If Oxen Did It.
Dupont's Prediction.
Crying Her Eyes Out.
Army Happy — King Safe.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

In a wild west exhibition a dozen cows are turned into the arena: "wild cows" they are called. Cowboys with lassoes and empty beer bottles are turned loose with the cows. They lasso them, throw them down, sit on them, and the cowboy that first manages to fill his beer bottle with milk, no matter how, as the cow pants and struggles, receives a special reward.

To many civilized beings that seems all right.

What should we say about a collection of oxen if they gave a similar exhibition, only turning nursing human mothers into the arena instead of cows. We might criticize them severely for lack of delicate feeling.

Mr. I. Dupont, president of the great Dupont company and a trained scientist, predicts among future possibilities these:

Synthetic food, prepared by chemists, taking the place of eggs, butter, milk, beef, etc.

Artificial wool, which would make sheep unnecessary for their fleeces, after doing away with the necessity for mutton.

Complete conquest of disease, which would mean saving untold billions every year.

Storing up the heat of the sun, which would give free or very cheap light and power.

Light without any heat. The lightning bugs understand that now, we don't.

Great reduction in hours of sleep, adding four hours a day, 20 years on the average, to a man's working life.

An interesting program, but as every scientist will tell you, it does not begin to enumerate the possibilities.

Bessie Rogers gets a divorce because she has "been crying her eyes out," about her husband. And she is only 23.

When Napoleon III was emperor, some mysterious person repeatedly fastened to the tall column with Napoleon's statue on it, in the Place Vendome, verses which meant "if all the blood that thou hast spilled could be gathered in this square, thou wouldst drink it without bending down."

That hurt the feelings of Napoleon III, proud of his great reputation, but it was true.

If you could gather together all the tears that women have shed, "crying their eyes out about their husbands," as Mrs. Bessie Rogers did, they would flood the whole of Omaha and overflow into the river.

Mussolini increases the pay of soldiers so that they are as well paid as civilian workers. That's an echo of old Rome. They took good care of soldiers in those ancient days that Mussolini admires and would bring back.

A contented army means a safer, dictator.

The old plan was to give land to the old soldiers and whatever they take to the young ones. Good pay probably will do as well.

There are many kinds of wealth in the United States—cotton, wheat, corn, gold, silver, iron, copper.

But the greatest crop of all is the crop of American girls for what America is to be depends upon what they are.

The best possible crop news is found in the statistics of Vassar college. The college girl of today is nearly two inches taller than her sister of 1884. The modern girl weighs more, has a larger waist measurement, and greater lung capacity.

These statements mean stronger mothers, better babies, and therefore a greater country.

Most important is the waist measurement, which has increased from an average of 22, to an average of 25 inches in young girls. Thirty inches would be better, strong muscles around the waist instead of a strong iron corset is what women want. Look at the Venus of Milo and you see the perfect type.

A woman medium, quite sure that she could call spirits from the vastly deep and make them talk, is ordered by her husband not to make the tests before scientists.

He says the conditions would not be "psychic." Those conditions were to demonstrate wireless telegraphy, the reality of messages by radio, chemical reactions or anything else, that actually happens.

Why scientists, so-called, should dignify spooks and ghosts by suggesting foolish scientific "tests" is not easily understood.

As well offer a reward to anybody that will prove the truth of the story of "Jack the Giant Killer."

Liquor Cache Found.
New York, Nov. 9.—A customs inspector today uncovered a secret cache containing 200 cases of French liquors with a bootleg value of $20,000 on tug Capitol Number 1, captured Tuesday. The customs men found 2,000 cases of liquors, valued at $200,000 Tuesday.

Alfred Thomas Funeral.
Funeral services for Alfred Thomas, real estate man who died Wednesday morning at his home, 415 Dodge street, were held this afternoon at the Burkett chapel. Rev. Edwin Hart Jenks of the First Presbyterian church read the service. Burial was in Forest Lawn cemetery.

Collision Reported.
Earl Brown, 121 Sturman street, Council Bluffs, reported to police Thursday night a collision between his car and another machine, piloted by an unidentified motorist at Fifteenth street and Broadway. The driver of the other car did not stop, he said.

Youth, 17, Falls in Love; Passes Checks for $15,000

By International News Service.

San Francisco, Nov. 9.—Walter Richardson, 17, asserted son of S. L. Richardson, wealthy resident of Atlanta, Ga., decided today that the joke was on him. He told police that he registered at a fashionable San Francisco hotel as John Candler, son of the Coco Cola king, as a joke, and thought it was also a good "spoof" on the Candlers, long friends of his family, when he wrote checks aggregating $15,000, which have been returned.

"There sure is a lot in a name," young Richardson said today.

"Automobile salesman, real estate brokers and everybody seemed anxious to sell me things as soon as I had registered as Candler. They took my checks without question. They are really to blame for rushing me so."

According to Richardson's story to the police and inquiry of detectives assigned to case, the boy was given $1,500 to make a trip to the coast. En route he fell in love with Miss Hortense Cowin, young Chicago girl, who was also en route to San Francisco to visit relatives. She did not take him seriously despite his "Rolls-Royce" tone and to impress her he bought three automobiles, the police said.

