

Recognition Is Given to Women of Philippines

Woman's Club Hears Address by Native Who Is Taking Post-Graduate Course in Omaha Hospital.

"The Filipino woman occupies one of the highest places, if not the highest, among the women of the world," declared Miss Nena Sobrepna of the Philippine Islands, who spoke before the current topics department of the Omaha Woman's club Tuesday afternoon following the luncheon given by the department in honor of Mrs. Charles Johannes, past president of the Woman's club. "She shares with her husband the rights and duties of the home and if her husband happens to be the chief of the tribe she succeeds him in case of death," she said. "Besides, she owns half of their joint property, while the women of the western world had to initiate a movement to acquire a right to their property by inheritance. Although the islands have had divorce laws in the last four or five years, Miss Sobrepna has never heard of a divorce among her people. "We believe that husband and wife are united by God and that they should help each other and live together through thick and thin," she said. "The one thing that makes the Filipino woman unique is that she is the only woman in the world who is the banker of the family. The husband turns over his earnings to her and if short, she demands from him a good and satisfactory explanation. If he wants money, he has to ask his wife for it and tell her what he does with it. The wife, too, to make her worthy of handling the family finance, uses the money by investing it in large and small investments, according to the amount entrusted to her.

Although she enjoys all these rights and privileges, she has not yet permitted herself and her home to drift apart." The oldest university of the Philippines was built in 1811 and in 25 years older than Harvard, the oldest university in this country, she pointed out. Under the Spanish rule, an educated Filipino woman need only to read and write, to know arithmetic up to simple fraction, interest and proportion, to memorize the code of good manners and right conduct, to play musical instruments and to be able to do fancy work. The only profession open to her was teaching but now she has invaded all the fields of learning, and teaching is no longer a privilege. Miss Sobrepna is a graduate of the nurses school of St. Luke hospital, Manila. She will enter the Methodist hospital next Monday for a post-graduate course, specializing in the care of women and children. Preceding Miss Sobrepna's talk, greetings were given by Mrs. Johannes, Mrs. Philip Potter, president of the club; Mrs. Mary I. Creigh, past department leader, who made her first appearance at the club today after an absence of nearly a year. Mrs. Creigh was run down by an automobile and seriously injured last winter while on her way to a club meeting. Greetings were also given by Mrs. E. E. Stanfield, assistant department leader under Mrs. Creigh, and the present leader, Mrs. J. M. Welshans.

COFFEE

-the universal drink

The Mechanic Says:

"We used to bring Coffee to work in a thermos bottle. That's a great idea. Now the boss serves it right here in the plant. That's better yet. Maybe those fellows across the street aren't envious when they see us line up for our cup of Coffee. They've asked their superintendent to do the same thing."

Six Rules For Making Better Coffee

- 1—Keep your Coffee fresh
- 2—Measure carefully
- 3—Use grounds only once
- 4—Boil the water
- 5—Serve at once
- 6—Scour the Coffee-pot

The planters of Sao Paulo, Brazil, who produce more than half of all the Coffee used in the United States, are conducting this educational work in co-operation with the leading Coffee merchants of the United States.

Every new idea, every invention, was misunderstood and condemned at first

WHEN steam trains were introduced in France people wouldn't use them. They were afraid. A company of actors was hired to ride in the cars and to laugh and appear unconcerned as the train passed through the country. It is only within the last few years that folks have begun to appreciate the benefits and advantages of INVESTING their savings. But there are still thousands of men and women who are standing by, passively accepting less than their rightful share of life's pleasures and prosperity because they are not getting the money their savings could earn if they were invested. For instance: if a year ago you had invested only $985.00 in Nebraska Power Company PREFERRED STOCK it would have earned $70.00 for you during the year. The $70.00 would have been paid to you in four equal payments by the Nebraska Power Company. These payments are called "dividends".
