

Patrolman Is Freed From Theft Count

Received $1,000, Though, to Get Liquor Suspect Out of Jail, Testimony Shows.

After Joe Gata, 1302 South Sixth street, was sentenced to four months in jail on a liquor charge in federal court last year Joe Vincini, former police emergency officer, went to Gata's wife and offered to get him out for $1,000. He was given the $1,000.

After serving 15 days of his four-month sentence Gata was released from county jail.

These facts were brought out in municipal court Saturday where Vincini was charged with grand larceny. He was dismissed for lack of evidence. He claimed he gave back the $1,000 to Mrs. Gata. She alleged he gave only $500 of the amount.

Plays "Fixing."
"It has been shown that $500 at least was returned to Mrs. Gata," the judge said in dismissing the case against Vincini, "and Mrs. Gata further testified that she was willing Vincini should have the other $500 for his trouble."

"How can these foreigners have any respect for the laws of the United States when somebody with a little better education can go and pull the strings and get them out of jail after the courts have put them in?"

"This 'fixing' has probably been going on for some time. As a side kick to the prohibition law, we need a law to take care of these things. The foreigners don't understand. All they know about the law is the judge who puts them in jail and the money that gets them out."

Serves Only 16 Days.
Mrs. Gata testified through an interpreter that after her husband was sentenced to jail, her brother, Sam Pugnar, told her that Joe Vincini could get him out. She paid Vincini $1,000 for that purpose, she said, when Vincini told her he knew a man who would write a letter that would get her husband out.

Vincini, Mrs. Gata testified, went to the county jail to see her husband, and demanded $500 more from him, which was refused.

However, after serving 16 days of his sentence, Gata was released December 16, 1923.

Attorneys Get $800.
Attorneys retained by Gata during his trial, claimed the credit; it was testified, and demanded $800, which was paid to them. When the Gatas complained to Joe Vincini, Mrs. Gata said, he gave back $500 of the $1,000.

Joe Vincini, on the stand, said he read of the Gata case in the paper while he was ill at his home, and that later he went to see William Maloney, manager of the Unit Land and Cattle company. Together, he said, they went to see Andrew Gallagher, a bondsman, and they agreed to obtain Gata's release for $1,000.

Vincini then informed Mrs. Gata of the price of her husband's release, he said. Later he gave Mrs. Gata back the $1,000 in 10 $100 bills, at the home, in the presence of his wife and mother, he testified.

Had Six Children
Gallagher, called as a witness, explained that he is only a bondsman, and that Maloney explained the case to him, saying the Gatas were poor, and had six children, the oldest 13, one of whom was ill, and that Christmas was coming on and they needed help.

Records in the office of the United States marshal at the Federal building show that Gata was sentenced to four months in jail and fined $1,000 on the liquor charge against him on November 23, 1922. Sentence was suspended for seven days, and he began serving it December 1, 1922. He was released December 6 by order of the federal court, and his fine was set aside.

Records in the office of the clerk of the federal court also show the sentence, and indicate that he was to serve 30 additional days in jail in lieu of the fine. He was released from jail by court order.

No explanation was appended to the order releasing Gata. Federal Judge Woodrough was in Des Moines Saturday.

The arresting officer in the case was C. E. Vogel, dismissed from the service at the same time as Earl Hanning, former prohibition officer, accused of intimacy with Louise Vinson, alleged "queen of the bootleggers."

The attorney who tried the case in federal court was George Mencham.

Nelson Terkelsen Dies.
Nelson Terkelsen, 55, died Friday at the residence of Police Lieut. A. T. Sigwart, 1321 South Tenth street. He is survived by one uncle, Morris Terkelsen. Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 2, at the Bralley & Dorrance chapel. Burial will be in Prospect Hill cemetery.

Tuberculosis
A successful home treatment for Tuberculosis has been perfected by Dr. Wm. Whittington. This treatment has been thoroughly tested. Its merits are being PROVEN every day. The most skeptical will be CONVINCED. Effective in any climate.

Send for Free Booklet
Suite 333 Commonwealth Bldg.
DENVER, COLORADO

KALIS' FLU-CAPS
for colds grip & influenza
A strictly meritorious remedy that has proven of inestimable value in combating all sorts of colds in head or chest. They quickly break up colds and grip and prevent the "flu."
50c a Box at Your Druggist

Hawaiian Serenaders at Brandeis Restaurant

Musical strains from the strings of steel guitars and ukuleles in addition to the regular symphony filled the Brandeis restaurant Saturday noon and evening.

