By DAVIS J. WALSH. EW YORK, Jan. 29.—Quite an adequate idea of what your worthy Uncle Samuel may be able to produce at the Olympic games will be gained within the next two days at the Millrose meet, starting tonight at Madison Square garden. Always the bellringer of the indoor season, the games have taken on added significance this year because of the proximity of the international championships. The Millrose meet is frankly a test of America's strength or weakness in track and field
