Gray Hair Sets Off Beautiful Clothes, Says Expert

A scolding should be given to gray-haired ladies who let so-called beauty experts dye their lovely gray hair, said Mme. Antoinette in talking on "Colors" to a cluster of men and women at the Old People's Home on Fontenelle boulevard Friday afternoon.

After her talk Madame stayed to design a dress for Mrs. Mary Nesbit, 95, who for nine years has been an invalid.

"You can't improve on nature's own colors in any way you try," said the designer. "In autumn the most beautiful colors to wear are the ones that nature herself reveals—rich autumn

Kisses Not Always Proof of Real Love

SOME GIRLS NEVER LEARN ABOUT MEN—OTHERS VERY CAUTIOUS AND NEVER HAVE FEELINGS HURT.

By MARTHÁ ALLEN.

IF A MAN is an admirer of one girl, takes her about a bit, but doesn't kiss her, there seems to be no cause for worry. Even if he does kiss many other girls, the one girl needn't worry. Other girls may tease her and tell this girl that if he loved her the man in question would kiss her. But she ought to feel proud that she is an exception to the rule. It is proof positive that he likes this very girl because he has danced with her and has been more than friendly with her than others since a little heated argument some time ago. Perhaps he cares so much that he feels this girl is too fine to be classed with the kissing kind. He might consider the girl just a good pal.

When will girls ever learn that all men are not alike and that even one man may find a number of girls entirely different with one another? Men learn to know whether they can make advances to a girl the first "date" they have with her. It isn't hard to distinguish from the girl who craves for affection or wears her heart upon her sleeve, from the girl who is reserved, who is worthy of respect and perhaps of true love later on. Some of the girls of today are fast learning to know the various types of men upon this earth, but it is unfortunate when certain other girls haven't learned the same. Some-

Children Call Santa at Burgess-Nash Store

Hundreds of boys and girls in Omaha kept the telephone wires busy Friday night calling Santa Claus at Burgess-Nash store. Santa was there in toy town from 6 to 9 o'clock to hear what the children want for Christmas.

Already hundreds of letters have poured into Santa's office, and he answers them as quickly as possible. Any boy or girl who can't call Santa Claus, should write a letter and tell what they want to find in their stockings, or on the tree.

Santa is anxious to meet the boys and girls too, and is in toy town every day from 10 to 5 o'clock. There he directs them to Fairyland, the Fairy Queen, and the enchanted land.

Did You Win a Prize?

More than 1,100 pictures were received in The Sunday Bee's amateur photograph contest. Announcement of the prize winners will be made this Sunday. Perhaps your photograph was one of the winners.

Eight Pages There will be eight pages in the gravure section this Sunday with interesting pictures from far and near.

Comics The best comics always appear in The Sunday Bee. Jiggs, Mr. and Mrs. and all the rest interest everyone.

Sports When it's sports you want you have to read The Sunday Bee. Always complete, always accurate and always interesting.

Cissie Loftus' Fight for Freedom

A few weeks ago Cissie Loftus returned to the stage in a London music hall after an absence of many years. Today she is the rage of New York vaudeville. The story of how the grip of a London "Bobby's" hand on her trembling shoulder gave her the courage to make a winning fight against the drug habit is a true story of suffering and faith that will hold your interest to the end. You will find it in the magazine section of The Sunday Bee.

Copy Book Stuff A short story by Sophie Kerr. Of course, it has a happy ending, and true love wins out.

Choosing a Husband Mary Roberts Rinehart, famous writer, tells the three principles of marriage.

By Lantern Light O. O. McIntyre ventures forth on a hunting expedition in Louisiana. It's funny.

Keeping Yourself Informed

That's why you read a newspaper—so you'll know what's going on in the world. To do that you have to read The Sunday Bee, the only Sunday newspaper in Nebraska receiving the service of three Saturday night wires—The Associated Press, the International News Service and the Universal Service.