Prince Lei Lani, tenor from Hawaii, and his Royal Hawaiian Serenaders have been engaged to entertain the diners. This new orchestra will play alternately with Randall's royal orchestra.

There are seven in the Hawaiian orchestra, including two girls who dance. All are natives of Hawaii and formerly played in the original Bird of Paradise company. The formal opening for the extra musical engagement will be held Monday.

The restaurant has been decorated with colored glasses and palms. An extra platform for the Hawaiian orchestra has been built.

Kennedy will give the welcoming address. Matthew Hale, president of the South Atlantic States association, will speak on "Co-Ordination of Inland and Ocean Transportation." Frank B. Willis, chairman of the Midwest Foreign Trade committee, will also speak.

Grape Juice Man Charges Frameup
Cotton Resting in Cell But Says He Doesn't Know Why.

Belief that the arrest of every representative of Grein & Pahlis, Chicago, manufacturers and distributors of California "wine grape juice," in Omaha was the result of animosity on the part of a man who was unable to buy the Nebraska agency, was expressed by James J. Dolling, one of the men arrested Saturday.

Fort C. Cotton, factory representative, the only one to be in jail, declared that he could not account for the arrest.

"The grape juice is being sold in practically every state in the union," he said. "Nowhere else has it been questioned. We did not tell customers that the grape juice could be made into wine. We simply said that should certain things be done, the juice would ferment like any other fruit and would develop an alcoholic content."

The men now under arrest on charges of conspiring to violate the prohibition amendment are: Ford C. Cotton, J. J. Dolling, Frank Sayles, Floyd Sweetwood and G. E. Slaughter. Cotton and Slaughter are held under $3,000 bonds, while the others were permitted to sign their own bonds of $1,000 each.

Robert Samardick informed the men after he had been informed that the grape juice was marketed with the understanding that it could be made into wine easily. He is holding one can of the beverage as evidence.

Bradute to Speak.
O. H. Bradute, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, will be one of the principal speakers at the midwest foreign trade conference to be held December 17 and 18 at the Hotel Pontenelle. Seventy-five men are expected to attend. John L.

Chicago, Dec. 15.—Former Director of the Budget Daves had not been advised of the possibility of his being invited to act as unofficial representative on the international committee to investigate Germany's finances he said today. Decision in the matter, he added, must await official confirmation of the invitation.

Baby Marie Here.
Baby Marie Osborne, child actress of the screen, arrived in Omaha yesterday accompanied by her mother and little sister, Gloria. The family was met by Mr. Osborne, who has been in Omaha for a week. They will remain here for a short time before going to New York City, from where they will start on a trip around the world. Marie, who is 11 years of age now, will make personal appearances in all the principal cities of the world.

German University Closes.
By Universal Service.
Berlin, Dec. 15.—The Prussian government plans to close the university at Frankfurt-On-Main because of a lack of funds. The university has 2,000 students and is known to be of a liberal character and is the only one in Germany run in accordance with an American model.

Christmas Ships Sail.
London, Dec. 15.—Christmas ships for America will steam out today with many citizens aboard anxious to eat Christmas dinner on their native soil.

6 Men, One Woman in Auto Roundup
Six men and one woman have been arrested in the last two days by detectives of the auto theft bureau, for investigation in connection with automobile thefts. They are Blanche Miller, Sunshine apartments; Frank Foley and Charles Smith, same address; Boyce Killan, 1115 Douglas street, and M. B. Lytle, Gay Parsons and William Hydizer, 112 South Twenty-sixth street.

So far detectives have been unable to connect them with any auto thefts.

Sunny Sunday.
Fair weather for Sunday was promised by the weather man, M. V. Robins today. It will be sunny, he said, without much change in temperature.

Meet Will Be Dry.
Columbus, O., Dec. 15.—Prohibition laws will be strictly enforced during the republican national convention at Cleveland June 10, State Prohibition Director B. F. McDonald announced today.

"The republicans are entitled to strict enforcement of the prohibition laws," Mr. McDonald said. He indicated that some of his most efficient enforcement officers will be assigned during the convention.

