

Elopement of Last June Is Just Revealed

Tech High Athlete Confesses to Secret Wedding Under Cross Examination of Mother.

Another elopement and secret marriage of two young Omahans has come to light.

Miss Irene Dolan and Harry Weisenberg, students of Technical High school, were married secretly in Des Moines on June 30. They succeeded in keeping their marriage a secret until last Sunday when Harry weakened under close questioning of his mother, Mrs. W. E. Tipton, 2536 North Sixty-fourth street, and confessed.

Many of their fellow students suspected they were married and questioned the mother of Harry. She emphatically denied it for Harry had promised her not to marry until he was 21 years of age. The young couple had planned to tell Mrs. Tipton of the marriage on February 14, 1924, the date of Harry's 21st birthday.

Feared Annulment.
"They were afraid I would annul the marriage so didn't plan to tell me about it until he would become of age," said Mrs. Tipton. "I have to approve of the marriage now. If Harry had looked the world over he wouldn't have found a nicer girl than Irene. Since they met two years ago, the have been very devoted."

Harry who was graduated from Technical High school last June was a prominent athlete of the school. He was on the football team, captain of the basketball team that won the state championship, and played baseball.

Ball Game Decision.
It was at a high school baseball game near Des Moines to which Irene and Harry had gone that they decided to run off and be married. They left their school companions and motored to Des Moines. Since that time Irene has been living with her sister, Mrs. Frank Eggdoff and Mr. Eggdoff at Carter Lake club, and Harry has been at the home of his mother. Irene was a student of Technical High school for two years.

Mr. and Mrs. Weisenberg will live at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tipton until the first of next year after which they will start housekeeping.

Harry Weisenberg is an employee of the Nebraska Telephone company.

Caroline Dies.
C. L. Bonine, 81, retired carpenter and a resident of Omaha for 37 years, died this morning at his home, 2419 Templeton avenue.

He was a charter member of Old Guard post No. 7, G. A. R. He was born in Jefferson county, Iowa.

He is survived by his widow, a son, R. E. Bonine of Eureka, Cal.; three daughters, Mrs. S. A. Preston of Fremont, Neb.; Mrs. C. E. Allen and Mrs. W. A. Millek of Omaha; a brother, W. N. Bonine of Blair, Neb., and eight grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at the home. He had been ill four weeks.

Mother of Sixteen Wins Divorce With Custody of 6 of 'Em

Mrs. Lilla M. Allen, 44, yesterday was awarded a divorce in Council Bluffs district court from her husband, Thomas F. Allen, 69, to whom she was married on July 7, 1897.

Mr. Allen had been married four times previously.

It was Mrs. Allen's second attempt to obtain a divorce. Last month she went into police court and had her husband placed under $500 bond to keep the peace, charging that he annoyed her.

Mrs. Allen was given custody of six of their 16 children.

Stresemann's Fall Ominous

May Change European History—Von Kardorff Invited to Form Cabinet.

London, Nov. 24.—President Ebert has invited Herr Von Kardorff, a member of the German people's party in the reichstag to form a new German cabinet, says a news agency dispatch from Berlin this afternoon. It is anticipated that he will accept, the message states.

By International News Service.
Berlin, Nov. 24.—President Ebert today was seeking Germany's "strongest man" to form a new cabinet to succeed the Stresemann government, which resigned last night when a motion expressing the reichstag's confidence in the ministry was rejected by 230 to 145 votes.

It was regarded likely that the new chancellor would try to form a new coalition.

There was some talk that the post of chancellor might be again offered to Gustav Stresemann, but the name heard most often was that of Heinrich Albert, minister of reconstruction in the Cuno government.

By Associated Press.
London, Nov. 24.—The downfall of the Stresemann government is viewed here as an event of the utmost significance, possibly involving developments destined to have a deep and lasting effect on all Europe. The fact that some of the morning newspapers out the British election campaign from first place to display their Berlin dispatches on the reichstag's rejection of the chancellor and the situation in Germany generally, indicates that the crisis is regarded as serious.

