

Peru Trims Wayne

Normal, 40 to 0

Bobcats' Backfield Too Much for Wayne Line—Bitzke's Playing Is Feature.

The Peru Bobcats scored the hardest victory of the year when they downed Coach Dale's Wayne Wildcats by a score of 40 to 0. They made the greatest comeback of the season. After Wayne had outplayed them the first quarter and led 3 to 0, the Bobcats tore loose with a powerful attack. They ripped holes in the line, sped round the ends, and pulled down sensational passes. It was a great game to watch with Wayne fighting every inch of the field.

Wayne started off well. Because of Scribner's puntline, he managed the Peru team well and had things his way after Rennie, the heady Wayne quarter, was injured. Edie's end runs, one for 80 yards and a touchdown, Bell's off-tackle runs, and Buisling's line smashing were the features of Peru's backfield play.

Peru took the ball in the first quarter, Wayne kept the ball in Peru territory, Bitzke punted once from the one-yard line, Peru took the ball down the field and Bitzke dropped through the uprights. Late in the period Nilles droppedkick 23 yards.

In the second period with the Peru line making great holes, the backfield carried the ball the length of the field. Bitzke plunked over and kicked goal. Peru received the ball after Wayne was held for almost a full minute. Fray stepped out on the one-foot line. Bitzke sneaked through a 30-yard forward pass from Bitzke to Gilkeson. It was of the moving picture variety. Gilkeson raced 30 yards for a touchdown. Bitzke's kick fell short.

Early in the second half Wayne blocked Bitzke's dropkick. Larsen grabbed the ball and with McCoy for interference ran 85 yards for a touch down. Gilkeson blocked the point for goal. Peru received the kickoff. On the first play Edie ran round end for 80 yards and a touchdown. Bitzke passed to Fray for the one point. In the same period Gilkeson grabbed another beautiful pass from Bitzke for 30 yards and a touchdown. Bitzke kicked goal.

All during the third quarter Buisling's line smashing made yardage. In the final period he smashed to the Wayne six-yard line. Edie carried it over. Wayne was offside and Peru was awarded the point. Wayne made a final stand in the last minutes of play but never was dangerous.

Olympics and All Stars Tie

Sioux City, Ia., Nov. 11.—The Sioux City All Stars and the Omaha Olympics battled to a 7-to-7 tie here this afternoon in a hard-fought football game. Walsh, former Notre Dame star, played great ball for the visitors. The last quarter was played in total darkness.

Coast Football Dope May Be Upset

San Francisco, Nov. 11.—Gridiron teams of the University of Washington and the University of California will meet at Berkeley, Cal., next Saturday in a game that may decide the Pacific coast conference title, since yesterday's games left both teams with an unbroken succession of victories this season. In a conference game at Los Angeles, California defeated the University of Southern California, 13 to 7, while Washington, playing outside the coast conference and in the Northwest conference, defeated the University of Montana, 26 to 14. However, the University of Idaho, a dusky horse in the coast race, threatens to California or Washington for the championship, though Idaho has the difficult task of encountering the strong team from Stanford University and Southern California University, respectively, the next two Saturdays, on their own ground.

Idaho does not happen to meet either Washington or California this year, but has made an impressive showing by trimming every opponent except the University of Oregon, which it held to a scoreless tie. Furthermore, Idaho hasn't been scored on all season—a record that California lost yesterday and Washington earlier. Idaho after taking in the Oregon Aggies, 7 to 0, at Boise yesterday, had amassed 157 points to their opponents' zero.

Stanford, defeated but once this season, proved it still is a dangerous contender by crushing the University of Oregon, 14 to 3, at Portland yesterday.

Missouri Valley Dope Is Upset

But Defeats and Victories Do Not Affect Team Standings.

By Associated Press. Kansas City, Nov. 11.—Nebraska's startling defeat of Notre Dame overshadowed all gridiron contests in the Missouri valley Saturday.

The "wonder team" from South Bend, Ind., victors over Army, Princeton and Georgia Tech and rated as the greatest winners at Lincoln before a Husker aggregation that heretofore this season had displayed none of the smashing power of former Nebraska eleven.

It was Notre Dame meeting its nemesis Aggie, for last year the Cornhuskers gave them their only defeat.

But the Huskers won by no fluke. The Notre Dame plungers were held by the heavy Nebraska line and their famous aerial assault proved ineffective. Notre Dame scored only seven points to 14 for the Huskers, who have been held to less this year by both Kansas and Missouri.

The Nebraska victory does not affect the Missouri valley conference standing.

The other big upset of the valley was also outside the conference, Coe college of Cedar Rapids blotting the record of Drake with a 12 to 6 defeat. It was Drake's first loss in two years. However, the Des Moines team still stands at the top of the conference list, as Saturday's defeat cannot be credited in the conference standing.

