

Oldest Dated Stone Is Unearthed at Ur—The temple of the Moon God at Ur of the Chaldees, in Mesopotamia, where the joint expedition of the British museum and the University of Pennsylvania has unearthed many new relics of prehistoric days. In the tomb was found the oldest dated stone, a tablet of King A-An-Ni-Pad-Da, about 4600 B. C. The joint expedition has discovered data of vast archaeological value, since the discoveries antedate the Tutenkhamen period by more than 2,000 years.
