Historian Speaks at Lincoln Day Dinner.

Carl Russell Fish, head of the American history department at the University of Wisconsin, will be the speaker at the Lincoln day dinner of the University club at the club rooms Tuesday, February 12.

Dr. Fish will be known to many Omahans through his books, "The Path of Empire," "A Guide to the Study of American Diplomacy," and "The Development of American Nationality." His textbooks in history are used in the history classes taught by Mrs. Hanchett and patronized by many Omaha women. His course on "Civil War and Reconstruction" is said to be one of the most inspiring at the University of Wisconsin.

Arthur Wells, head of the speakers' committee of the University club, will be in charge of the Lincoln day program. The affair is open to members of the University club, their wives and guests.

Y. W. C. A. President

Mrs. F. W. Carmichael was elected president of the Omaha Young Women's Christian association at its election yesterday morning. She succeeds Mrs. Palmer Findley, whose term as director expired recently.

All other officers of the association were re-elected. They are Mrs. A. W. Bowman, vice president; Mrs. M. D. Hammond, recording secretary; Mrs. James Patton, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. C. M. Wilhelm, treasurer.

McCormack Coming

John McCormack, celebrated singer, will appear in Omaha on April 19, at the Municipal auditorium under the auspices of the Omaha Council of Catholic Women, it is announced. Further arrangements for the concert will be made public shortly.

Dine Little Sisters

Thirty-eight members of the Big Sisters organization are expected to entertain a "little sister" at their dinner this evening at 6:30 in the Y. W. C. A.

Red, white and blue decorations will be used throughout. Fancy caps with gay cockades in patriotic color will be worn by the guests, while favors at each place will be mamma dolls and chimes.

The feature of the program is a playlet, "The Three of Us," by Misses Blanche Kerschner, Henrietta Gutshall, and Ferra McCrory. Miss Jeanette McDonald will be in charge of games.

Rt. Rev. E. V. Shaylor, bishop of the Episcopal diocese, and Thomas Kelley, who are guests of the club, will give talks. Dr. Frank G. Smith and Rev. Paul Calhoun will also be present.

Mrs. Harry Johnston leaves early next week for Atlanta, la., to visit her mother, Mrs. Cora Burt.

Go on War Path for Liguance Concert

The Omaha Business Women's club has gone on the war path to put across the Thurlow Liguance Indian music concert on February 18 in the Brandeis theater.

Following a powwow early this week, the members of the club have organized themselves into 12 Indian tribes for the purpose of selling tickets. Chiefstains are announced as follows: Miss Marina Fodge, big chief of the Utes; Miss Emma Worm, of the Chippewa; Miss Doris E. Hendrick of the Osage; Miss Ora Johnson, of the Navajo; Mrs. Fannie MacDermard, of the Omaha; Miss Grace Roberts, of the Winnebago; Mrs. Lulu Hunt Trabold, Sioux; Miss Harriet Curtis, Iroquois; Ruth Irene Hilton, Cherokee; Mrs. Doris Alexander Talley, Pueblo; Emma S. Stinson, Mohicans; and Ruth Leisure, Cheyenne.

The big chiefs are making a diligent study of the habits of their particular tribes and of Thurlow Liguance and his music as well. Enthusiasm among their attendant braves is being raised to the whooping point.

Mrs. Rose E. Leidig, grand sagnore of the whole concern, announces as her special committee the Misses Emma Farm and Belle Bliss, in charge of mailing advertising matter, and Miss Cecile Lyon, in charge of ticket distribution.

War Mothers' Head

Mrs. W. M. Roth was recently installed as president of the Omaha chapter of the American War Mothers.

Other officers for the year are Mrs. Charles Hinzle, first vice president; Mrs. Frances Kerrigan, second vice president; Mrs. C. P. Weeks, recording secretary; Mrs. Charles Haarman, treasurer; Mrs. A. H. Burr, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Anna Leaverton, custodian of records; Mrs. J. H. Shields, historian; Mrs. J. F. Meredith, chaplain; Mrs. A. Anderson, hospitals; Mrs. Florence Meadows, publicity; Auditors are Mrs. Iram Craig, Mrs. Ed. Finney and Mrs. George Browning.

Chairmen of committees include Mrs. William Ebert, welfare work; Mrs. Ed. Finney, home and home; Mrs. J. Mead, constitution; Mrs. R. J. Miles, co-operative.

Miss Frances Johnson will present a number of her piano pupils in recital on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 at her home.

The Why, When and Where of Fashions

Rhinestones and Crystals. Glass and paste were used thousands of years ago for jewelry, but because men had not yet learned the secret of cutting and polishing hard precious stones. Later they were employed as more or less successful and inexpensive imitations of precious jewelry.

The coloring of glass for beads and medallions was known as far back as 2,000 years ago. The monks around 1100 A. D. made saffron yellow and crimson glass.

Briani, in Venice, invented in 1280 the so-called "aventurin" which contains minute metal crystals. A German by the name of Weidenhammer rediscovered in 1520 the blue glass of the ancient Romans. Two Englishmen, Clifford and Paulden, invented in 1661 crystal glass which was known to the Venetians centuries before. Dr. Andreas Cressius of Hamburg invented the ruby glass in 1676.

Rhinestone, which is used more extensively than any other paste for imitation jewelry, was invented in 1810 by Joseph Strauser in Vienna. After the name of this inventor the French and Germans still call the composition "strasse."

Weymuller-Alexander

A coast-to-coast romance reached its consummation when Miss Caroline Alexander, Portland, Ore., became the bride of Dr. C. A. Weymuller, formerly of Omaha, at Marble Collegiate church, New York city, at high noon on January 19. The ceremony was performed by Dr. Daniel A. Poling.

Only relatives and close friends were present at the ceremony. Miss Constance Alexander attended the bride, while Dr. D. R. Weath was best man.

After a brief honeymoon in Washington, D. C., the couple returned to New York city, where Dr. Weymuller will continue his research and teaching at the department of children's diseases of Cornell university medical college.

The bride was a member of the Delta Gamma sorority at Oregon and is a graduate of Oregon university and the Boston Children's Hospital training school. Dr. Weymuller graduated from the University of Nebraska medical college, and is son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Weymuller, 1303 Emmet street, Omaha. He is a member of Nu Sigma Nu and Silver Lynx fraternities.
