Mellon Bill Cannot Pass Written

G. O. P. Leaders Admit, for First Time, Rates of Reduction, Particularly on Surtaxes, Must Be Changed.

But Coolidge Stands Pat

By International News Service. Washington, Jan. 12.-Republican leaders in congress publicly admitted tonight for the first time that the Mellon reduction bill could not be passed as written, and that the rates of reduction particularly on surtaxes which Mellon prescribed, would have to be altered materially.

Coming on the heels of the White House announcement of last week that President Coolidge is uncom promisingly opposed to any exten sive tinkering with the rates proposleaders tonight was disconcerting to cratic leaders, that the surtaxes proposed by Mellon will have to be ad vanced materially beyond the 25 per Ex-Senator Allen cent maximum before either house or senate will agree.

"We are considering the Mellon bill as a suggestion to the ways and means committee," said Representative Nick Longworth, republican Nebraska Jurist Is Victim of
