

Doctor Says Man Died of Poisoning

Lincoln Resident Found Unconscious on Street—Post-Mortem to Be Made.

By Associated Press.
Lincoln, Jan. 31.—A. L. Billington, 27, who was found unconscious on the sidewalk here last night, died of poisoning, Dr. W. H. Slattery, police surgeon, declared today.
The young man was found about 9:30 last night by a pedestrian. Billington was unconscious. The police ambulance was called and he was taken to a hospital where he died early this morning without regaining consciousness. Persons at his home declared he left there at 7 last night, not saying where he was going.
The police surgeon announced this afternoon that he was convinced that Billington died of poisoning. What poisoning caused the death, the doctor was unable to state, as only a brief examination of the body has been made. Dr. Slattery said a post-mortem examination would be made later.

Woman Is Found Dead on Table by Her Husband

His Suspicions Aroused When Phone Calls Not Answered Open Gas Jets in Stove Caused Death.

Mrs. Pauline Bundy, 31, was found dead on the kitchen table of her home at 636 North Forty-third street shortly after 11 yesterday afternoon by her husband, Sam O. Bundy.
Mrs. Bundy had been despondent as a result of ill health, her husband said.
When he went to work this morning she complained of not feeling well. He telephoned her at 9, and she said she felt no better. She told him she was going to lie down, and that if he called and got no answer, he would know she was in bed.
He called the house again at noon and got no response. When he called at 12:30 and no one answered, he became alarmed. He hurried home. His wife was dead. Gas was pouring from a burner of the gas stove in the kitchen.
Mrs. Bundy had no children of her own, although Bundy has a daughter, 12, from a previous marriage.
Paul Steinwender, deputy county attorney and acting coroner, said probably no inquest will be held.

Appointment of Corey Argued in Committee

By P. C. POWELL.
Washington Correspondent The Omaha Bee
Washington, Jan. 31.—After two hours spent in argument the senate committee on banking and currency recessed until tomorrow without taking any action on nominating Merton L. Corey of Omaha and other members of the Farm Loan board to the senate for confirmation.
Senator Borah insisted on cutting the membership of the board to five while Senator Brookhart urged that the board manage its business on a more co-operative basis. He asserted that many more bonds could be sold to farmers direct than were being sold by Charles E. Lohdell, fiscal agent, through New York bond handling institutions.
George Norris of Philadelphia, a member of Federal Reserve board, and formerly a member of the Farm Loan board, defended the board's work and asserted that everything possible had been done to make the Farm Loan board's work co-operative. He asserted that the two additional members and the $25,000 a year fiscal agent were necessary.
Nearly all members of the board and Charles E. Lohdell were present at the hearing. The committee will meet tomorrow again to consider the Borah bill and the nominations.