Berlin dispatches to the London newspapers agree that it is impossible to foresee what administration is to follow, but some of the correspondents stress the growth of militant nationalism and hint at sensational developments from that growth. Dr. Stresemann in his talk with the newspapermen, commented on the German parliamentary system and said the next government would be faced with the serious task of determining its foreign policy. He also referred with considerable feeling to a recent article in the paper concerning the former crown prince, the tone of which, he said, brought a flush of shame to the cheek of every German. It was such notes, he added, that destroyed democracy in Germany and created nationalism.

Dr. Stresemann again defended Frederick William, whom he described as a man with a strong sense of political responsibility and great capacity.

Next Week Cold.
Washington, Nov. 24.—The weather bureau today issued the following forecast:

Upper Mississippi and lower Missouri valleys: Mild at the beginning of the week and considerably colder thereafter. Generally fair weather.

More Crowds View Style Show

The following telegram was received Saturday by The Evening Bee from Bebe Daniels, now at the east coast studios of Famous Players-Lasky corporation, Long Island, New York, N. Y.:

"I want to thank The Evening Bee for the extremely novel and effective manner they chose to display the gowns which were forwarded from the production, 'His Children's Children.' We wanted everyone in Omaha to view these gowns, and if reports which I have received are true, they have. 'His Children's Children' is a great story, as all the readers of The Evening Bee can attest. It has been made into an equally great photoplay, and I am proud indeed that I was privileged to have the leading role in this modern drama of the jazz age. I only wish it were possible for me to be in Omaha next week when the picture is shown at the Strand. Again thanking you for your efforts in my behalf, I am, sincerely,
(Signed) "BEBE DANIELS."
Sidewalks were crowded and traffic was blocked again today at Sixteenth and Douglas for the last showing of the gowns worn by Miss Daniels by living models on The Evening Bee stage on the roof of the Fry building. With one gown, 30 wonderful furs, the latest in millinery and beautiful cloth coats were shown from the Brandels store. It was estimated that $20,000 in merchandise was represented on the stage in 36 garments.

The story of "His Children's Children" is appearing serially in The Evening Bee. It is a drama of the present age and has been made into a Paramount picture with an all-star cast. For those who haven't been reading the story The Evening Bee is offering a complete copy of the novel along with a free ticket to the Strand theater with each new subscription sent the paper.

Suicide Is Iowa Lass.
St. Louis, Nov. 24.—St. Louis' "unknown girl," has been identified as Ruth Elizabeth Williams, 16 years old, of Kansas City, police announced today. Her mother is said to be Mrs. George A. Crammer of Sioux City, Ia.

The identification did not arrive from Kansas City, however, until after the girl, who committed suicide November 10 by inhaling gas, had been buried yesterday in a grave donated by a charitable woman after she learned the child was to be buried in a pauper's grave. The girl, police said, took her life after being ejected from a boarding house for inability to pay her board. Advice from Kansas City police said she disappeared from the home of her brother there, October 10.

Strike Ends Too Late.
Dublin, Nov. 24.—The calling off of the hunger strike among the political prisoners of the Irish free state came too late to save Andrew O'Sullivan of county Cavan, interned in Mount Joy prison. He died in a hospital after a fast of 46 days.

Co-Operation Planned.
Lincoln, Nov. 24.—The executive committee of the Nebraska State Teachers' association in session here today gave consideration to the matter of bringing about greater co-operation among the various district associations in the state. The committee is endeavoring to eliminate any sense of competition among the different convention groups. The presidents of the various districts meet with the secretary and treasurer here tomorrow to discuss plans for the coming year.

Deranged Man Fights 30 Cops

Self-Styled Sleuth for Gov. Walton Runs Amuck in Hotel.

By Associated Press.
Chicago, Nov. 24.—Guests of the Hotel Sherman scurried for cover last night, while 30 policemen and detectives with tear bombs and revolvers assaulted a room on the fourth floor in which Roy Hendrickson of Shawnee, Okla., had barricaded himself.

Hendrickson, who says he was a member of former Governor Jack Walton's Oklahoma secret service, became suddenly deranged and fired several shots at the officers before the tear bombs, thrown through the transom, forced him to a window. The officers broke open the door and took him fighting, protesting to a hospital.

