

America's Fairest Basketball Team—New York university girls' varsity basketball team. These girl athletes were recently granted official varsity recognition when the university decided to place athletics for co-eds upon a varsity basis. Girl athletes at N. Y. U., will therefore be given the opportunity to win and wear the coveted college letters. Left to right in the group are shown Manager Lillian Linhardt, Elsa Brinn, left forward; Kate Bodenstein, guard; Capt. Edith Ramsey, side center; Rehene Landsman, center; Claire Strassman, right forward, and Stella Zins, guard.

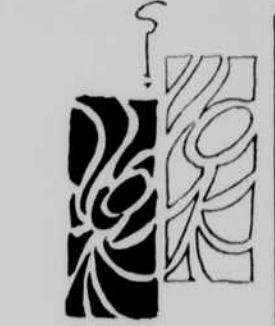

Miss Ruth St. Denis, dancer supreme, with Ted Shawn and their notable company of artists, will appear at the Brandeis the nights of Tuesday and Wednesday February 19 and 20. Altrusa club of Omaha is sponsoring the Denishawn program here, their share of the proceeds to be used in an educational fund.

Woman Makes Shop Wall Look Like Armory of Ancient Days—The photo shows Miss Florence Owens decorating the exterior wall of Sam Ziegler's curio shop in the Bronx, with helmets, ancient daggers and slave chains, and other old and time-worn instruments. The exterior of the little building reminds one of the wall of an ancient armory, bedecked in trophies of war. Needless to say, this is a sight that attracts much attention.

Very Chesty Is This Giant—Photo shows Sigmund Breitbart, the 36-year-old Polish giant, holding on his chest a motordrome with two men riding motorcycles inside. The act was put on for the first time in America at the Hippodrome, which has been included in the B. F. Keith circuit. The weight held up by the strong man totals 3,500 pounds. The track is 30 feet in diameter.

Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, conducted by Henri Verbrugghen, will appear at the Auditorium the night of February 6 under the auspices of the Tuesday Musical club.
