

Doctors Discuss Use of Insulin

Diabetic Remedy Requires a Careful Diet Dr. Bridges Tells Alumni Association.

The new diabetic remedy, insulin, was discussed by Dr. E. L. Bridges before the alumni association of the University of Nebraska college of medicine Thursday noon. Management and treatment of diabetes, with special reference to the use of insulin, was the topic assigned.

Dr. Bridges stressed the importance of diet, not only as a foundation for the cure of diabetes, but as a means of preventing recurrences. Treatment of diabetes is both dietetic and medicinal. The aim of proper dieting is to rest the pancreas and furnish the proper amount of calories. The simplest diet that will furnish the proper amount of calories is the proper diet for the diabetic. The trouble, according to Dr. Bridges, is to keep the patient on the proper diet after the patient is out of the hospital and away from observation. The first thing to do is to get them sufficiently interested in their own care to take the proper interest in maintaining the proper diet.

He heralded as one of the great discoveries of modern times the new diabetic remedy known as insulin, and entered into a technical discussion of its proper use. Insulin alone is not a cure for diabetes. Its use must be in combination with the maintenance of proper diet, a diet that maintains a proper physical condition so that the insulin may have its intended effect. Education of the patient to the end that the diabetic be followed is the basis upon which the treatment must be builded. There are so many variations of this peculiar disease that no general application may be made, but personal diagnosis is necessary in each case. Often there are focal centers not apparent in the symptoms, but which can only be located by careful study.

According to Dr. Bridges, merely injecting a number of units of insulin over a definite period of time will not bring about a cure. Insulin is not a miraculous remedy.

Dr. James led in the discussion of Dr. Bridges' address and many questions followed. Address and discussion followed a luncheon served in the hospital building.

Wymore American Legion Elects New Officers

Wymore, Neb., Nov. 15.—At the regular weekly meeting of the Wymore Kiwanis club many guests from Beatrice and Lincoln were present, and the club was host to Anderson post of the American Legion. American flags, colors and standards were presented by the club to the post. Forty post members were present at the banquet. J. C. Ed Fisher of Beatrice gave the principal address.

After the Kiwanis program the Legion convened, 20 new members were enrolled and officers for the coming year were elected.

L. D. Demore, commander; Arthur Hughes, vice commander; Jay Hayden, adjutant; Albert Hogue, finance; Cloyd Ellis, historian; John M. Fleselman, chaplain; Samuel Rutherford, sergeant-at-arms. These officers will be installed at a meeting in December, at which time it is hoped to have State Commander Taylor of Lincoln present. A movement is also on foot here to organize a woman's auxiliary to the legion.

Citizens' State Bank at Royal, Neb., Is Closed

By International News Service.

Lincoln, Nov. 15.—The Citizens' State bank of Royal, Neb., has closed its doors, according to a telegram received today by the state banking department. The message, which was signed by O. L. Puntney, president of the institution, read as follows:

"Have closed our doors. Unable to do business."

A report, dated October 31, shows that the bank's deposits total, $57,900; its loans, $68,313; its cash on hand, $5,000; and money borrowed, $6,450. The bank was capitalized at $15,000.

Other officers of the bank are J. Blackburn, vice president, and R. F. Steenbock, cashier. Charles Ley member of the bank guaranty commission, has been appointed receiver.

Officials of the state banking department denied that the closing of the Atlas bank of Neligh, with a loss of $300,000 to the state guaranty fund, had caused or affected the failure of the Royal bank.

Gayety Chorus Girls Will Have Largest Dressing Room in City

A theater dressing room that will exceed in size any now in Omaha theaters, is being built at the Gayety theater. The new room off-stage is 8 feet wide by 51 feet long and is to accommodate the members of the chorus. There will be a long makeup shelf with mirrors and electric lights. The woodwork is to be finished in white enamel.

"I should have arranged for this room more than 16 years ago," said Old Man Johnson, manager of the theater. "The girls are continually running up and down stairs, to and from their dressing rooms in the basement, for changes of costumes numbering 15 or more. During one performance the girls get as much exercise as it would take to climb to the top of the telephone building and down again.

No more will the "ponies" and other members of the chorus have to hook each other up the back as they climb

Empress Theater Suit Ended in U. S. Court

Court proceedings in the Marcus Loew suit for possession of the Empress theater as per alleged contract have come to an end, according to Richard C. Hoyt, federal district court clerk. It now remains for the lawyers to draw up the decree and for Judge Woodrugh to either sign it or turn it down, as he judges best. Marcus Loew, who owns a chain of theaters throughout the country, had sued for possession of the Empress theater, which he claims had been purchased for a contract of $60,000.

There is a growing appeal to the male portion of the audience who continue to practice of attending the daily matinees at the Gayety theater, and last week's attraction, starting tomorrow, Jack Reid's "Record Breakers," is sure to increase this fondness for Columbia burlesque on their part. The cast of the show is composed chiefly of women, and its producer has been unusually generous in his allotment of suitable costumes. The Bostonians and the 10 plantation raised Dixie Jambouinis conclude their engagement with today's two performances.

The cure for the troubles of married people can be summed up in two words, "love" and "forgiveness." It is the dictum of the benevolent Dr. Anderson in "The First Year" that delightful content of American life which is the current attraction at the Brandeis theater, where it continues through Sunday night, will matinee on Saturday. He says a woman is not to be married unless she is ready to forgive her husband at least three times a week. The thing that appeals most strongly about "The First Year" is its humanness. There is not a "staged" character in the cast. They are all human, and most of them lovable.

A seven-act bill of unusual quality with laughter the predominating element comes to the World theater starting tomorrow. La Petite Revue, a singing and dancing spectacle out of the ordinary in the burlesque company. The revue is offered by a company of six girls. Sullivan and Myers present a comedy automobile novelty. Davis and McCoy combine with music in their study of "Biology." Gilbert Jaffy and Jess Sutton, favorite Omaha musicians, present a musical variety upon piano and violin. Two nifty songsters who combine harmony and laughs are Beck and Stone. Harry Coleman presents a comedy act along musical lines. Diaz and Powers introduce "Frolic on the Wire." "You're the Kind of Girl Men Forget" is given a novel organ presentation by Arthur Hays Rawlinson in "Billions to Burn" in the principal screen feature.

A few drops of lemon juice added to the cake frosting will make it very white.

Yellow Cab

Drivers work for the common good

We are proud of the spirit of loyalty which actuates all members of the YELLOW CAB family. Its expression is found in the will of every man to serve the public faithfully.

YELLOW CAB has come to occupy a distinctive place in the modern industrial sphere. The enthusiasm of our drivers is sometimes the subject of curious comment.

But there is no mystery about it. These men have faith in the sincere purpose of their employers. They like their work and are ambitious for their company as well as themselves.

The one big object YELLOW CAB is striving for in this community is unqualified public approval. So we all labor together with the one object of rendering a service that is nearly as 100% perfect as we can make it.

Is it any wonder that results are measurable in public satisfaction which expresses itself in constantly increasing patronage?
