

Hunters to Stage Search for Tiger

Will Try to Run Down Jungle Beast in Devil's Nest Country.

Bloomfield, Neb., Nov. 15.—Fired by reports of others who claim to have seen the wild tiger up in the Devil's Nest country, local hunting enthusiasts are making preparations to go out and bag the animal, or animals, as the case may be. Art Mason, C. W. Kinney and Bud Bloodhart were the first to announce their intention of invading the wild regions up along the Missouri, but others have since joined in preparation for the proposed sortie.

Pat Salmon, Rev. H. H. Pyche and Jeff Gossard, it is said, have joined forces with the hunters and B. Cunningham, a veteran of the civil war, will also be one of the party. Just how they intend to conduct the hunt has not been made public, but it is reported that they have engaged the services of an individual who has had considerable experience in ferreting out tigers, especially of the "blind" variety—Sheriff John H. Kellogg. The outcome of the expedition will be awaited with interest.

Fremont, Neb., Nov. 15.—Two high school students, Duane Steinbach, 18, only son of Charles Steinbach, Pohooco, and Pauline Esty, 17, youngest daughter of Bert Esty, Lesbara, eloped from class in Steinbach's car and were married at Council Bluffs, according to word received here. Parents and friends were ignorant of their plans and no word has been received since their elopement.

The couple left Fremont in the car owned by the groom's father. The first intimation received of their marriage was a newspaper announcement that a license had been issued to them at Council Bluffs. The announcement says the couple gave their ages as 19 and 20. Both belong to prominent Saunders county families.
