

Miners' Meet Ends in Riot

Howat Dragged From Platform After Refused Reinstatement.

By Associated Press.
Indianapolis, Feb. 2.—Amid riotous scenes the biennial convention of the United Mine Workers of America was declared adjourned sine die by President John L. Lewis at 10:45 a. m. today. Adjournment was announced by the president while the delegates howled as Alexander Howat, deposed president of the Kansas district, was dragged from the platform by two sergeant-at-arms.

Howat sought to address the convention on the report of the appeals and grievances committee which refused to consider a plea for his reinstatement in the union. While the shouting was going on, President Lewis declared that a vote taken on the committee's report showed its adoption.

The president hammered in vain for order and then declared the convention finally adjourned. Delegates favoring the administration left the hall but insurgent leaders passed around word that a rump convention would be held.

For unsightly skin eruptions, rash or blotches on face, neck, arms or body, you do not have to wait for relief from torture or embarrassment, declares a noted skin specialist. Apply a little Mentho-Sulphur and improvement shows next day. Because of its germ destroying properties, nothing has ever been found to take the place of this sulphur preparation. The moment you apply healing begins. Only those who have had unsightly skin troubles can know the delight this Mentho-Sulphur brings. Even fiery, itching eczema is dried right up. Get a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.

Lack of Leap Year Business Irks Marriage License Clerk

By J. T. ARMSTRONG.

So far leap year has not been a success.

No less authority than Herbert (Cupid) Stubendorf, marriage license clerk, makes this statement.

With the advent of 1924 and the right of young women to speak for themselves, Herbert prepared for a large rush of customers. He sharpened his pencils, procured new pens, points, refilled his ink well and obtained a nice, new, fresh supply of licenses.

But in vain. For instead of a rush there has been somewhat of a slump in the demand for licenses.

Herbert is at a loss to account for this slump. He expected to see breathless young women rushing in, dragging conquered swains behind them. So implicit was his faith in the effect of the newly born leap year that he even expected to have blushing women come in alone for licenses.

Young men frequently obtain licenses before proposing, and Herbert could not see why the girls should not do the same. But nothing of the sort has happened.

"Are the girls shy, or are the men turning down all the proposals?" wonders Herbert. "Or can it be that the fact it is leap year is not well enough known?"

3 Community Centers Meet

Dances, Readings and Music Included on Programs.

Fancy dancing and readings were among the features on the program at Franklin community center Friday night.

Marie Jandrea and Carl Erickson gave piano solos. Rudolph Gasser played several saxophone solos and Mrs. John Britton gave a reading. Marion and Irene Rau danced and Donald Bain played a violin solo. John Healy and Jeanette Lavinson gave readings.

Alphonse Reuners played several harmonica numbers and Molly Buhlan sang a solo. Silvas juvenile entertainers also were on the program.

Dances and music selections were on the program at the Bancroft community center last night. Miss Anna Kozak and Marjorie McElroy gave a piano duet. Charles and Marion Leuz also gave a piano duet. Frank Flaia, accompanied by Miss Flaia, gave a cornet solo.

Pupils of Miss Pauline Capps gave several exhibitions of dancing. Mildred Donelson, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. G. J. Blavka, also danced. Dr. F. C. Armstrong, accompanied by Mrs. Armstrong, sang a number of songs. Victoria Engelthaler, accompanied by Mildred Pryhaska, displayed her talent as a dancer.

The Benson community center stage was used for the first time last night when the regular program was given.

Endless Letter Chain Started

An endless chain of letters on "Know Omaha" week has been started by Harley Conant, member of the committee of the Chamber of Commerce, to be sent out by heads of local organizations with the following creed:

"I will guard against all conversation against or criticism of idle talk about our city, its institutions. I will give every opportunity to encourage optimism, charity and good will, and will talk to those I meet about good things of Omaha, its splendid growth and prosperity in Nebraska."

Brookhart's Son in Class Politics

Ames, Ia., Feb. 2.—Smith Wildman Brookhart, Jr., son of United States Senator Smith W. Brookhart, is breaking into college politics at Iowa State college.

Smith, Junior, is a student in the department of animal husbandry, and he has been nominated for president of the freshman class of the college. An active campaign is being made in his behalf.

Akron Still Walking.

Akron, O., Feb. 2.—Akron began its second day without street cars with little change in the situation. Buses continue to arrive from over the state and fleets of automobiles are traversing the city routes.

The city lost street car service shortly after midnight Thursday when the 25-year franchise of the North Ohio Traction & Light company expired and the company refused to renew it except for a 6-cent rate. The city held out for a "nickel or nothing."

"Let World Be Neighborly"

British Premier, Welcoming U. S. Ambassador, Says U. S. and Britain Solved Problem.

By Associated Press.
London, Feb. 2.—Amplification of Anglo-American friendship into a "neighborliness" that would cement still tighter the relations between the two great English-speaking nations of the world was the general theme taken by speakers at last night's program dinner given in honor of Frank B. Kellogg, the new American ambassador.

