

Three Hurt When Auto Hits Buggy

Young Woman School Teacher Severely Bruised—Car Running Without Lights.

Wymore, Neb., Oct. 30.—Three persons, all residents of Odell, just southwest of here, were badly shaken up and more or less injured in a span of mules dangerously injured and a buggy smashed up, when an automobile driven by Roy Wilson collided with the mules and buggy driven by Howard Raney on a small bridge over a gully on the highway about six miles west of Wymore. In the car with Wilson were Mrs. H. McGinley, her two daughters, Frances and Emma, and two smaller children of the McGinley family.

Howard was alone in the buggy driving north and met the auto on the bridge as it was returning to Odell from Fairbury. The lights failed on the auto before reaching the bridge and the driver could not see the rig. Miss Frances McGinley, who has been teaching school in the western part of the state, is the most seriously injured, having received a hard blow in the face by the neck yoke or some heavy object. Her lips were cut and five teeth were knocked loose and her face bruised. Wilson and the other occupants escaped with lesser bruises.

The radiator, lights and fenders of the auto were smashed. The mules were badly cut and skinned. They broke loose and ran away after the crash, and it was some time before they could be rounded up in the dark.

Purchaser of Lot Finds Small Fortune in Sand

Wymore, Neb., Oct. 30.—When Joshua Hicks, Wymore city electrician, bought a cheap block of ground in the outskirts of town recently on which to build a home for his family, he did not expect a bonanza, and was not looking beyond the comforts of a home. There is a gully, the bed of an old creek, across the block. In digging a cave Hicks struck a fine quality of building sand. There have been hundreds of loads of sand sold from a corner of the ground thus far, and the purchase price is already said to have been returned to the owner, with good prospects of a fair daily remuneration continuing as long as the present demand for sand holds up.

Hunters Marooned in River When Boat Floats Away

Nebraska City, Neb., Oct. 30.—Three Nebraska City hunters, Harry Newman, Frank Griffin and Cecil Poling, were marooned on an island in the center of the Missouri river when their boat, which had been left

Four Thousand Teachers Here Today; Prof. Pate of Peru Normal to Speak

"The Enchanted Year" Will Be Presented on Teachers' Meet Program.

More than 100,000 school children will be represented by the 4,000 school teachers who are expected to attend the Omaha convention of the Nebraska State Teachers' association, which opens Wednesday. The greatest array of educational talent ever assembled in Omaha has been engaged for the various sectional and general sessions.

W. R. Pate, president of the association, will be one of the principal speakers. He is strictly a Nebraska man.

After receiving his preliminary education in Nebraska schools he was graduated from the University of Nebraska and for the last 25 years has been identified with various state schools. He is president of Peru Normal.

In his address at one of the general sessions of the convention President Pate will outline the activities of the association for the last 25 years, what it hopes to accomplish in the coming year.

Omaha's public schools, except Technical High school, will close Thursday and Friday to allow the teachers to attend the convention.

Pupils from all four of Omaha's high schools will cooperate in staging a pageant, "The Enchanted Year," at the Municipal auditorium Friday evening, November 2, in connection with the annual convention of the Nebraska State Teachers' association. Spring magic, midsummer eve, autumn and the festival of the King of Winter will be depicted by students from Benson, Central, South and Technical High schools.

Special attention has been devoted to making the scenic effects both realistic and convincing. The miracle of budding life of the spring is followed by scenes in which flowers and butterflies form an authentic background for the joy and romance of the "good old summer time." Autumn is pictured as the season of harvesting and of plenty. In the winter scene the overworked snow king is lured from the security of the cozy fire by the hearthside, but is rewarded by being introduced to a beautiful snow maid and her band of starry snowflakes.

The pageant is being arranged and will be directed by Miss Marion Reed, supervisor of art of the Omaha public schools. "Producers" are members of the Omaha Chamber of Commerce, acting through the publicity bureau, in charge of Montague Tancock and Jack Lee.

Pictures of the Party

Making pertinent suggestions forms part of our idea of service. For example, flashlight pictures of the Hallowe'en party—you can make them, easily, with your Kodak. It just means a few minutes of photographic fun.

And telling you how is an important factor in our service. Try it out. Ask us about flashlight photography.

Dog on Woman Driver's Lap Causes Machine to Upset; Two Hurt

Nebraska City, Neb., Oct. 30.—A coupe occupied by two young women on their way to Atlantic, Ia., from Topeka, Kan., turned over on the highway 12 miles south of this city and both were badly cut and bruised. They were brought to a local hospital. The car was badly wrecked. The driver of the car explained the accident by saying that when a small dog she had in her lap attempted to jump through the window of the car and she tried to prevent him and thus lost control of the car.

Winter Falls on Klondike.

Dawson, Y. T., Oct. 30.—(By the Canadian Press.)—Winter's spell has started to fall over the Klondike, nearly a month late. The Yukon river is filling with shifting ice. Its tributaries are mostly frozen over, including the Porcupine, the Pelly and the Big Salmon rivers.

Luther Burbank Adds More Kernels to Corn

Santa Rosa, Cal., Oct. 30.—Luther Burbank, plant wizard, announced today that his "golden jubilee" year of "improving-on nature" would be one of the most fruitful in the production of new fruits, flowers, vegetables and cereals he has ever experienced.

He has succeeded in enlarging the kernels and adding new rows of kernels to a prize variety of corn through one of his thousands of experiments. Two new varieties of quinces said to surpass anything previously produced in that line of fruit have been perfected during the year.

In the flower kingdom two new types of gladiolus excite the admiration of visitors to his experimental gardens.

Wild Ducks Are Scarce Along Elkhorn River

West Point, Neb., Oct. 30.—Hunters around here have become discouraged. They are willing to admit that the ducks are flying else where than along the Elkhorn river. Perhaps the Platte is more fortunate. At any rate the duck hunting is very poor so far this year. Hundreds of hunters have skirted all of the lakes and have traveled along the river with but scant success.