Commissioner McDonald asserted that large conventions heretofore have attracted large numbers of bootleggers and caused customary rules of conduct to be forgotten, which he gave as one of the reasons for assigning men to Cleveland during the national convention.

H. J. Lee Building on Tax List by Error
Building owned by the H. J. Lee estate, and listed in the scavenger tax list with property on which taxes have not been paid, was so listed through error, it was announced Saturday at the office of the county treasurer, Otto Bauman.

In the rush of business at the office, it was explained, the taxes were not entered at the time they were paid, and the description of the property was taken from the records for the scavenger list before the entry appeared.

Campus Love Idyl Ends in Divorce Suit
Learning Crowded Sweet Nothings Out of Young Doctor's Head, Wife Testifies in Court.

Romance born of classroom and campus, with the heroine footing the bills, crashed Friday in divorce court.

Mrs. Alyce Roper, who testified she had paid her husband's way through a Creighton medical course for four years, only to find him grown cold with graduation, testified to abuse and neglect at the hands of her lover, Kenneth L. Roper, now a struggling young doctor in Chicago.

"Once, last summer," she related, "when I was in the hospital recovering from an operation, mother and I telegraphed him that I needed money and was ill. He replied that he was sorry but couldn't do anything."

She said they had been married in Papillion, August 20, 1915, and that they separated the first time in June, 1922.

"He went to Chicago. I followed him, and five times on one excuse or another he sent me back home. One time he would say it was too hot there for me—again he would not have money to support me."

Indignation flashed in her eyes, shaded piquantly in shadows of her blonde hair and tipped taupe tresses, her youthful dimpled chin nestled deep in the protecting depths of the huge fur collar of her heavy coat, she poised one satin slippers foot in recollection and—
"—and he beat me," she testified. "When I was helping him through school he often beat me. Many times I have had both eyes blackened and been bruised all over my body."

M'Shane Estate Totals $400,000
Widow and Son-in-Law Are Named Administrators by Will.

Will of John A. McShane, retired Omaha capitalist, disposing of an estate estimated to be worth $400,000, was filed for probate Saturday in county court. Mr. McShane died November 10 of this year.

The will names Kathryn V. McShane, the widow, and Willard D. Hosford, a son-in-law, administrators and trustees. It stipulates that the widow is to be paid from $15,000 to $25,000 a year during her lifetime, and in event of her death, the remainder of the estate is to go to a daughter, Mary Lee Hosford.

In the event of her death, the estate goes to her children, Willard D. Hosford, Jr., 11, and Kathryn Hosford, 3.

Phoenix Hosiery
The Christmas Gift "Par Excellence"
A Complete Holiday Showing—all sizes, all colors and shades—Silks, Silk and Wool, and Wool
Mens 40 to 200
Womens 55 to 395
Children 55 to 175
Two Stores
1509 Farnam - 1908 Farnam
Pray for Men & Women
Mail orders given careful attention

Fair Weather Due Until Wednesday
Washington, Dec. 15.—Weather outlook for the week beginning Monday: Upper Mississippi and lower Missouri valleys: Generally fair first of week and unsettled thereafter, probably rains or snows about Wednesday or Thursday. Temperature normal or above first part and colder thereafter.

Northern Rocky mountain and plateau regions: Occasional rains at snows in west and generally fair east of divide except probably snow about middle of the week. Temperature above normal at beginning and considerably colder thereafter.

Southern Rocky mountain and plateau regions: Generally fair except snow over north portion about the middle of the week; temperature normal or above first part and colder thereafter.

Pacific states: Occasional rains except snow in the mountains; temperature about normal except colder latter parts over north portion.

Patrolman Is Freed From Theft Count
Received $1,000, Though, to Get Liquor Suspect Out of Jail, Testimony Shows.

After Joe Gata, 1302 South Sixth street, was sentenced to four months in jail on a liquor charge in federal court last year Joe Vincini, former police emergency officer, went to Gata's wife and offered to get him out for $1,000. He was given the $1,000.

After serving 15 days of his four-month sentence Gata was released from county jail.

These facts were brought out in municipal court Saturday where Vincini was charged with grand larceny. He was dismissed for lack of evidence. He claimed he gave back the $1,000 to Mrs. Gata. She alleged he gave only $500 of the amount.