But amid the assurances of good will exchanged by Prime Minister MacDonald, Ambassador Kellogg, and Sir Ethne Howard soon to take over his duties as British ambassador at Washington, there was one note of sadness—the critical illness of Woodrow Wilson.

Mr. MacDonald referred with emotion to the former president, saying: "This is a moment when partisanship and party allegiance sink into insignificance. The whole English nation tonight is standing with held breath waiting for further word of this great American. Our party differences flare up like a great beacon and die down like the flames of a great beacon, for what is great and inspiring in the actions of public men belongs not to parties, not to nations, but to the whole of humanity."

Speaking of international relations, Mr. MacDonald said that although the world had not yet discovered how to be neighborly, he thought the United States and Great Britain had gone far in that direction. No firm alliance between the two countries was needed, he asserted, "we are in the position of two peoples who in spirit, by reason of those great moral and spiritual forces which are demanded and narrowed by being written on paper, are prepared to stand side by side, not in political alliance, but in human fellowship, to help each other."

Mr. Kellogg thought Anglo-American relations would profit best "by open and friendly discussion of every question in a tolerant and broad-minded spirit." This he recalled, had been the policy in the past and it had worked well.

Drys to Hold 400 Conventions

Warren S. Stone of Engineers' Brotherhood Endorses Prohibition at N. Y. Meet.

New York, Feb. 2.—The citizen's committee of one thousand, organization of which was completed Friday held its first meeting in the interest of prohibition law enforcement tonight with a dinner at the Hotel Waldorf-Astoria.

Organized under the authority of the citizenship conference at Washington, the committee, comprising a nation-wide membership of both men and women, officially began functioning immediately on installation of Fred B. Smith, a New York businessman and churchman, as chairman. It was announced that 400 conventions would be held throughout the country in the interests of the law enforcement program.

Warren S. Stone, another vice president and president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers was one of the principal speakers. Declaring prohibition had been a boon to working men, and pointing out that the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers began fighting liquor 19 years before the churches themselves began their crusade, Mr. Stone said, "every law breaker, whether rich or poor, should be made to pay the penalty." He asserted that prohibition had come to stay and that those who were "laboring under the delusion that the law will be modified are mistaken."

Many Injured in Fog

Chicago, Feb. 2.—More than 40 persons were injured Friday in accidents of steam railroads, elevated lines and in the streets while thousands of others were delayed on their way to work by one of the heaviest fogs in the history of the local weather bureau.

Twenty passengers on two loop-bound elevated trains were hurt, six of them seriously in a rear end crash. Fifteen persons on an Illinois Central suburban train were injured when another passenger train ran into it from behind.

A trainman was injured seriously and 400 passengers shaken up and frightened when a Chicago & North-western passenger train ran into a freight train.

Five other collisions on the elevated lines, described by officials as "bumps" tied up traffic on the various lines until nearly noon.

Two men were killed and fatally injured in street accidents attributed to the fog and a half-dozen others were reported run down by trucks.

Another fog—probably not as dense as today's—will overspread Chicago again in the morning, according to Weather Forecaster Donnell.

Rum Sleuth of Many Adventures Faces Charge of Manslaughter

Richard J. Hart Set Record in Uncovering Stills on Indian Reservation.

By A. R. GROH.
Richard J. Hart is a young fellow who probably has arrested as many law violators as any other man of his age in Nebraska and whose nerve has never failed him in a tight place.

He is at present special Indian agent watching the liquor traffic on the Winnebago Indian reservation and, incidentally, has a technical charge of manslaughter against him for the death of one, Ed Morva, hit by a bullet from some special officer's gun while he was trying to escape from a bootleg resort in South Sioux City last October.

Richard has had many adventures in the pursuit of Nebraska bad men. He is gifted with a frank, open countenance. Once, while he was a deputy state sheriff, he was working in Morrill county and came upon a man who showed him his "swell little layout down by the creek."

"The layout," said Hart, "consisted of a still, built underground, the fire fed by gasoline from a tank in a tree and the coil running through the wipers of the creek and emptying into an underground tank. It couldn't have been found if I had hunted for it."

When the still had been exhibited by the proud owner, Hart turned over the label of his coat and exhibited his badge, drawing his revolver with the information that the stiller was under arrest. As they rode away from there, the man's partner rode up, and Hart bagged him also.

The following day while he was escorting one of the men from the justice's office to the jail in Bridgeport, Neb., a mob of 20 men confronted him with the demand that he release the prisoner. Hart drew his gun and ordered the men out of his way. They fell back and then demanded that he turn over the prisoner to a deputy sheriff. This officer being pointed out, Hart solemnly swore him in to assist, and finally landed the prisoner in jail. A long state investigation of the action of the deputy sheriff grew out of this affair.

