our. Heavy Outgo of Cotton. A statistical report came from the cen-us bureal this week that explained the sharp rise in December's merchandise optimized the statement on domestic cotton consumption. It was shown that $46,581 bales of that commod-liy had been exported last month, the largest outgo in more than a year and 233,000 bales more than the total for December, 1922. With prices very much higher than they were in the earlier year, this increas is exports of cotton obviously was a big factor in swelling the strengties value of shipments of all ar-ticles last month. The figures on con-sumption were of a different character. They showed 461,580 bales consumed by Ares than the November consumption and lights that the below that of December, 1922. Yet the trade had expected a larges decrease and prices rose for a time, though the galn was not h eld.
