

Man Kills Two in Restaurant

Becomes Enraged at Delay in Bringing Bowl of Cracked Ice.

Chicago, Dec. 8.—John Sheehy, Chicago "bad man," who shot and killed two men in the Rendezvous cafe here early today and who was felled shortly afterward with several bullets, died at noon today at a hospital.

Chicago, Dec. 8.—Bullets whistled sharp dance of death in competition with the mirthful tunes to which 500 patrons were dancing as two murders and accompanying casualties dedicated the new $100,000 Japanese room of the fashionable Rendezvous cafe on the north side early today.

Two employees of the cafe were shot to death and a detective sergeant wounded when an alleged "bad man" thought he had to wait too long for a bowl of cracked ice. The killer himself was shot through the stomach in his flight. He probably will die.

The dead are Leopold Gouch, steward of the cafe; Henry Bing, a bartender. The "bad man," John Sheehy, is near death in the Chicago General hospital with a bullet wound through the stomach. Sergeant William O'Malley of the detective bureau was wounded in the arm.

Sheehy had been drinking when he entered the cafe at an early hour, according to police. He was impatient when his order for a bowl of cracked ice was not filled promptly and went to the service bar.

Bing, the bartender, urged him to return to his seat and wait, but Sheehy brought out his gun and shot. Bing crumpled to the floor. Gouch rushed toward Sheehy with a bottle and another shot brought him down.

Sergeant William O'Malley, in plain clothes, entered the cafe, revolver in hand, but met Sheehy's leveled gun and the order "beat it and be damned quick or I'll kill you." O'Malley dodged behind a swinging door and out to get Sergeant John O'Malley.

As William O'Malley entered the cafe a second time at the front door, Sheehy's shot struck him in the right arm.

The gunman attempted to make his escape through the rear of the cafe, but was brought down by the second detective's shot.

After a temporary halt, the dancing in the cafe went ahead, while the bodies were being removed.

Harding Memorial Week.

Washington, Dec. 8.—Harding Memorial week will be started tomorrow with special services in churches throughout the country and ceremonies also will be held at sea. The Memorial association announced today on naval and merchant vessels.

Meetings to pay tribute to the late president and consider the association's plans to provide a permanent Harding tomb, preserve his home at Marion, O., as a shrine and endow a chair of diplomacy and functions of government in his name will be held during the week. It was said, by numerous social, civic, religious and fraternal organizations.

Boy Seeks $7,000,000.

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 8.—From a little village in the province of Pampanga, Philippine Islands, Gregorio Carmichael, 13, arrived here last night on the steamship President Madison with his mother.

J. E. Curran, the boy's attorney, and P. S. Mason, of Newkirk, Okla., his American guardian, will proceed with them to Oklahoma to enter his claim to an oil estate valued at $7,000,000.

According to his attorney, the boy is the son of the late Daniel Carmichael, who was a United States soldier, and of a Filipino woman. The elder Carmichael died in the islands unaware of his inheritance.

Mexican Debt Adjusted.

New York, Dec. 8.—Action by the international committee of bankers on Mexico, declaring the plan of Mexican debt readjustment operative, yesterday consummated negotiations begun in 1919 to recover interest payments on the Mexican external debt, aggregating $500,000,000 in principal.

More than $13,500,000 United States gold had been remitted by the Mexican government to provide the first year's service on the deposited bonds, the committee announced.

First Heavy Snow at Reno.

Reno, Nev., Dec. 8.—Snow that started falling here shortly after 10 o'clock last night had covered the ground before midnight, for the first time this winter. Five inches of snow is reported at Summit, Cal., in the Sierra range.

Daily Prayer

He ever liveth to make intercession for them.—Hab. 7:25.

