Settlement by Committee Fails With Charge Body Stacked With Puritans.

By Associated Press.

Los Angeles, Dec. 18 .- Settlement of the "blue law" controversy here between civic organizations and the city council seemed even more remote today following a stormy meeting last night of a mixed committee representing both sides, which disbanded noisily after charges were hurled that the body was "stacked" with "puritanical" partisans.

The committee met in the city hall o discuss revision of an ordinance prohibiting public dancing after midnight. Stringent enforcement of this measure at the motion picture directors' ball Thanksgiving eve precipitated the fight now being waged.
