Little Theater Needs Local Support

An appeal to members and friends of the Drama League to support the first effort toward a local Little Theater, made in the presentation of three one-act plays at the Brandeis theater this evening, was issued yesterday by the board of directors of the league. The statement is as follows: "The Drama League wishes to appeal to its members and friends for the hearty support of the first performance of the Little Theater at the Brandeis theater Thursday evening, December 13.

"The board of directors has assumed the responsibility of financing this movement and is dependent upon the attendance of the members to make it a success. It is hoped that every member will feel this a personal invitation," says Mrs. Arthur Gilou, president of the Drama League.

"The seats are now on sale at the Brandeis for the nominal sum of 25, 35 and 75 cents.

How to Stop Sour Stomach

Chronic With Many People—Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Bring Quick Comfort—Sweeten and Stop Acid, Sour Risings and Such Dyspeptic Distress.

When the fact is considered that even careful people, those who follow diet rules, get attacks of indigestion, no argument is needed to recommend the best means of relief. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are used by lawyers, doctors, teachers, by business men, high-livers, society women, industrial workers, clerks, and the worst abused stomachs in the world, those of a host of travelers.

For thirty years people have learned that they may eat what they like or what is set before them, and no matter what the condition of the stomach, if due to dyspepsia, these wonderful tablets stop gasiness and sour risings, give the stomach the alkaline effect which overcomes acidity and thus they either avoid distress after eating or else they quickly relieve it. Be fortified. Get a 60-cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at any drug store and arm yourself against indigestion.

Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry

For real effectiveness, this old home-made remedy has no equal. Easily and cheaply prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Anyone who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It is very easily prepared, and there is nothing better for coughs.

Into a pint bottle, put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, the full pint saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and disappear. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments. To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

"A Frightful Comedy of Pirates"

These are reproductions of the posters being used by Miss Marguerite Beckman, director, for the play "Wap-pin' Wharf" which she presented at Columbus, Neb., last night for the business women of that city. "A Frightful comedy of pirates" it is, according to notices. M. M. Levinge did the drawings.

Frederic McConnell, former Omaha, now in charge of the Community Theater movement in Cleveland, O., presented this play last year, and the June number of Theater Magazine carried an interesting account and pictures of it.

The Business Woman's club of Columbus is 100 per cent alive, according to Miss Heckman. It will present Miss Florence Macbeth this year on a concert course. Miss Macbeth appeared here last year at the Auditorium under auspices of the Omaha Business and Professional Women's division of the Chamber of Commerce.

Russian Atmosphere Pervades Faculty Tea

Bright Russian embroideries, the property of faculty ladies, decked the parlors of Conkling hall at the University of Nebraska college of medicine yesterday afternoon for the Russian tea given by the University Women's club. The enormous samovars, which also hailed from the soviet republic, steamed with tea for the company.

Mrs. Sergius Morgulis, who was born and educated in Russia, read an extremely interesting paper on Russian literature, in which she described the works of four great Russian novelists and showed how they exemplified the chief characteristics of Russian literature. Pushkin, Gogol, Dostoevski, and Turgenieff were the quartet she discussed.

Historical wealth, cosmopolitanism, intensity, realism, and sympathy were cited by Mrs. Morgulis as the principal qualities of Russian literature. In Russia, she claimed, literature has a more important place than in any other country, since on account of the lack of freedom of expression, fiction and the drama were the means, under the old regime, of propagating new political and economic theories. The fact that nearly all Russian authors spoke several languages besides their native tongue and were familiar with other literatures gives to their works an unprejudiced breadth and universality not attained to the same degree by the literary men of other countries.

A singular intensity, due to the national temperament, pervades the work of the typical Slav author, preceded the speaker. The Russian writer is sometimes wrong but never uninteresting. Turgenieff, for example, does not make you weep for the wrongs of the serf, but he leaves you with the feeling that you want to do something about it. Just what it should be he leaves you to think out for yourself. The Slavic intensity expresses itself in a simplicity and realism which give to their works a remarkable impression of actuality.

Yet the principal impression carried away by a foreigner is one of intense gloom, said Mrs. Morgulis. The cornerstone of Russian literature is suffering, and its message is one of pity, sympathy, and love for all mankind.

