

Defunct Railroad May Be Operated

Kansas and Northwestern Seeks to Get Relieved of Tax Burden.

Lincoln, Dec. 7.—Owners and managers of the old Kansas and Northwestern railroad, which terminates at Virginia, Neb., are asking the state, county and municipal authorities of Nebraska and Kansas to cancel the large part of its unpaid taxes which have accumulated during a period of several years' idleness. The request to cancel the taxes, it is said, is made in order to get the railroad back into operation.

Officials of Gage county, Neb., and others from Kansas, were here this week, and conferred with officials at the state attorney general's office in regard to the proposal. They stated that the road is willing to pay its back taxes for the last two years if the remainder of its delinquent obligations, dating from 1917, are wiped off the books.

If the road can get from under the delinquent tax burden it is believed by the owners that they can put it back on its feet again with the money they expect to get from the government under the wartime guarantee of earnings, along with the aid of bond

Am I Developing As Fast As My Husband?

Some women are never wise enough to ask themselves this question. Yet it explains so many unhappy marriages. It is so easy for a man to outgrow his wife. Nobody is to blame. They just grow apart—or, rather, the husband grows mentally and the wife stands still.

It's so easy for a wife to fall behind

Her husband is out and around meeting all kinds of people. He is bound to learn and grow. Meanwhile his wife is cooped up at home, tied to her endless household tasks. By the time her children have grown up and her husband has made a success—the wife and mother who has given them her all finds that they have grown away from her, that she and they have nothing in common.

If you would keep your husband's love and your children's respect—don't ever let this happen to you. Get the January Delineator and read what happened to Mary Callowhill—a mother who gave too much to her husband and children. Read

"Rebellion" By GRACE SARTWELL MASON

Here is fiction that is truer than fact. Mary Callowhill slaved year after year for her family, only to learn that her unselfish love was defeating its own end, was breaking up her home and bringing unhappiness to everyone in it. It is a wonderful story that every wife and mother should read.

President Coolidge Writes to Prize Winners in "Better Homes" Contest

The prize winners in the Better Homes in America Demonstration of 1923 are announced in the January Delineator. President Coolidge himself wrote to congratulate the committee which won first prize and you will surely want to read his letter and see the pictures of the prize winning homes. Plans for the 1924 campaign will be announced in subsequent issues of The Delineator, which acts as headquarters for the Better Homes Movement, while its Editor, Mrs. William Brown Meloney, serves as Secretary.

"Get Your Vitamins In Your Vegetables"

Everyone is talking about these mysterious "vitamins" which are so necessary for proper health and growth. But not everyone knows that one of the best places to get your vitamins is in "common-or-garden" vegetables like cabbages and carrots. Martha Van Rensselaer, head of the School of Home Economics of Cornell University, will tell you all about vegetable vitamins in The Home-Maker's Department of the January Delineator.

The Harry M. Freer Trophy
Awarded
Jay Burns Baking Co.
For Highest Quality Bread

A Guarantee of Finest Quality

BREAD QUALITY is based on two important factors. First, a careful selection of the best materials and second, a thorough, scientific knowledge of baking. BETSY ROSS quality is the result of this combination.

Yet we are not satisfied, not willing to be the sole judge of quality. So, each month we submit BETSY ROSS to a leading food laboratory to secure an impartial judgment from nationally known bread scientists.

Last month, the loaf of BETSY ROSS sent in for examination—THE SAME LOAF YOU BUY DAY AFTER DAY—was awarded the Harry M. Freer Trophy for quality, in a competition with some two hundred loaves, submitted by leading bakers, who, too, want an impartial judgment of their loaves.

BETSY ROSS was first in this contest—just as it is first in Omaha. It is your best bread, the loaf you should ask for by name always.