Almighty and everlasting God, because of Thy good hand upon us in mercy, we have been spared during another night. Help us to trust in Thee, to have no will but Thy will, and to desire to be only what Thou wouldst have us be. We pray that Thou wilt show us how large is Thy pity, how great is Thy love, and how infinite is Thy goodness; give us to feel that Thou hast called us with a holy calling; that Thou has put us here to do Thy pleasure, and hereafter to enjoy Thee forever. Breathe into us the spirit of prayer and teachableness, and enable us to give earnest heed to the truths taught in Thy Word. We thank Thee for Thy holy Word, for Thy church, and for all the ordinances of Thy house, and for the way of salvation through Christ. We bless Thee, our Heavenly Father, for all Thy gifts, but above all for Thine unspokeable gift, our Savior, Jesus Christ. We rejoice in the assurance that He is now interceding for us. May the weary and heavy laden come unto Thee and find rest unto their souls. We pray that Thou wilt send forth laborers into Thy harvest. Be Thou to all Thine own as the shadow of a great rock in a weary land. Speedily fill the whole earth with Thy glory. Make us all, O Christ, joyful in hope, patient in suffering, active in service and abounding in love. We ask all these things in the name of Jesus Christ, Thy Son, our Savior. Amen.

ROBERT STUART McARTHUR, D. D., Boston, Mass.

Absolutely, Mr. Gallagher Is Wed

Absolutely, Mr. Gallagher is married. It happened at the Pickwick Arms hotel at Greenwich, Conn., and his sidekick, Mr. Sheehan, was a witness. The bride was Miss Ann Luther, formerly in the movies. At the time of his birth, which occurred early in life, Mr. Gallagher's parents named him Edward S. Gallagher. But from coast to coast, and be-

Creighton Team to Debate With Orators of St. Louis

Creighton university opening debates of the season in the Missouri Province Debating league, will be held the third week in December, with St. Louis university, at Omaha. The winner of the St. Louis Creighton debate will meet Loyola at Chicago. The semi-finals will take place at a later date between the winner of that contest and the winner in the first division, including Detroit university, Marquette and Campion.

Read the Pet column on the Classified page.

Jurors Examined in Souder Trial

Former County Treasurer Faces Arson Charge Following Court House Burning.

North Platte, Neb., Dec. 8.—Examination of veniremen called for a jury in the case of former County Treasurer Samuel Souder and his deputy, Baker, charged with arson in connection with the burning of the Lincoln county court house, was continued over today from Friday afternoon.

Souder and Baker were tried separately and Baker's trial will start some time after Christmas. W. E. Shuman, who had previously been permitted to sit at the counsel table, was enjoined by the court from taking any further active part in the trial.

W. A. Prince of Grand Island is assisting the prosecutor, Gibbs, in handling the case for the state. Beattie, attorney for the defense, and Gibbs began the selection of the jury following the noon recess.

More than 12 men were dismissed because they had already formed an opinion. It is expected that two or three days will be necessary to get a jury.

Souder, his wife and brother sat at the counsel table throughout the examination yesterday and this morning.

The court room was packed to capacity today as the defense began its examination of the veniremen.

Railroad Into Mexico Denied

Washington, Dec. 8.—The Staley system of electrified railways was denied permission by the interstate commerce commission today to build a 1,100-mile line from a point on the Gulf of California, in Mexico, through the states of Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado and Utah.

The estimated cost of constructing and equipping such a road, the commission concluded, would be about $124,000,000. The applicant claimed to have stock subscriptions payable which would provide $40,000,000 for the enterprise, the decision said, but "was unwilling to disclose for record the identity of these subscribers."

Estimates of earning capacity, it was added, did not indicate that such a line "could be operated independently at a profit," and present railroad service was held to be adequate in that territory.

Bandits Kill Watchman.

Ferris, Tex., Dec. 8.—W. H. Horn, night watchman, was shot and killed here last night by men who entered the Farmers and Merchants State bank building, but failed to open the vault.

Want some money? Read the Classified ads.

When the Patrol Wagon Halts at Your House; Etiquet of Being "Pinched"

By WILLIAM LAMPMANN.

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for a law-abiding citizen to go to jail, it is proper that he should be "up" on the etiquette on polite entrance into that institution.

And, since in the present day and age, few persons fail to journey to that mecca under escort, at least once in a lifetime, this work on courtesy before the desk sergeant should meet with great popularity.

First comes the embarrassing matter of arrest. (It is left for the reader to force this issue.)

The only known method of making arrest unembarrassing to the average citizen is to be in such alcoholic condition that all consciousness is lost. This kills two flies with one swatter, as the patrol conductor is laboriously forced to drag you by the collar to the patrol and from the patrol into the "bull pen."

