Vamps Get All Their Beaux, Say Quiet Girls

Eager for Love—Can't Change Their Ways—Accentuate One Attractive Feature in Makeup and Others Will Be Forgotten.

By MARTHA ALLEN.

VAMPS always get their beaux, is the complaint found in many letters from girls who describe themselves as the quiet type. Men seem to fall for pretty faces, loud ways, boldness, and to expect the girls to do all the wooing, they say.

"What is going to become of the plain, good girls?" they ask. Many times they are left far behind before thought of marriage.

As most of us know, plain girls are lonely and eager for love, but they can't remedy their plight by outright flirting and vamping. It isn't in their makeup any more than it is the nature of a retriever to eat his game. They are not brought up to do it.

But, girls, you can beat the vamps at their own game. Use your very best qualities to their utmost, dished up in the most attractive way possible. Study your features and use the least little attraction you possess for attention. Some men you have met have surely noticed your pretty hair, your eyes, or your shy, unwilling smile. Accentuate the things you possess which have attracted just a little attention. Vamps do this very thing with the additional ammunition of beauty of face or figure.

An expression of charm, personality, understanding and sympathy will sometimes make a man unknowingly desert the shrine of beauty where he has been worshipping. A girl's chances for marriage are as good as she can make the man believe she is not unattractive. That's the whole solution of the problem. It is the clever woman who knows that it is

Numerous Holiday Parties Scheduled

It's a wise hostess who announces her date. Once she has done so, the unwritten social code protects her from competitive affairs in her own set.

The Christmas gaieties are being scheduled daily and the calendar promises to be full at the end of another week.

The earliest affair is a tea dance to be given by the O. T. club of Central High school on Christmas day. The vivacious Pepper Potters follow with an affair on December 26.

Mrs. G. W. Noble will give a large tea at her home December 27, honoring her daughter, Genene, who will be home from Oberlin conservatory for the holidays; Mrs. Will Noble, her daughter-in-law, Misses Josephine Draper and Mary Findley, both of Omaha.

Mrs. George Platner will follow on the 28th with a tea at her home, and on January 1, Mrs. Bryon Hastings will be hostess at her home for her daughter, Natalie, a student at Miss Madeira's school in Washington, D. C., and her son, Bryon, of Omaha.

Mrs. Frank Hoagland will give a party for her daughter during the holidays.

Miss Vernelle Head's wedding on January 3 and the affairs centering around it, will hold important place in holiday entertaining.

Cash Prize for Book List

If a woman voter has $25 to spend on a reference library what books ought she buy? If she has twice that sum what are her best purchases? Mrs. W. Leroy Davis, president of the Nebraska League of Women Voters, announces that a prize of $40 will be given by the National League of Women Voters for the best answer to these two questions and smaller sums for the next best and second best lists of books and pamphlets.

Every woman who is a member of the league is eligible for the contest which closes January 12, and the condition is made that books and pamphlets in the lists submitted must be trustworthy as to facts and "must not contain propaganda for any cause." Each title must be followed by the name of the publisher and the price, and a list may be of any length provided only that the total cost of the books in one bibliography is $25 and that in the other it does not run to a penny more than $50.

The judges of the list are Dr. Edgar Dawson, professor of history and social science at Hunter college, New York; Miss Linda Eastman, chief librarian of the Cleveland public library; Mrs. Richard Edwards of Peru, Ind., former first vice president of the National League of Women Voters; Mrs. George Gellhorn of St. Louis, another former vice president and Raymond Moley, associate professor of government at Barnard college, New York. As in all other contests, names of persons submitting lists must not appear on manuscript but must be clipped to it in a sealed envelope.
