An unidentified "traveling saleswoman" is touring the small towns in Nebraska soliciting patients for illegal operations to be performed by an Omaha doctor.

This information was furnished County Attorney Deal Friday. Investigations were started immediately.

When the patients are brought to Omaha, all the movements are carefully camouflaged. The operation is performed in a private house especially maintained for this purpose. If death results from the operation, the parents are told, it is certain that they will cover the cause of death to shield a family member. Oftentimes, the case is given to another doctor, who guards his reputation by concealing the real cause of death.

Five letters telling of the location about the city of "baby" houses, as they are called by the informers, have been received by the county attorney. The houses were put under surveillance at once. The county attorney's office is also investigating certain doctors, who have been charged in the letters with practicing criminal operations.

"The scent is growing stronger," declared Mr. Deal last night. "I believe we will be able to turn the spotlight on several Omaha doctors with in a few days."

The case of a girl who died recently and whose body was quickly taken to Iowa is now being investigated.

Every death reported by hospitals undergoes the closest scrutiny of officials.

"We're going to plunge to the bottom of this thing," said the county attorney. "There evidently has been more deaths resulting from criminal operations in this city than we first imagined."

"I believe absolutely all the reports that are coming to me, and I am sure they reveal but a portion of the actual cases."

Preliminary hearing in municipal court of Dr. F. A. Edwards and Mrs. Lillian Child, jointly charged with the murder, while performing an illegal operation, of Lillian Holman, has been postponed until next Wednesday.

In his broadside launched at the foreign policy of the present administration, he condemned the United States attitude toward the present Mexican situation as "immoral if not illegal."

The senator criticized what he termed the attitude of the recent presidential message which he said told the government must aid the farmer by obtaining for him lower freight rates and by scrutinizing the spread between production and consumption and promoting cooperation among the farmers and its self-cooperating with them.

Use of Leisure Problem of Day

Ballard Dunn of The Omaha Bee Says Jazz Result of Unrest.

Jazz is the result of industrial conditions of modern life, and one of the greatest problems of today is the proper use of the leisure time of the worker, Ballard Dunn, editor-in-chief of The Omaha Bee, told members of the Continental club at luncheon yesterday.

Mr. Dunn stated that the day's work in previous generations met the muscular demands of the worker, who was ready to "lie down to pleasant dreams" after a quiet evening hour. Today, he outlined, there is a demand for jazz in some form to satisfy the jangled nerves.

"Modern life must provide better things for the leisure time of the workers," he said.

Son of Pioneer.

Mr. Dunn, who was introduced by C. Z. Gougl, chairman of the January group, expressed the hope that he will become better acquainted with the members of the Continental club and other organizations striving to improve Omaha. He asserted that he appreciated the spirit of the west, which is manifested in Omaha, and added that his father and uncle came here in 1865 in a spring wagon. The development of this western empire, within the memory of some men now living, was referred to briefly, particularly with reference to transportation.

"Transportation makes our modern civilization what it is," he added. "Former civilizations may have been greater in art, philosophy and beauty, but we know that the ancients sustained an industrial system by a regime of force. We have a different conception of what constitutes labor, and we still have those who devote their lives to the cultural side, although their reward does not always seem to be commensurate. Under modern civilization, most of the red blood is going into industry. Men of capacity are devoting themselves to industry, and when they occasionally take part in public life, they are timorous. These leaders of industry should be the center of the policy-making activities of our country; they should be brought in with a welcome. That condition will be brought about, I think, through the organization of industry."

Mr. Dunn explained that the retailer should be and will be better informed on buying and general conditions, to prevent overloading his stocks and the resultant extension of credit which he must seek from the banks.

Girl, 9, Wanted Hair Bobbled; Locks Stolen

Julia May Carter, 9, 3715 Hamilton street, whose long curly hair was cut off within a few inches of her head while she was on a shopping tour with her mother Friday, is somewhat put out.

Not at the loss of the hair. Oh, dear, no! But whoever cut it off didn't leave it even around the edges.