Plays "Fixing."
"It has been shown that $500 at least was returned to Mrs. Gata," the judge said in dismissing the case against Vincini, "and Mrs. Gata further testified that she was willing Vincini should have the other $500 for his trouble."

"How can these foreigners have any respect for the laws of the United States when somebody with a little better education can go and pull the strings and get them out of jail after the courts have put them in?"

"This 'fixing' has probably been going on for some time. As a side kick to the prohibition law, we need a law to take care of these things. The foreigners don't understand. All they know about the law is the judge who puts them in jail and the money that gets them out."

Serves Only 16 Days.
Mrs. Gata testified through an interpreter that after her husband was sentenced to jail, her brother, Sam Pugnar, told her that Joe Vincini could get him out. She paid Vincini $1,000 for that purpose, she said, when Vincini told her he knew a man who would write a letter that would get her husband out.

Vincini, Mrs. Gata testified, went to the county jail to see her husband, and demanded $500 more from him, which was refused.

However, after serving 16 days of his sentence, Gata was released December 16, 1923.

Campus Love Idyl Ends in Divorce Suit

Learning Crowded Sweet Nothings Out of Young Doctor's Head, Wife Testifies in Court.

Romance born of classroom and campus, with the heroine footing the bills, crashed Friday in divorce court.

Mrs. Alyce Roper, who testified she had paid her husband's way through a Creighton medical course for four years, only to find him grown cold with graduation, testified to abuse and neglect at the hands of her lover, Kenneth L. Roper, now a struggling young doctor in Chicago.

"Once, last summer," she related, "when I was in the hospital recovering from an operation, mother and I telegraphed him that I needed money and was ill. He replied that he was sorry but couldn't do anything."

She said they had been married in Papillion, August 20, 1915, and that they separated the first time in June, 1922.

"He went to Chicago. I followed him, and five times on one excuse or another he sent me back home. One time he would say it was too hot there for me—again he would not have money to support me."

Indignation flashed in her eyes, shaded piquantly in shadows of her blonde hair and tipped taupe tresses, her youthful dimpled chin nestled deep in the protecting depths of the huge fur collar of her heavy coat, she poised one satin slippers foot in recollection and—
"—and he beat me," she testified. "When I was helping him through school he often beat me. Many times I have had both eyes blackened and been bruised all over my body."

Mother Testifies.
Mrs. Arthur Mongene, 632 South Twenty-sixth avenue, called to the stand, corroborated her daughter's testimony.

"One night I went to my daughter's home and found her ill from a beating administered by her husband. I stayed with her all night," Mrs. Mongene testified.

"He never did support my daughter."

Mrs. Roper asks restoration of her maiden name, Alice Mongene. Judge Day took the case under advisement.

Sunny Sunday.
Fair weather for Sunday was promised by the weather man, M. V. Robins today. It will be sunny, he said, without much change in temperature.

Meet Will Be Dry.
Columbus, O., Dec. 15.—Prohibition laws will be strictly enforced during the republican national convention at Cleveland June 10, State Prohibition Director B. F. McDonald announced today.

"The republicans are entitled to strict enforcement of the prohibition laws," Mr. McDonald said. He indicated that some of his most efficient enforcement officers will be assigned during the convention.

Commissioner McDonald asserted that large conventions heretofore have attracted large numbers of bootleggers and caused customary rules of conduct to be forgotten, which he gave as one of the reasons for assigning men to Cleveland during the national convention.

H. J. Lee Building on Tax List by Error
Building owned by the H. J. Lee estate, and listed in the scavenger tax list with property on which taxes have not been paid, was so listed through error, it was announced Saturday at the office of the county treasurer, Otto Bauman.

In the rush of business at the office, it was explained, the taxes were not entered at the time they were paid, and the description of the property was taken from the records for the scavenger list before the entry appeared.

Campus Love Idyl Ends in Divorce Suit
Learning Crowded Sweet Nothings Out of Young Doctor's Head, Wife Testifies in Court.

Romance born of classroom and campus, with the heroine footing the bills, crashed Friday in divorce court.

Mrs. Alyce Roper, who testified she had paid her husband's way through a Creighton medical course for four years, only to find him grown cold with graduation, testified to abuse and neglect at the hands of her lover, Kenneth L. Roper, now a struggling young doctor in Chicago.