Miss Cowin refused his gifts, she said, and for several days had declined to see him. The youth claims relationship with Lumford Richardson, big southern drug manufacturer. Word of his plight has been sent to his parents and he confidently expected aid today from his father.

Junior Leaguer Asks Separation

Wife Surprises Spouse in Wild Drunken Orgy, She Tells Judge.

Mrs. Helen Burnham, jr., told in domestic relations court Friday morning how she was summoned from her parents' home in Lincoln one day last spring and returned to Omaha to find her husband, Henry Burnham, conducting a wild drinking party in their home, 1001 North Fifteenth street.

Mrs. Guy Klidoo testified that she notified Mrs. Burnham of the party.

I. G. Chapin, 1500 F street, Lincoln, a banker, Mrs. Burnham's father, testified that, in his opinion, his son-in-law is an habitual drunkard. Mrs. Chapin testified to the same effect.

Mrs. Burnham, who is a member of the Junior League and prominent socially, told how her health has been broken by her husband's treatment. He went to California, she said, and left no provision for the support of herself and their two babies. She thinks he is in Los Angeles. Her father said he is providing a home for her in Lincoln.

Plan to Have Own Wheat Body
Lincoln, Nov. 9.—C. V. Gregory of Chicago, who is here as a witness in the libel suit of W. G. Eckhardt against Prof. H. C. Filley, Thursday told of plans of former Governor Lowden's wheat organization committee.

Mr. Gregory is a member of the committee. He said the decision reached by that body was to organize the wheat growers by states and that the states of Nebraska and Indiana would be the first into which representatives of the organization will be sent to get individual contracts with growers. Mr. Gregory explained the plan is that each state shall have its own organization and that the national exchange will merely act as its selling agent.

Hunter Gets Red Fox.
W. J. Pope, Jasper Kirk and William Smith, who returned to South Omaha this week from a hunting trip to Cedar Creek, Neb., brought back as a trophy the pelt of a red fox.

Elder-McCaffrey Nuptials Announced Last Sunday Called Off on Thursday

It's all off, like a pair of shoes on a classic dancer.

The engagement, that is, of Miss Elsie Elder, Angeles apartments, and J. J. McCaffrey, prominent Omaha lumber man, which was announced a week ago.

Miss Elder announced yesterday that the engagement was broken. She didn't say when. She didn't say why.

Mr. McCaffrey said he didn't want to talk to anyone about anything.

The couple was to have been married January 1 at St. Peter's church, Miss Elder notified the Omaha Sunday Bee last Saturday.

Picture Magnate Here.

Piracy Rampant in Canton, China

City Scene of Chaos—Sun's Forces Surrounded at Sheklung.

By Associated Press.

Canton, Nov. 9.—A crisis in the conflict between northern and southern Chinese troops in Kwangtung province has been reported, apparently. Canton is under martial law and the troops of Sun Yat-Sen, south China leader, have been surrounded by the forces of General Chen Chung-Ming at Sheklung.

As a result of the chaos which has prevailed in Canton all traffic has been ordered suspended after 7 o'clock each night. Piracy and looting are rampant. Hotels and private residences are being searched for supporters of Chen Chi Young-Ming who are promptly shot when found. Many officials are leaving the city.

Foreigners are expressing indignation at the execution of General Fung Bo-Cho, who was taken prisoner by Sun's troops at Wuchow last August after he had been placed in charge of the city by agreement of northern and southern troops. General Fung was executed in a Canton street and his body was seen later by Dr. W. W. Leavell, an American Baptist missionary.

Citizens of Canton and coolies are being commandeered at the rate of several hundred a day by the military forces.

Sun is reported to be in desperate need of funds.

School to Give "Enchanted Year"

Public school officials have decided to present the pageant, "The Enchanted Year," at the Auditorium next Tuesday afternoon and evening. The afternoon performance will be for school children and in the evening the public will be admitted for a nominal charge.

This beautiful spectacle is presented by 1,000 boys and girls of the four public high schools. It was written and arranged by Marion Reed, supervisor of art in the public schools, and it was produced for the benefit of the visiting school teachers last week.

The artistic light effects are under the direction of H. E. Bennett, instructor at Omaha Technical High school. Mr. Bennett has had experience in practical stage lighting effects.

Learn Where and How to Buy Diamonds Right

Buying a diamond is an important matter. All dealers do not sell them at the same price, not even of the same quality. Many dealers get a long price for an inferior grade. They make up the difference in sweet talk and "bunc" which does not add anything to the intrinsic value of the diamond—and the diamond, not bunc, is the only thing of value to you. HARRIS-GOAR COMPANY IMPORT THEIR DIAMONDS—THE GRADES ARE BETTER AND THE PRICES 25 TO 35 PER CENT LOWER. This is all very simple. Not more than 5 per cent of the dealers in this country do their own importing—they buy of the wholesaler or importer and that means TWO MORE PROFITS YOU HAVE TO PAY. MORAL—COME TO DIAMOND HEADQUARTERS IN THIS CITY AND BUY YOUR DIAMOND RIGHT AND ON EASY TERMS.
