Whenever I've been happy In a fashion slightly snappy. And I realize a pang of conscience prods, In order to relieve me Of compunctions that aggrieve me, I make oblation to my little gods; And my system of contrition Is to pick my own punition, For I find it leaves my soul as good as new. If I seek that shrine of beauty Widely advertised as Duty, And select myself a dirty job to do! After all my maddest revels I attack domestic devils, I clean the ice box till it's spick and span;

Or I resolutely scrub Underneath the bathroom tub,

Though I know 'twill ne'er be seen by mortal man.

I acquire a headache, bending O'er a seam that has no ending. Oh, I castigate myself time after time! And I search subconscious byways Finding certain secret sly ways To make my retribution fit my crime.

So the self that's Puritanic Strives to pay for pranks Satanic And oftentimes the balance sheet is clear, While again, a slight digression From the pathway of discretion, And I find myself most sadly in arrear Should you question if quite lately I have squandered profligately, On advice of counsel I'd refuse to say; You must draw your own conclusion From the end of this effusion-I'm entertaining my in-laws today!
