methodist church will meet at the home of Mrs. E. N. Munson, 3634 South Twenty-fourth street, next Thursday.

A luncheon will be served. Mrs. C. W. Martin, hostess, will be assisted by Mesdames Sonis Cohn, J. E. Jones and Watkins. Mrs. E. R. Selig will be program leader and Mrs. J. F. McGovern will sing.

TOMORROW At Thompson-Belden's

37 Years Ago at "Thompson-Belden's"

"Mr. Belden," I began, "how do the shopping advantages enjoyed by women of today compare with those of 37 years ago?" This was my lead for the interview the president of Thompson-Belden Company had promised me about the yesterdays and the tomorrow of the things Omahan women buy from us. "Far better, today!" came his answer like a flash. Surely the spirit of a man past three score years and ten has bathed in the Fountain of Youth who still sees the luster of today as surpassing the glories of the yester years. Then we chatted a bit about the quaint changes in women's wear that Mr. Belden has been privileged to observe since the founding of this store.

The Silks Stood Up for Themselves

"As you recall it, what was the most fashionable silk 37 years ago," I asked Mr. Belden. "Grains were the great thing in those days," he informed me, "and a dress of the best quality would almost stand alone." Contrast that with the soft, drapery crepes of today! "Taffetas," he continued, "were 19 inches wide and 22 yards was the average dress pattern. I can well remember the first silk I sold. It was an event to sell a silk dress in those days. A gentleman from Tekamah bought it to take home to his wife" (Another yesterday!) But tomorrow in our Silk Section scores of dress patterns will be sold from the 40-inch, all-silk crepe de chine priced for the Anniversary at $1.37 a yard.

The Same Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow

"Two of the best Anniversary bargains in the Notions are quaint contrasts of change and the unchanging. The J. & P. Coats best six-cord cotton thread that you can buy this week at 9 spools for 37c is the same brand we sold over the counter in our first store at 1319 Farnam St. But Sonia hair nets that will be one of our biggest sellers at 37c a dozen for the single or double mesh, were then or double mesh, were then unknown. The few hair nets worn were made of heavy, twisted silk. The invisible net made of human hair, without which few women feel properly dressed today, was undreamed of."

The Belles of '86

"What was the smartest thing in gloves when Thompson-Belden's first assumed the fashion leadership of Omaha," I next wanted to know. "Well, we used to sell a great many pretty silk mitts, and really no lady was elegantly dressed without them. Cash silk just see them—those belles of '86?" "But we sold even a greater number of lisle gloves—then a sort of Cinderella among gloves that evolved into the beautiful fabric styles of today. Nothing was known of such beauty of fit and finish as you will find in the embroidered fabric gauntlets you can buy tomorrow at 88c a pair.

Nothing Like It

"In the Underwear Section," I continued, "did you have anything to compare with the exquisite crepe de chine nightgowns on sale tomorrow at $4.95?" "Nothing, my child," he replied, casting a glance to the high heavens. "Why the undergarments of the working girl of today are finer than those of a millionaire's wife of 37 years ago." Thus, with economic independence, the working girl signs her own emancipation proclamation.

Being Thick With Presidents

Interviewing presidents may be a bit awesome in some stores, but here it is one of the nicest things that can happen. It may happen to you some day if you shop here often. For I have noticed Mr. Belden is a great fellow to be chatting with folks about the store and it makes one of the pleasantest and sunniest moments in a long, busy day.