It is also less trying for the desk sergeant, patient clerk of the city hotel, as he is spared listening to a treatise on why you are not guilty and should be allowed to leave.

On the other hand, the most painful way to enter headquarters is to embark upon a too eloquent debate with the arresting officer as to the merits of the department and this officer's efficiency in general and to try kicking said policeman's shins or busting his face.

The only one that can get away with that stuff with a patrolman is a woman. Even then, an occasional bachelor copper, who is not used to it, loses control of himself.

There has never been a man brought into the Omaha central station to this day who was intoxicated, according to his own statements. There have been few who have admitted that the charge scrawled by the sergeant after their names was right.

So don't feel insulted or that your case is of importance to any but yourself. It is the popularly formed plan that the whole case should be argued ies, snatch the telephone and call the commissioner or any friends you may have on the force and explain your predicament to them.

Threaten the whole police department with a legal suit should they proceed in this outrage against your person.

Try to make a break for liberty. Demand to be informed of the amount of your bond as soon as possible, or a little sooner.

It is not proper, when being searched, to attempt to replace the articles removed from your pockets to their original location. This is "aggravating" to the desk sergeant who, if you persist, might slap you on the wrist.

If any glassware, in pint or half-pint sizes, is found on your person, always register complete and horrified surprise.

If the officer does not find as much money in your pockets as you think you should have, always accuse him of taking the difference.

He smiles and humors the "trade" and jokes with the culprit before him but don't forget that he is duly empowered and quite able to toss some sound logic philosophy your way.

Do not mistake the sergeant's silence following your brilliant tirade, as assent and start to leave. He is merely waiting for his helper to escort you out of the bull pen up the elevator and to your cell.

Of course you can tack frills to your role of persecuted innocence at will. One brilliant "line" to follow is to demand, on entrance into the station, in loud tones, to see the captain, or perhaps the police commissioner. Narrate to the desk sergeant the details of your years of friendship with either of these worthies, snatch the telephone and call the commissioner or any friends you may have on the force and explain your predicament to them.

Threaten the whole police department with a legal suit should they proceed in this outrage against your person.

Try to make a break for liberty. Demand to be informed of the amount of your bond as soon as possible, or a little sooner.

It is not proper, when being searched, to attempt to replace the articles removed from your pockets to their original location. This is "aggravating" to the desk sergeant who, if you persist, might slap you on the wrist.

If any glassware, in pint or half-pint sizes, is found on your person, always register complete and horrified surprise.

If the officer does not find as much money in your pockets as you think you should have, always accuse him of taking the difference.

He smiles and humors the "trade" and jokes with the culprit before him but don't forget that he is duly empowered and quite able to toss some sound logic philosophy your way.

Do not mistake the sergeant's silence following your brilliant tirade, as assent and start to leave. He is merely waiting for his helper to escort you out of the bull pen up the elevator and to your cell.

Of course you can tack frills to your role of persecuted innocence at will. One brilliant "line" to follow is to demand, on entrance into the station, in loud tones, to see the captain, or perhaps the police commissioner. Narrate to the desk sergeant the details of your years of friendship with either of these worthies, snatch the telephone and call the commissioner or any friends you may have on the force and explain your predicament to them.

Threaten the whole police department with a legal suit should they proceed in this outrage against your person.

Try to make a break for liberty. Demand to be informed of the amount of your bond as soon as possible, or a little sooner.

It is not proper, when being searched, to attempt to replace the articles removed from your pockets to their original location. This is "aggravating" to the desk sergeant who, if you persist, might slap you on the wrist.

If any glassware, in pint or half-pint sizes, is found on your person, always register complete and horrified surprise.

If the officer does not find as much money in your pockets as you think you should have, always accuse him of taking the difference.

He smiles and humors the "trade" and jokes with the culprit before him but don't forget that he is duly empowered and quite able to toss some sound logic philosophy your way.

Do not mistake the sergeant's silence following your brilliant tirade, as assent and start to leave. He is merely waiting for his helper to escort you out of the bull pen up the elevator and to your cell.

Of course you can tack frills to your role of persecuted innocence at will. One brilliant "line" to follow is to demand, on entrance into the station, in loud tones, to see the captain, or perhaps the police commissioner. Narrate to the desk sergeant the details of your years of friendship with either of these worthies, snatch the telephone and call the commissioner or any friends you may have on the force and explain your predicament to them.