Two Men Held in Ohio Mystery Murder

Canton, O., Feb. 2.—Three Canton detectives left here early today for Columbus where they will ask for extradition papers to bring Henry Kaiser and Frank Kelly back to Canton from Rochester, N. Y., where they are under arrest in connection with the mysterious murder here Wednesday night of Florence Nitman, 21, former resident of Rochester.

The two men held called at Miss Nitman's place of residence Tuesday evening and asked her if she did not want to accompany them in their automobile to Rochester. She declined the invitation, according to Mrs. H. Lowe, cousin of the dead girl.

The postmortem was completed late last night without showing any definite cause of death, according to coroner, T. H. Steub, although marks were found on the girl's neck.

"There is a marked similarity between this case and the murder of Miss Ruth Hunter, whose body was found on a lonely road on January 3," the coroner said.

Candler Suit Letter Battle

Millionaire Produces 32 Mrs. De Bouchel 41 in Heart Balm Case.

By Associated Press.
Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 2.—Trial of the $500,000 breach of promise suit brought by Mrs. Ouzima De Bouchel against Mrs. G. Candler, sr., has developed into a battle of letters in the United States district court here.

Attorneys for the Atlanta millionaire closed presentation of direct testimony without offering a witness and relying upon the evidence adduced through the introduction of 32 letters written by Mrs. De Bouchel to Mr. Candler. In one of them she proposed a secret marriage to be announced after the divorce proceedings from her former husband were assured of a firm legal status.

The plaintiff's counsel immediately opened with rebuttal evidence and 41 letters which she received from Mr. Candler had been read when court adjourned at 2 o'clock for the day.

Mrs. De Bouchel's divorce had been attacked by attorneys for Mr. Candler on the ground that she was not legally domiciled in Nevada at the time the decree was granted.

In reading the letters, plaintiff's counsel intimated that their purpose was to offset the contention of attorneys for Mr. Candler that Mrs. De Bouchel was the aggressor in cultivating the acquaintanceship which led to the engagement to marry. The millionaire's lawyers in reading the letters from the New Orleans society leader had termed them "pursuit letters."

A point arose during the morning's session over the salutation on the letters written by Mr. Candler and read to the jury by Albert Howell, jr., leading counsel for Mrs. De Bouchel, as "My Dear Sweetheart" after a conference between Judge Sibley and Mr. Howell it was agreed that the salutation should read "My Dear Sweet one." That a mistake had been made due to the indistinct character of the handwriting.

Dr. Olga Stastny Visits in Omaha

Dr. Olga Stastny, who has just returned from New York City, where she studied for a few months after returning from relief work in the Near East, was in Omaha Saturday for conference with E. B. Jones of the local Near East Relief committee. She rested for a few hours at the home of Mrs. Ida W. Porter before taking the train for Des Moines. She will return to Omaha in a week for a prolonged stay.

1,399,545 Rail Workers.

Washington, Feb. 2.—Class one railroads of the United States carried 1,399,545 employees on their payrolls last November, according to statistics compiled by the interstate commerce commission. This represented an increase of 75,982 over November, 1922, in the number of employees and an increase of $295,511, or two-tenths of one per cent, in the payroll disbursement.

We Have Found Omaha "A Good Place to Live"

TRAVERSING the years from 1855, when Milton Rogers was the only hardware shop in Omaha with small and humble quarters, able to meet merely the requirements of pioneer days to 1924, in our large, modern stores with stocks adequate to fulfill every requirement, and an organization capable of accommodating every demand for hardware, household utilities, tile construction and furnace installation, we find these 69 years have wrought many changes. But the spirit of service which prevailed at Milton Rogers in '55 and which has made Omaha "A Good Place to Live," has been preserved down through the years and remains unaltered today. Confident of Omaha's future, we give our best to those whom we are privileged to serve.

Mother Day Reception Is Held at Central

Approximately 800 mothers and daughters attended the mother, day reception held Friday at Central High school. The girl students of the school, as well as the boy students, brought their mothers to the school banquet.

"We are just trying to stimulate an interest between the mothers and the faculty of the school," said Jessie C. Towne, dean of girls. Mrs. Ira W. Porter responded to Miss Towne's speech on behalf of the mothers of the Parent-Teacher association. "I hope that the faculty will further its work in helping the Parent-Teacher association," said Mrs. Porter.

The Central High boys and girls glee club sang. Plans are now under way to organize a girls' band at Central. Many girls in Central have talent for using hand instruments.

Immediately following the program, the guests at the reception were entertained at tea by the faculty in the school cafeteria.

Foreigners to Be Told of Omaha

S. E. Nelson, secretary of the Omaha Council of Americanization, has arranged for speakers on "Know Omaha" week at various meetings of foreigners in the city. The Italian people will gather next week to see a film on the subject endorsed by the Italian consul. The Bohemian Turners, eight night schools and the South Side Improvement club will hear some of the speakers next week.