Faculty daughters served an elaborate tea in Russian costumes with enormous full sleeves gay with peasant embroideries in the jolliest of reds, blues, and greens, in full dark skirts and aprons as ornate as the blouses. Several of these costumes were imported from Russia and others were copies of Russian originals. The young ladies who served were Misses Ellen Stearns, Mary Elizabeth Jonas, Edwina Morgulis, Ruth Willard, Perdita Wherry, Jane Bliss, Sarah Rich, Helen Nielsen, and Frances Brown.

Hostesses at the tea were Mesdames Alfred Brown, C. R. Kennedy, H. W. Potter, and W. H. Taylor.

Women's Press Club.

Miss Irene Franklin, headliner at the Orpheum theater, was the guest of the Women's Press club at the Brandeis tea room yesterday noon and gave amusing reminiscences of her childhood on the stage.

Although she is the author of 30 successful children's songs and enacts the parts of children frequently in her monologues, Miss Franklin says that she almost never plays with children and knows nothing about them.

Unusual Concert by Friends of Music

A musical event was the presentation of Harriette Clark-Helgren, pupil of Miss Mary Munchhoff, by the Friends of Music Wednesday morning at the home of Mrs. Margaret J. Hynes. Numbers were also given by the Reese string quartet, including Mrs. Ernest Reese, first violin; Miss Frida Paustian, second violin; Miss Anne Coughlan, viola, and Mrs. Martin Donlon, cello. Mrs. Reese and Miss Coughlan played obligatos for two of Mrs. Helgren's numbers. Mrs. R. K. Werdorff of Council Bluffs accompanied. All the musicians were received with warm enthusiasm.

Ricardo Martin, Metropolitan singer, who appeared in concert in Council Bluffs Wednesday night, was a guest at the morning musical program.

One of Mrs. Helgren's numbers, "Song of April," was composed by Mary Turner Salter of Williamstown, Mass., sister of Mrs. Charles Morton, Sr., of Omaha, and a frequent visitor here. "Cry of Rachel," which Mme. Schumann-Heink sings, is one of Mrs. Salter's best known numbers.

"We try to give the numbers less frequently heard," commented Mrs. A. V. Kinsler, president, at the close of the program. Such was Mrs. Helgren's "Cradle Song" by Brahms. The melody is taken from an ancient song.

"Joseph, dearest Joseph mine, Help me rock him, baby mine; God's reward will, too, be thine. In heaven above, the Virgin's son, Maria."

A singular intensity, due to the national temperament, pervades the work of the typical Slav author, preceded the speaker. The Russian writer is sometimes wrong but never uninteresting. Turgenieff, for example, does not make you weep for the wrongs of the serf, but he leaves you with the feeling that you want to do something about it. LeRoy Meisinger, Miss Edith A. Lothrop, Mr. and Mrs. Roy G. Pierce and Mrs. I. N. Knapp.

Colored tulle neckwear that swatches the throat snugly and is caught at one side with a bar of flowers, and has two long ends that fall one in front and one in back, is wonderfully becoming, particularly to the more mature woman. The same style can also be had in cream colored lace for less formal wear.

Yuletide Gaiety at Business Women's Dinner

"Christmas is a coming in," as shown by the Yuletide dinner of the Business and Professional Women's division of the Omaha Chamber of Commerce last night in the chamber dining room.

The room was lighted by red candles which stood in four crystal candlesticks on every table. The chandeliers were masked in Christmas greens, from which fluttered a quantity of crimson streamers. Red bells swung from garlands festooned along the wall. The climax was a huge Christmas tree, scintillating with colored lights, which gleamed at the end of the room.

At each place a holiday card served as cover to a group of Christmas carols. These were sung after dinner to the leadership of a Santa who bore a remarkable resemblance to Charlie Gardner, and who hailed with him a sack of presents for members of the division. Solo dances from the winter scene of the high school pageant, "The Seasons," were performed.

Miss Selma Ohlfs, former secretary of the division, who was obliged by ill health to give up her position, was its guest at the party. Miss Ohlfs, who is an invalid, was carried upstairs to the dining room by her hostess, Mrs. Verette Bacon, that she might be present at the event.

Four Technical high school teachers were also entertained by the division. They were Miss Mary Irene Wallace, Mrs. Fred Ellis, Mrs. Mus-selman and Miss Ruth Rockwood.
