Veterans Can't Hold Up Forever-Lack of Junior Raquet Wielders to Take Their Place.

By VINCENT RICHARDS. New York, Dec. 21 .- During the past season tennis experienced its year. Stars from England, Australia, Japan and many other countries were found struggling courts for that world-famous trophy-the Davis cup.

America retained its supremacy Tilden, Johnston, Williams and myself, personnel of the team, were able to hold this precious trophy against the onslaught of the Australian aggregation only after a terrible struggle But what of 1924 and the years to Mickey Walker in Bad come? Is America in position to retain the international trophy after the present stars pass out of the p.c

ture? Johnston, foremost defender of the cup for the last eight years, seems to be close to the well known Walker, the welterweight champion, toboggan slide.

Certainly Big Bill Tilden cannot de- be administered a severe rebuke at fend the bowl all by himself. He the hands of Newton A. K. manifested by the younger element the champion, but now his ire is that embryo titleholders started to aroused, and the commissioner has spring up on all sides. But of late years this movement attention has been paid to it in the last few years. The result is immediately shown in the records for the last season. Only one youngster showed any marked improvement during the season just finished. Carl Fischer, intercollegiate titleholder, is the boy referred to.

It has become almost a habit with us during the last two years to speak of the superiority of American tennis. But so far as the future is con-cerned, an analysis of the situation clearly shows that we are harboring a feeling that is not warranted. Unless the junior movement is kept active throughout the country in the cisions. tive throughout the country in the country in the next year or two we are likely to sur-render the international cup to some to the old system of one-man decision, the referee only to decide bouts.

Strand Breaks Records Salt Lake City, Dec. 21 .- Prob ably no other ball player in the history of the national game made more records in a season than did Paul Strand, the Salt Lake City outfielder, who will perform for Connie Mack's Athletics in 1924. Possibly some of his records have been overlooked in the shuffle, but here goes for a resuma: Strand made 325 base hits, new world record. He bettered his own world's record of 1922 by 36 hits; led the Pacific Coast league in batting with an average of .394; was the first player in the history of the league to lead the circuit in hitting and scoring home runs two years in succession; scored 180 runs, a new world's record; batted in 187 runs, which was 47 more than his nearest competitor; made 43 home runs, which was 10 above the former Coast league record. Had 612 "accepted" chances; ' a new world's record. Retired 599 batsmen on fly balls, a new world's record; registered 122 extra base hits and hit for a total of 546 bases.