Several hours before the shooting Hendrickson telephoned a Chicago newspaper asking that a reporter be sent to get a story about his being robbed by a police captain. When the reporter came to his room Hendrickson locked the door and told him he was ready to stay there all night because "something was going to happen."

The reporter demurred and later by a ruse eluded Hendrickson and called the police. With three sergeants and the house detective he went to Hendrickson's room. The officers demanded for admittance was answered through the door. A concerted attack was made when reserve officers arrived.

A bullet-proof shield of steel, behind which two officers were sheltered as they moved to force them, was used by detectives in the assault. After the door was burst open the officers followed the shield into the room and overpowered Hendrickson, who was prevented from escaping through the window by officers in the court below, with whom he exchanged shots.

Bereft of Bride, Indicted Slayer Tries to End Life

Los Angeles, Nov. 24.—Detectives yesterday frustrated what they said was a suicide attempt on the part of Edward H. Carleton, indicted with his bride of a few days, Jeanne, on a murder charge growing out of the slaying of Special Deputy Sheriff Robert E. Mace and the serious wounding of Detective M. W. Luke.

Carleton was arraigned with his bride yesterday on the murder indictment and their hearing set for November 27. While waiting in his cell to be escorted to the district attorney's office for further questioning, detectives said, Carleton attempted to sever an artery in his arm with a knife he had fashioned from a tin-cup handle.

According to police detectives, Carleton said he had tried to kill himself because he could no longer endure separation from his wife. He was permitted to see her in the district attorney's office.

Escape Dynamite.
Juarez, Mexico, Nov. 24.—Cruz Martinez, bakery owner of Juarez, and eight employees escaped serious injury yesterday when two sticks of dynamite were hurled through a window, exploding on top of the oven. Bakers who have been attempting to induce Martinez to increase the price of bread were charged with the act by Martinez. Other union shops have been selling bread at two loaves for 10 centavos, and Martinez has been selling three loaves for the same amount, he said. An oven full of bread and cakes was destroyed by the explosion.

Death Closing on Little Girl

Helen Hamilton Sinks Into State of Coma—Prayer to Live Seems Denied.

By Universal Service.
Calden, N. J., Nov. 24.—Physicians at the bedside of little Helen Hamilton stated that the child was rapidly sinking and was not expected to live more than a few hours. She has been in a state of coma since noon yesterday. Her last conscious speech was a request to Dr. Kain to keep her alive until Monday so that she might celebrate her birthday.

When Helen awoke from a restless sleep yesterday morning she called her mother and said:
"Mamma, I am going to die real soon. Please don't cut any of my birthday cakes (she has received six). When I die I want you to send all my presents except by doll Lucy and my wrist watch to the home for orphans to make some little boys and girls happy."

Woman Freed in Murder Trial

Shout Greet Verdict Acquitting Widow Who Slew Mate.

A shout went up from friends in the court room when a verdict of "not guilty" was brought against Mrs. Madeleine Grebalo, 35, 1141 North Seventeenth street, charged with first degree murder for the shooting of her husband.

Mrs. Grebalo, who understands little English, sat quietly through the trial. It was not until the verdict had been interpreted to her that she understood she was free.

Mrs. Grebalo admitted having shot her husband, but claimed she did it in self-defense, because he had threatened to have "blackhands" come and kill her, and because he choked her. For a time her liberty hung upon the Italian word "sonno," which was translated "sleep" in Mrs. Grebalo's signed confession, so that the phrase ran "I shot my husband in his sleep." Mrs. Grebalo claimed that she was familiar with the use of the same word to mean "temple," and had understood the statement to read, "I shot my husband in his temple."

Much Earlier Than Usual

This year, we are holding our November sale of coats. The other unusual feature about this annual event is the fact that the majority of the coats are samples you know, are the maker's choicest models—they contain his finest fabrics, his best pelts, his loveliest linings and, moreover, his best workmen have cut and tailored them. Seems reasonable to guess they'd be expensive. They're not, because Mr. Nicoll has reduced their prices most outrageously. Small women may select charming models at $89.50. Every size is provided all the way from $98.50 to $119.50.
