Income Tax Forms Changed

Time to File 1924 Returns Starts January 2—Blanks Are Simplified.

Washington, Dec. 26.—A week from yesterday, just when the Christmas bills begin to come in, Uncle Sam will start reminding 7,000,000 taxpayers it's time to figure up 1923 income.

The period for filing income tax returns is from January 1 to March 15. On January 2, the first being a holiday, forms for filing individual corporation partnership, personal service corporation, information, fiduciary and other returns required by the revenue act, will be available at the offices of collectors of internal revenue throughout the country.

At the same time the internal revenue bureau will start mailing forms to the approximately 7,000,000 taxpayers who filed returns this year for 1922 incomes. This year the individual taxpayer will not need a chart and compass, lawyer and encyclopedia to make out his return.

Form 1040A, heretofore used for filing returns of individual net income of $5,000 and less, from whatever source derived, has been revised and simplified for the benefit of salaried persons and wage earners, the largest class of taxpayers.

Three Questions to Answer.

The new form consists of a single sheet, with space porvided for answers to only three questions in relation to income. They are salaries, wages, commissions, etc., interest on bank deposits, notes, mortgages and corporation bonds, and "other income." All instructions are on the reverse side.

Heretofore form 1040A has consisted of six pages, with innumerable questions pertaining not only to salaries and wages, but to income derived from business, professions, sales of real estate and other sources.

Seventy per cent, or close to 5,000,000 of those who annually are required to file income tax returns will use the new form, revenue officials estimate. It being impossible this year to determine the form required by the taxpayer, the bureau will mail to each person on last year's list a copy of 1040A and also of form 1040, required in cases where the net income was in excess of $5,000 and whether derived from salary or wages, business or profession or other taxable sources.

Nebraska Bar to Hold Convention

State Association to Meet in Lincoln Friday and Saturday.

The 24th annual meeting of the Nebraska State Bar association will be held at Lincoln Friday and Saturday. Problems of importance to the lawyers of the state will be discussed at this meeting.

Richard F. Stout, chairman, will give a report of the committee on legislation. "We recommend that an act be passed by the legislature prohibiting a lawyer residing and admitted to practice in another state appearing as counsel in any actions in the courts of Nebraska, unless he has associated and appearing with him in the action a lawyer duly admitted to practice in the courts of Nebraska," will be one of the resolutions urged.

Charles P. Anderbery will give a report of the committee on inquiry. T. C. Munger, judge of the United States district court of Nebraska, will talk on "A Visitor's Impression of Foreign Court," and Robert E. Lee Saner, president of the American Bar association, will give an address on "The Vision of Our Fathers and Present Day Visionaries."

Members of the Nebraska State Bar association will be entertained at the following places during the two days: Friday noon luncheon, alumni of the University of Nebraska College of Law; annual banquet, Association of District Judges. The 24th annual dinner of the association will be held Saturday. Judge Frederick Sheperd of Lincoln will preside.

Samuel J. Lewis Dies.

Denver, Colo., Dec. 26.—Samuel J. Lewis, state printing commissioner and widely known newspaper man of the state, died here today.

He was a story writer, many of his stories having appeared in various magazines of the country. He was a nephew of Alfred Henry Lewis, noted writer, who died a few years ago.

In addition to his widow he is survived by a brother, who is engaged in newspaper work in New York city.

Christian Raab Dies.

Christian Raab, 69, resident of Omaha for 14 years, died Tuesday at his residence, 2415 South Eleventh street. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Raab, and two sons, William and Joseph. Funeral services will be held at the residence Thursday morning at 8:30, with burial in S. Mary Magdalene cemetery.

Boy Trained in "Fagin" School by Seattle Man Admits 100 Robberies

Santa Monica, Cal., Dec. 26.—Kurth Kelm, 18, who says he came here from Chicago five months ago, has confessed to more than 100 burglaries in southern Californio cities, according to the police. He was arrested in his room here yesterday.

Kelm told police he received the training for his robberies in a "Fagin" school conducted by an aged man in Seattle. Officers found the door to Kelm's room barricaded and threatened to shoot through the door before he surrendered.

According to police, Kelm confessed to scores of robberies committed in and around Los Angeles. The youth declared that not a day passed but what he had burglarized one or more rooms.

To Determine Germany's Ability to Pay

Owen D Young, Charles G Dawes & Mortimer Schiff (Bel...)

