Parmele Given to 3-Year Term

Former Cass County Bank Head Denied New Trial -Will Appeal.

By Associated Press.

O. Parmele, former head of the Cass

Attorneys for Parmele asked a new trial on the ground that some of the jurors, in affidavits, were of the opinion that the defendant was not given a fair trial. In overruling the motions, the judge criticized the attorneys for what he termed their antiquated methods of procedure.

Motions were made for a new trial for Carl G Fricke, charged with faisifying the books of the Livingston Loan and Building association, which is now in the hands of a receiver Fricke also was found guilty by the jury here.

Parmele was remanded to jail pending the fixing of his appeal bond by the state supreme court at Linoln. He gave notice of an appeal shortly after judgment was passed.