"Once, last summer," she related, "when I was in the hospital recovering from an operation, mother and I telegraphed him that I needed money and was ill. He replied that he was sorry but couldn't do anything."

She said they had been married in Papillion, August 20, 1915, and that they separated the first time in June, 1922.

"He went to Chicago. I followed him, and five times on one excuse or another he sent me back home. One time he would say it was too hot there for me—again he would not have money to support me."

Fair Weather Due Until Wednesday

Washington, Dec. 15.—Weather outlook for the week beginning Monday: Upper Mississippi and lower Missouri valleys: Generally fair first of week and unsettled thereafter, probably rains or snows about Wednesday or Thursday. Temperature normal or above first part and colder thereafter.

Northern Rocky mountain and plateau regions: Occasional rains at snows in west and generally fair east of divide except probably snow about middle of the week. Temperature above normal at beginning and considerably colder thereafter.

Southern Rocky mountain and plateau regions: Generally fair except snow over north portion about the middle of the week; temperature normal or above first part and colder thereafter.

Pacific states: Occasional rains except snow in the mountains; temperature about normal except colder latter parts over north portion.

Meet Will Be Dry.
Columbus, O., Dec. 15.—Prohibition laws will be strictly enforced during the republican national convention at Cleveland June 10, State Prohibition Director B. F. McDonald announced today.

"The republicans are entitled to strict enforcement of the prohibition laws," Mr. McDonald said. He indicated that some of his most efficient enforcement officers will be assigned during the convention.

Commissioner McDonald asserted that large conventions heretofore have attracted large numbers of bootleggers and caused customary rules of conduct to be forgotten, which he gave as one of the reasons for assigning men to Cleveland during the national convention.

H. J. Lee Building on Tax List by Error
Building owned by the H. J. Lee estate, and listed in the scavenger tax list with property on which taxes have not been paid, was so listed through error, it was announced Saturday at the office of the county treasurer, Otto Bauman.

In the rush of business at the office, it was explained, the taxes were not entered at the time they were paid, and the description of the property was taken from the records for the scavenger list before the entry appeared.

Campus Love Idyl Ends in Divorce Suit
Learning Crowded Sweet Nothings Out of Young Doctor's Head, Wife Testifies in Court.

Romance born of classroom and campus, with the heroine footing the bills, crashed Friday in divorce court.

Mrs. Alyce Roper, who testified she had paid her husband's way through a Creighton medical course for four years, only to find him grown cold with graduation, testified to abuse and neglect at the hands of her lover, Kenneth L. Roper, now a struggling young doctor in Chicago.

"Once, last summer," she related, "when I was in the hospital recovering from an operation, mother and I telegraphed him that I needed money and was ill. He replied that he was sorry but couldn't do anything."

She said they had been married in Papillion, August 20, 1915, and that they separated the first time in June, 1922.

"He went to Chicago. I followed him, and five times on one excuse or another he sent me back home. One time he would say it was too hot there for me—again he would not have money to support me."

Indignation flashed in her eyes, shaded piquantly in shadows of her blonde hair and tipped taupe tresses, her youthful dimpled chin nestled deep in the protecting depths of the huge fur collar of her heavy coat, she poised one satin slippers foot in recollection and—
"—and he beat me," she testified. "When I was helping him through school he often beat me. Many times I have had both eyes blackened and been bruised all over my body."

Mother Testifies.
Mrs. Arthur Mongene, 632 South Twenty-sixth avenue, called to the stand, corroborated her daughter's testimony.

"One night I went to my daughter's home and found her ill from a beating administered by her husband. I stayed with her all night," Mrs. Mongene testified.

"He never did support my daughter."

Mrs. Roper asks restoration of her maiden name, Alice Mongene. Judge Day took the case under advisement.

Sunny Sunday.
Fair weather for Sunday was promised by the weather man, M. V. Robins today. It will be sunny, he said, without much change in temperature.

Meet Will Be Dry.
Columbus, O., Dec. 15.—Prohibition laws will be strictly enforced during the republican national convention at Cleveland June 10, State Prohibition Director B. F. McDonald announced today.

"The republicans are entitled to strict enforcement of the prohibition laws," Mr. McDonald said. He indicated that some of his most efficient enforcement officers will be assigned during the convention.