Brig. Gen. Charles G. Dawes, Chicago banker and first director of the United States budget, will be chairman of the American experts who will join the allied experts in determining Germany's ability to pay reparations. Owen D. Young, of New York City, chairman of the board of directors of the General Electric company of Schenectady, N. Y., will be a second member, and Mortimer Schiff, New York financier, is likely to be the third.

New York —Day by Day—

By O. O. McINTYRE.

Houston, Tex., Dec. 26.—Houston is very much like a home town to me. Yet I had never visited it before. When I started on my little adventure in self syndication one of the first editors to throw out a life-line was M. E. Foster of the Chronicle. His paper has used my articles ever since.

Houston is also the home of Bill Hogg, whose guest I am while here. Bill was also with me in Mexico City. A New Yorker—Bill spends most of his time in the east—has described him exactly with "Bill spends half his time helping the other fellow and the other half trying to give the impression he's hard boiled.

Houston retains the pristine charm of the old south. There is a subtle breathlessness among the moonlight and palm trees and the fine homes looming through the dimness. I went to sleep re-reading "Huckleberry Finn" and was awakened by the song of a thrush outside the window.

At night Houston gives one the impression of a sleeping giant ready for an alarming awakening. There is a touch-and-go in the business district. It is not a boom town, but marches steadily onward. There be beggars here and slums, but I have not seen either. That is pleasant after Mexico.

In the morning I visited Rice institute—one of the great educational institutes of America. I had met Dr. Lovett, the president, in New York and was happy to renew our acquaintance. Beyond the institute are rows of the cleverest electrical signboards I have seen in America. It is fairyland that would do credit to the stagecraft of a Belasco.

Houston is the home of two of America's foremost paragraphers—Judd Mortimer Lewis and George M. Bailey. They are journalistic troubadors who vibrate wit, cheer and kindly philosophy. Rare, kindred spirits.

The wild duck season is on here and you see returning hunters with autos strung with their kills. In New York one pays $6 for a roasted duck. Down here a hunter gives you a brace of them in the same fashion that a New Yorker gives you a match.

The New Yorker at times has to go away from his island to see the tragedies of Broadway. At one of the theaters here I saw two actors once starred in their own productions. One, indeed, has a theater that bears his name. They are traveling as headliners in a hodge podge revue. Their wallop is gone. They are forced to play in what they always called "the sticks." The welcome they now receive is from those they once looked upon with amused tolerance. Professional death on Broadway is the hardest thing the actor faces. To him Broadway is the only street in the world.

I doff my hat to Slim, a waiter in a quick lunch place in the center of town. He serves conversational cheer along with food. He is known to almost every one in Hounston. Slim is built for speed and he serves a long line of customers in a manner that bespeaks artistry.

Novelists and moving picture caption writers are often referring to the typical Texas drawl. I have failed to hear it. People here have about the same inflection as northerners. They are not quite so free with their "r's," but they haven't a drawling manner of speech.

And I haven't found a Texan who carries a six-shooter when he is in town. In fact I have talked to innumerable Texans who have never fired a pistol.

Beaver City Farmer Dies.

Beaver City, Neb., Dec. 26.—E. R. Bruening, 52, prominent farmer, died suddenly at 7 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Shortly after midnight he had wished his family merry Christmas He leaves a wife and three children.

Bank Robbed Twice.

By Associated Press.

St. Louis, Dec. 26.—The Park Savings Trust company in the southwestern part of the city, was robbed for the second time in less than two months today when bandits stole $600. On November 6, $2,300 was taken.

Thieves Rob Safe and Get $10,000

Prowlers Enter Home Christmas Morning—Cash and Stock Certificates Missing.

While Ernest Hess, wealthy peddler, and his family were at church Christmas morning, thieves entered their home at 3508 South Twenty-sixth street, worked the combination of a small safe in the dwelling and escaped with $175 in cash and jewelry and stock certificates valued at $20,000, he reported to police.

Entrance to the home was gained through a rear door.

The stock certificates represented shares of stock in various companies, purchased by Hess over a period of years.

Included in the robbery were three negotiable notes, on which Hess hopes to be able to stop collection. They were a note of the Mutual Livestock bank for $1,200; a not for $10,000 negotiated through the bank of Mead, Neb., and a note of Fred Witzig, a relative, for $4,000.

Stocks reported stolen from the safe include 12 shares of the Higgins Packing company, 10 shares of L. V. Nicholas Oil company, 12 shares of the Alimito Dairy company, 10 in the American Live Stock company, 12 in the Overland Rubber and Tire company, and 10 in the Skinner Packing company.