Oklahoma improved its percentage at the expense of Missouri by holding the Tigers scoreless while tallying two touchdowns and an added point.

The Kansas Aggies registered their first victory of the conference season by romping on Grinnell, 34 to 7.

Kansas had a day of practice with the tail-enders of Washington university, the score being 83 to 0.

Next Saturday Nebraska and Ames battle at Ames. The other games are: Washington and Missouri, at Columbia; Drake and Kansas, at Lawrence; Oklahoma and Texas, at Austin; Coe and Grinnell, at Grinnell; Kansas Aggie and Kansas Aggies Freshmen at Manhattan.

The conference standing:

Team	Won	Lost	Tied	Pct.
Drake	2	0	0	1.000
Nebraska	1	0	0	1.000
Kansas	1	0	0	1.000
Oklahoma	1	0	0	1.000
Grinnell	1	0	0	1.000
Missouri	1	0	0	1.000
Washington	0	4	0	.000

Notre Dame and Nebraska Will Clash on Gridiron Next Year

Lincoln, Nov. 11.—Before leaving for home early this morning with his football squad, Coach Rockne of the Notre Dame team and Head Coach Dawson of Nebraska had a conference at which it was tentatively agreed that there should be a game between the two eleven in 1924. No definite dates were reached as to the date or place.

Both coaches after the conference declared athletic relations between the two schools were excellent. Coach Rockne said he was disappointed at the outcome of the game, but he added that his men were fairly defeated and Nebraska deserved the victory. "We didn't shoot, and I guess it wasn't in us to shoot with the Cornhuskers playing as they did," said the Notre Dame mentor.

In Memoriam and Zev to Race Again

Race to Be Mile and Quarter for Purse of $30,000—Owners Agree if Track Is Fast.

Louisville, Nov. 11.—Zev and In Memoriam are to meet once again.

Matt Winn, general manager of the outstanding classic of the turf, the meeting is now tentative. Both Harry Sinclair, owner of Zev, and Carl Wiedemann, owner of In Memoriam, have agreed that the race will be run only on condition that the track is fast and in good shape.

The Kentucky Jockey club, announced Saturday night that the race was on. He said that the final agreement had been reached and that the race was to be over a course of one and one-quarter miles and for a purse valued at $25,000 to the winner and $5,000 to the loser.

The race will settle the question of which thoroughbred is the greatest in the United States this year. That is the reason for the whole affair.

Zev won easily from In Memoriam in the Kentucky derby last spring and In Memoriam won easily from Zev in the special race at Latonia recently. Zev, on the strength of his showing throughout the season, was chosen as the horse to race against Papyrus, crack English derby winner. Many felt that there was insufficient effort made by the Jockey club at that time to find the best entry America had to offer.

The racing Zev has been watched with keen interest ever since his victory in that race. The superiority of the Roncoac colt over My Own was shown at Latonia, but, if that race is to be taken as a criterion, the superiority of In Memoriam over both colts was just as evident. In the conditions of the race, fixing the distance at one and one-quarter miles, were set by Carl Wiedemann. Sinclair accepted the terms without question. The agreement further states that each owner will post $10,000 and the Jockey club will add $10,000 to bring the total to $30,000.

From Mr. Wiedemann's point of view the race should be a race or pay affair and should either owner withdraw his entry should the track conditions prove unfavorable, the $10,000 posted will be forfeited to the owner of the horse that does start.

The size of the purse and the unusual conditions of the race caused quite a little comment in racing circles. It is reported from New York that both Harry Sinclair and Sam Hildreth, his trainer, were anxious to wipe out the sting inflicted by the defeat of Zev at the twinkling heels of In Memoriam. As a result of this feeling the size of the purse is of no particular interest to Sinclair.

Five turfmen will be appointed by the Jockey club to pass on the condition of the track the day of the race. The event probably will be the sixth on Saturday's card. Both horses will carry 126 pounds.

The total annual capacity of the hydro-electric generating stations of the eight leading countries of the world is about 20,000,000 horse-power.

Sales of a Wayside Tee

GRANTLAND RICE

One of the great drawbacks to numerous golfers and golf games is early and easy discouragement.

For when discouragement reports for duty there is almost certain to be a slump in further play, either a half-hearted effort or else an over-zealous one that seems to be a crushing blow from fate.

This discouragement may come from many causes.

For example, the golfer stands upon the first tee with aroused hopes for a first-class round.

He faces a rather easy par 4 hole, and mentally already has the 4 chalked down on the card.

Then there is a dropped drive, an out of bounds, a visit to a tray or something else, and in place of the expected 4 he has 7.

From that point on the day is spoiled. There is no gold left in the sunlight, no blue in the sky, no crimson in the autumn foliage.

There is another discouraging angle which besets many golfers. This is to hit what seems to be a well-placed shot and then find the ball resting either in a cypress tree or upon a down hill slope.

