

John Drinkwater, Noted Dramatist, Divorced by Wife—Mrs. John Drinkwater has been granted a divorce in London from her husband, the dramatist, author of "Abraham Lincoln," "Robert E. Lee" and other historical plays. Before her marriage Mrs. Drinkwater was Katherine Walpole, an actress. Photo shows the couple.

National Democratic Convention for New York—Interior view of the historic old Madison Square Garden as it appears when ready for boxing matches. The seating capacity, now 13,000, will be increased to 20,000 for the democratic convention in June.

Bryan Picks Florida Educator as Democratic Presidential Candidate—Dr. A. A. Murphree, president of the University of Florida, who has been announced as William Jennings Bryan's democratic candidate for 1924. "The Commoner" himself made the announcement that he would support Dr. Murphree, who has never before made any sort of appearance on the national political horizon.

Gives $2,000,000-a-Year Business to Employees—After 20 years as a manufacturer of handkerchiefs, I. C. Herman, head of the firm of I. C. Herman & Co., made two faithful employees, Irving S. Rosoff and Fred M. Smith, a gift of the concern, which did a $2,000,000 business in 1923. Herman is a twin brother of A. H. Woods, the theatrical producer. Woods is Al Herman's professional name. "I'm rich enough," said Herman (left), as he turned over the business.

Osage Indian Flappers in the Capital—When a delegation of 77 Osage Indians from Oklahoma visited the capital to confer with federal officials on various Indian affairs, two Indian flappers accompanied the group. Left to right in the group above are Mrs. Red Eagle, Miss Rose Wagoshe and Miss Mary Red Eagle. The child is little Miss Julia Red Eagle. The two young Indian girls, in their modern dress, present a striking comparison with the old Indian squaw.

William H. Vanderbilt Takes Job as Office Boy—William H. Vanderbilt, who is shown with his bride, the former Emily O'Neil Davis, likes the banking business so well that he has determined to learn it from the ground up. The son of the late Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt and heir to $20,000,000 has become an office boy for Lee, Higginson & Co., bankers, of Boston and New York, and is drawing an office boy's salary, which does not begin to pay the expenses of keeping five servants and a butler at his Beacon Hill home. He arrives at the office on the dot, runs errands and does everything else that a $15-a-week office boy is supposed to do.

Girl of the Golden West—Miss Donn Glover, who shows how the girl of the golden west rides her rearing, snorting mustang. Miss Glover was one of the many cow girls who participated in the rodeo at Hollywood, arranged in honor of William G. McAdoe, former secretary of the treasury.

Mrs. M. E. Handler is one of the crack Omaha Athletic club swimmers taught by Coach Pete Wendell. She is particularly adept at fancy swimming.

Count Salm as a Desert Sheik—Here is pictured the Count Ludwig Salm von Hoogstraeten in the character of a sheik as he appeared in a motion picture. His amazing romance with Millicent Rogers, whom he married not long ago, reveals, bit by bit, interesting episodes in his life as a film player.

Mexican Rebel Gunboats Shell Tampico—A view of the waterfront and city of Tampico, which was shelled by two rebel gunboats. Several houses were destroyed when shells dropped in suburbs of Tampico. Artillery on duty at the port of Tampico, however, returned the fire and compelled the gunboats to retire outside the range of their guns.