Threaten the whole police department with a legal suit should they proceed in this outrage against your person.

Try to make a break for liberty. Demand to be informed of the amount of your bond as soon as possible, or a little sooner.

It is not proper, when being searched, to attempt to replace the articles removed from your pockets to their original location. This is "aggravating" to the desk sergeant who, if you persist, might slap you on the wrist.

If any glassware, in pint or half-pint sizes, is found on your person, always register complete and horrified surprise.

If the officer does not find as much money in your pockets as you think you should have, always accuse him of taking the difference.

He smiles and humors the "trade" and jokes with the culprit before him but don't forget that he is duly empowered and quite able to toss some sound logic philosophy your way.

Skull of Man Who Lived 150,000 Years Ago Found in Ecuador

New York, Dec. 7.—A skull which he believes to be of the Pleistocene period and consequently shows that man lived on the western hemisphere 100,000 to 150,000 years ago, was brought back recently from Ecuador by H. E. Anthony, assistant curator of the American Museum of Natural history, it was announced.

Some scientists hold that man began to live on the new world 20,000 years ago. The skull was discovered in fossilized lava with the bones of pre-historic animals. If his theory is borne out when the skull is thoroughly examined, Mr. Anthony said the discovery will have been the most important in 50 years.

Many Killed in Fort Blast. Bucharest, Rumania, Dec. 8.—An explosion occurred in Fort Decu on the outskirts of Bucharest at 6:30 o'clock this morning. It is reported there was great loss of life.

THE BRANDEIS STORE

Household Necessities to Help Make Home Life Comfortable

Give Her a Voss Washer for Christmas

The Spirit of Christmas is to make others happy. Is there anything that would make her happier than to buy her a Voss electric washing machine? Because it saves her time and work, a gift of this kind will be remembered long after the day is forgotten.

78⁰⁰

The Voss Electric Washer is Highest in Quality—Lowest in Price

It puts within reach of the modest income a washer that offers every feature of handiness and durability found in most expensive types. The main reasons of our extremely low prices on our different types of machines is due to the construction and our method of selling, namely, we do not pay enormous commissions to agents or solicitors to sell our products.

We have a washer to suit every need and income and they are sold on very convenient terms.

Fifth Floor

A Sewing Machine Would Make an Appropriate and Appreciated Christmas Gift

A Domestic "69" Sewing Machine

Either electric or foot-power or combination electric and foot-power, all the same high quality. The Domestic has been built for over 60 years, but is better than ever now. We will store any style until you want delivered, without any charge.

Domestic "Sit-Rite"

No better gift can be bought for wife, mother, daughter or sister than this domestic "Sit-Rite," guaranteed for life. Ball bearing. Free service and lessons. We are enabled to sell a real high grade machine at this price because we have no agent's commissions to pay.

15⁰⁰ For your old machine regardless of Age make or condition on any Domestic "69" electric. Convenient terms.

55⁰⁰

Fifth Floor

Wall Paper—An Opportunity to Brighten Your Home at Normal Cost

A Selection of Desirable Papers—Suitable for all rooms; unusual values; special, per roll. 4c

For the Bedroom—All choice colorings and designs, with matched borders, per roll. 7c

Popular Papers—For the parlor, hall and dining room this selection is the most striking value of the season; all papers sold with borders; worth to 34c; per roll. 12 1/2c

Fifth Floor—West

TOYLAND

13 More Shopping Days Before Xmas
Shop in the Morning for Your Convenience

THE BRANDEIS STORE

There's a World of Toys

In our Eighth floor Toyland. There's a real circus that reminds you of the old time sawdust ring.

How wonderfully happy it will make the kiddies! On tables, counters and shelves have been spread out just the "bestest" toys that Santa in his wisdom is able to provide. There is brightness everywhere; an atmosphere of jolly anticipation reigns in this biggest and most brilliant of Toy worlds.

Our Toyland Photographer will be on hand to take the picture of your child sitting on Santa Claus' knee. He will sell you two of these pictures for 25c.

Toyland—Eighth Floor

TOYLAND