In either case the average golfer is quite likely to wilt. He calls upon the ancient gods to know that he has deserved no such unhappy fortune. It rarely occurs to him that it is to take this as part of the game.

There is also a complete wrecking of mental poise when the golfer comes to the bunker's edge and there finds his ball resting tidily in a heel print. Why he should expect a good lie in a bunker with the ball on top of the sand is a mystery.

H. H. Hilton once observed that his greatest criticism of golf as played in the United States was that too many golfers expected a perfect lie under all conditions—that they expected to find the ball sitting up nicely on top of the turf through the fairway, resting on top of the sand in a bunker and at least fairly open in the rough.

Utah Loses Chance at Title With Game

Denver, Colo., Nov. 11.—An unexpected upset on Saturday's Rocky Mountain conference football game, when Colorado college defeated the University of Utah, 7 to 6, eliminated the latter as a possible title winner and left but two teams, the University of Colorado and Colorado Aggies, tied for first place.

Neither eleven has beaten this year. In Saturday's contests the University of Colorado smothered the School of Mines, 47 to 0, while the Aggies trimmed the University of Denver, 20 to 0.

Colorado and the Aggies won pretty much as they pleased, and their respective victories were regarded as a matter of course by gridiron sharps who keep tabs on conference football.

The big surprise, however, was the outcome of the Tiger-Utah battle, which spoiled the chance for Utah to regain lead the championship as it did in 1922. Utah had been regarded as a certain winner.

Drop kicks by Captain Watkins in the first and second periods put the Salt Lake team six points in the lead, but a Tiger touchdown in the third, which resulted from a long pass and MacDougall's 40-yard run, and a subsequent goal, gave the Coloradoans the necessary one point margin to win.

Of the other colleges in the conference, Utah Aggies, University of New Mexico and University of Wyoming did not play, and Montana State won a reconference game from Mount Charles, 23 to 0.

In the standings, University of Colorado has won all four games played, while the Aggies, with four victories and one tie, also have a percentage of 1.000. Ties are not counted in the averages.

Oklahomans Seek Entrance

Stillwater, Okl., Nov. 11.—Oklahoma A. and M. college eagerly anticipating an expected realization of a long standing desire, that of membership in the Missouri Valley athletic conference.

Athletic authorities at A. and M. believe that it is probable that the Aggies will be accepted for membership in the valley group of schools at the annual meeting in December.

An application for membership will be filed before the meeting, E. C. Gallagher, director of athletics, and F. W. Bell, chairman of the athletic council, have announced.

A. and M. has had an eye on Valley membership several years. With that accomplishment in view, as many games as possible, in all lines of sport, have been scheduled with Valley teams for the Aggies. For the year, the A. and M. athletes have been required to meet eligibility qualifications which govern athletes of conference institutions.

Probability of membership has increased from year to year, apparently, and this fall member schools and newspapers have advocated the inclusion of the Aggies in the Valley list.

References to Washington university of St. Louis dropping out have increased the campus talk of the Aggies getting in the conference. A. and M. officials are confident, however, do not believe membership depends upon the withdrawal of the Pikers.

At present nine schools are in the conference. They are the state universities of Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, Kansas State Agricultural college, Iowa State college, Grinnell college, Drake and Washington universities.

If admitted, Oklahoma A. and M. college would not be the smallest school in the conference in point of student enrollment, financial support and quality of athletics.

School Girl Sets New Mark in 75-Yard Dash

New York, Nov. 11.—Adelaide Lambert, 16-year-old school girl of this city, set up a new American record last night when she won a 75-yard dash in 47.45 seconds. She won over three other girls, all champions of various states, like-named including Allen Riggins, who won the diving contests at the Olympic games three years ago.

Gertrude Ederle, proclaimed the greatest girl swimmer in the world, after smashing records recently in Honolulu, was to have been in the race, but was too ill to compete. Miss Lambert expects to meet Miss Ederle soon.

Dope Fails to Be Upset in Big Ten

By International News Service. Big Ten meetings today, of which there were only three, provided an upset and could not compete for surprising interest with Nebraska's 14-to-7 defeat of Notre Dame.

In conference contests the expected winners from Purdue proved a soft spot in which Ohio State alighted. The Purdue aggregation disgraced themselves before their fathers, for it was Dads' day at the college. The Indians absorbed a 32-to-0 trimming.

Illinois probably inspired for itself a season without defeat by knocking out Wisconsin 14 to 0. Only Ohio State remains in Illinois' path, and the Buckeyes are not considered a very serious obstacle.

Chicago did the conventional thing by wallowing Indiana, 27 to 0.

Northwestern went outside the conference circle to trim Lake Forest, 32 to 0.

Michigan also took on outsiders—the Quantic Marines—who, although they worried the Michigansers for a time, were defeated in the end, 26 to 6.