H. J. Lee Building on Tax List by Error

Building owned by the H. J. Lee estate, and listed in the scavenger tax list with property on which taxes have not been paid, was so listed through error, it was announced Saturday at the office of the county treasurer, Otto Bauman.

In the rush of business at the office, it was explained, the taxes were not entered at the time they were paid, and the description of the property was taken from the records for the scavenger list before the entry appeared.

Campus Love Idyl Ends in Divorce Suit
Learning Crowded Sweet Nothings Out of Young Doctor's Head, Wife Testifies in Court.

Romance born of classroom and campus, with the heroine footing the bills, crashed Friday in divorce court.

Mrs. Alyce Roper, who testified she had paid her husband's way through a Creighton medical course for four years, only to find him grown cold with graduation, testified to abuse and neglect at the hands of her lover, Kenneth L. Roper, now a struggling young doctor in Chicago.

"Once, last summer," she related, "when I was in the hospital recovering from an operation, mother and I telegraphed him that I needed money and was ill. He replied that he was sorry but couldn't do anything."

She said they had been married in Papillion, August 20, 1915, and that they separated the first time in June, 1922.

"He went to Chicago. I followed him, and five times on one excuse or another he sent me back home. One time he would say it was too hot there for me—again he would not have money to support me."

Indignation flashed in her eyes, shaded piquantly in shadows of her blonde hair and tipped taupe tresses, her youthful dimpled chin nestled deep in the protecting depths of the huge fur collar of her heavy coat, she poised one satin slippers foot in recollection and—
"—and he beat me," she testified. "When I was helping him through school he often beat me. Many times I have had both eyes blackened and been bruised all over my body."

Mother Testifies.
Mrs. Arthur Mongene, 632 South Twenty-sixth avenue, called to the stand, corroborated her daughter's testimony.

"One night I went to my daughter's home and found her ill from a beating administered by her husband. I stayed with her all night," Mrs. Mongene testified.

"He never did support my daughter."

Mrs. Roper asks restoration of her maiden name, Alice Mongene. Judge Day took the case under advisement.

Sunny Sunday.
Fair weather for Sunday was promised by the weather man, M. V. Robins today. It will be sunny, he said, without much change in temperature.

Meet Will Be Dry.
Columbus, O., Dec. 15.—Prohibition laws will be strictly enforced during the republican national convention at Cleveland June 10, State Prohibition Director B. F. McDonald announced today.

"The republicans are entitled to strict enforcement of the prohibition laws," Mr. McDonald said. He indicated that some of his most efficient enforcement officers will be assigned during the convention.

Commissioner McDonald asserted that large conventions heretofore have attracted large numbers of bootleggers and caused customary rules of conduct to be forgotten, which he gave as one of the reasons for assigning men to Cleveland during the national convention.

H. J. Lee Building on Tax List by Error
Building owned by the H. J. Lee estate, and listed in the scavenger tax list with property on which taxes have not been paid, was so listed through error, it was announced Saturday at the office of the county treasurer, Otto Bauman.

In the rush of business at the office, it was explained, the taxes were not entered at the time they were paid, and the description of the property was taken from the records for the scavenger list before the entry appeared.

Campus Love Idyl Ends in Divorce Suit
Learning Crowded Sweet Nothings Out of Young Doctor's Head, Wife Testifies in Court.

Romance born of classroom and campus, with the heroine footing the bills, crashed Friday in divorce court.

Mrs. Alyce Roper, who testified she had paid her husband's way through a Creighton medical course for four years, only to find him grown cold with graduation, testified to abuse and neglect at the hands of her lover, Kenneth L. Roper, now a struggling young doctor in Chicago.

"Once, last summer," she related, "when I was in the hospital recovering from an operation, mother and I telegraphed him that I needed money and was ill. He replied that he was sorry but couldn't do anything."

KIDDIE CARS
Velocipedes, Bicycles, Scooters, Doll Buggies, Wheeled Toys. We Can Save You Money
NEB. MOTORCYCLE & BICYCLE CO.
1812 Howard Opp. Gas Office

FINEST IN THE MIDDLE WEST
One of the Best Co-Operative Systems
BEATTY'S Henshaw Cafeteria
In Henshaw Hotel

In