Peace Address Is Not Expected to Bring Results

Omahans Praise Eloquence of Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, but Are Doubtful of Organized Campaign.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt in her lecture on "War or Peace, What Are Were re-elected.

We Going to Do About it?"

Two constitutional amendments.

Tuesday in praising Mrs. Catt's chapter. eloquence and expressing their interest in her speech. As to what local practical results are likely to follow from her call to a local peace crusade they are more doubtful.

Organization Not Probable. An urgent wish that Omaha women night respond by an organized and concerted effort for world peace was sed by such women leaders as Mrs. H. C. Sumney, Mrs. John Sebree, Mrs. Halleck Rose, Mrs. Carrie A. Campbell, and Mrs. H. C. Bailey, although they admitted no great confi-dence that such results would follow. Others, like Mrs. Draper Smth, Charles E. Johannes, and Mrs. C. J. Horn, while expressing more or less general agreement with Mrs. Catt's ideas, pointed to the peace work alendorsed by the various women's organizations as evidence that the romen are already thinking along such lines and are doing all that can reasonably be expected of them. One or two took issue with some of Mrs.

The presidents of Omaha's two most influential women's civic ortions were enthusiastic about the address, but noncommittal about president of the Woman's club, nted out that world peace was one of the first subjects taken up at last national convention of the Woman's clubs in Atlanta, and that told the stories of the songs in the of Voters took up the issue any further than they have already done,

Speech Was Thrilling. "It was a wonderfully thrilling speech," commended Mrs. Sumney, "I wish every man and woman of human intelligence in Omaha could have heard it. Whether any practical consequences will follow is beyond me. There is so much confused thinking BEWARE THE in the world, so much willingness to drift, that it is hard to tell. But, should be some practical response from the women to so great a call to battle for peace.'

"In challenging women to action for universal peace," comments Mrs. Halleck Rose, "Mrs. Catt not only recognizes the added responsibility participation in politics has given roman, but sees in her very nature the reasons why she must oppose war. Mothers have paid a high to construct the man power wasted in war. They deny its return. A time has arrived when, as Mrs. Catt said, women 'may' co-operate with men in abolishing war. I do not believe the women can do it alone. But I hope Mrs. Catt's suggestion may result in organized effort for peace among Omaha women."

Agrees With Program.

Mrs. Carrie A. Campbell, general secretary of the Y. W. C. A., said the "made her feel like being a uting Methodist," in order to express her complete agreement. There absolutely should be a practical re-sponse to the feminist leaders' appeal, she admitted, but she feared that many are too apathetic. Mrs. Campbell explained that the Y. W. C. A. its national convention in Hot structed to co-operate in every pos-sible way with any recognized peace

"Mrs. Catt is the only speaker, man or woman, who has the courage to tell us what is the matter with us," declared Mrs. H. J. Bailey. As for a follow-up, she was not sure. The League of Women Voters was the natural organization to pick up the challenge, but she did not know whether it could in Omaha.

Mrs. John Sebree hoped the Omaha Woman's club would take up the problem. She expressed herself as "perfectly charmed" with the speaker, and felt that giving women something they could do for men was the strongest point made by Mrs. Catt.

Too Much Organization.

The women are "organized to death, complained Mrs. Draper Smith, aithough she praised the speaker. Mrs. Smith specially enjoyed the way Mrs. Catt let the men know the women could act separately from them at need, she said. "Men don't like women to know all the dirt there is politics," she commented.

women know it anyhow." Mrs. Warren Blackwell was "awfully interested in the speech," but felt that Mrs. Catt had overstated the case. "I don't think a lot of women can bring world peace by themselves," she objected. "And I don't see any sense in going into the league of nations as long as Europe holds to its secret treaties."

Mrs. C., J. Horn did not care to express an opinion on the speech, but pointed out that the Omaha College club, which she represents, had endorsed the world court.

Lectures in Lincoln. Mrs. Johannes felt that "the bringing of peace is women's work, and it is the biggest work in the world." She elieved that Omaha women already want to help as much as they can. Mrs. Catt lectured in Lincoln last night. She was the guest of Mrs. Hardy in Lincoln at luncheon yester-

Folk Song and Dance

A tuneful and varied program of folk songs and dances was presented by the music division of the Omaha Women's club yesterday afternoon in the auditorium of the Y. W. C. A.