Julia has wanted her hair bobbed for a long time. Saturday morning she was endeavoring to prevail upon her mother to have it really bobbed—just like the grown-up girls. Her mother was noncommittal.

Julia says the thief who stole her hair must have snipped it off while she was somewhere on Sixteenth street, in the 10-cent store or in the street car.

The photographs show Julia with her curls and also as she looks today.

Grand Island Bank Is Closed

Officers estimate loss of 50 per cent to stockholders—'Frozen' paper blamed.

By Associated Press.
Grand Island, Neb., Jan. 19.—The Grand Island National bank, oldest banking institution in the city, failed to open its doors this morning. The capital stock was $100,000, with surplus of $125,000. At the time of its last statement, December 31, its loans totaled $1,167,014, with total deposits of $1,013,630.

Officers Estimate Loss of 50 Per Cent to Stockholders— 'Frozen' Paper Blamed.

"Frozen" paper and an unfortunate situation arising out of the death of its recent president, C. J. Miles, are attributed as the main causes. Much stock being in the hands of the Miles estate, it has been difficult to perfect a working organization.

Officers and members of the local clearing house have been holding day and night meetings for two days in a fruitless effort to find a way in which to save the institution.

Since the death of Mr. Miles Vice President A. B. Newell has been in charge. Finding conditions becoming more critical some months ago, he made a valiant effort to raise money to bring the bank's resources into more liquid form. Finally Newell took into his confidence the other banks of the city. Every detail was placed before them. As much aid as possible was offered by other banks, but this method, without reorganization, it was agreed, would serve only to delay the fatal day.

U. P. Trackage in Omaha Is Ample

No Building Program Contem- plated—No Reduction in Employees.

Extensive construction by the Union Pacific to increase trackage and build up industries along its line that is under way in Kansas City is not necessary in Omaha to obtain the same results, declared Carl Gray, president of the road, Friday.

"In Kansas City, we are shut off on one side by bluffs and on the other side by other railroads. The result was that we were unable to develop industries along our own rails.

"With the development of the Fairfax drainage district of about 1,300 acres into a definite industrial center, we expect to assume a greater part in the shipping, terminal and industrial growth we believe Kansas City is going to experience in the next few years. It must be remembered, that Kansas City is our gateway to the south and southwest.

"Our tracks in Omaha are not wedged in. We are open. Industrial Omaha has ample room in which to expand. There is the valley south of Omaha for many miles. To the north there is also plenty of room for almost any type of industry. The Union Pacific here has the greatest number of industries on its tracks. In Kansas City, we had the least number."

Mr. Gray denied reports that the road was laying off men.

"Of course, at the beginning of the severe weather each year, we suspend much of the road work in the open, because of the frozen condition of the ground. To offset this we have added to the machinist force."

Sues Doctor For Removing Appendix Claims Operation Should Have Been for Other Purpose.

Estimating the value of her appendix at $12,000, a young woman in the middle west brought suit against a doctor for removing her appendix without her consent. The doctor's action was held to be a tortious act and a COMPLETE removal of the appendix was ordered.

A Tronchous Disease.

Appendicitis attacks at any moment even persons seemingly in good health. Usually, however, it is preceded by so-called stomach trouble, constipation or similar disturbance. When it strikes it is a warning feeling of uneasiness in the abdomen, appendicitis can be guarded against in the same manner in which one guards against the spread of infection because that is just what appendicitis is—an infection in the intestine spreading to the appendix.

When one has severe trouble, one can often prevent further trouble by using an antiseptic wash or enema to fight the germs and a laxative to carry off the poisons from the body.

The same procedure is necessary to fight the intestinal germs and guard against appendicitis. But instead of an antiseptic wash for the throat, an INTERSTITIAL antiseptic is necessary.

Intestinal Antiseptic.

There is now offered to the public a preparation having the POSITIVE action of an intestinal antiseptic and a COMPLETE system cleanser. This preparation, known as ADLERKA, is a constant surprise to people who have found nothing to see in such a stomach medicine, on account of its rapid, pleasant and COMPLETE action. It is sold by leading druggists everywhere.
