

Tax Plan Called 'Rich Men's Bonus'

Mellon Scheme Advanced Primarily to Defeat Vets' Compensation, Says Legion Speaker.

Stanton, Neb., Feb. 11.—Characterizing the Mellon tax plan as a "millionaires' bonus" and a "clever scheme for shifting the burden of taxation to the shoulders of those with small incomes," Frank A. Warner, national executive committee man of the American Legion, spoke here tonight on the "Mellon Tax Plan and the Compensation Measure." Mr. Warner, in part said: "The Mellon tax plan was put forth primarily with the thought only of defeating the ex-soldiers' adjusted compensation bill. The American Legion is in favor of tax reduction, but when Secretary Mellon asserts that tax reduction is impossible if a soldiers' adjusted compensation bill is passed, he knowingly and willfully lies.

"The Mellon plan, while it appeals to the poor man by cutting off the amusement taxes and reducing his income tax 25 per cent, primarily will benefit the rich man. If, as Secretary Mellon says, large incomes are being diverted to tax-free securities, why did not he recommend some plan to correct this evil whereby the government could procure the taxes that were rightly due it?"

"The government is losing millions in taxes because the rich, especially to evade the inheritance tax, are giving away their property to members of their families before they die and still more millions are lost through the incorporation of individuals. This is accomplished by forming a corporation composed of the individual and the immediate members of his family, such as the one formed by Henry Ford, his son, Edsel and his wife. Through this action they escape by paying an income tax of only 12 per cent.

"Not only are big business interests fighting the bonus measure because they are against paying an adjusted compensation to the ex-soldiers, but also with the idea that if this measure is defeated the American Legion will become impotent and its influence in support of restricted immigration and anti-child labor legislation will be lost."

Nebraska News Nubbins

Ord—The Ord High school debating team will meet the Greeley team at Greeley next week. The local team is made up of Earl Beebe, Alice Maynard and Rose Perlinski. The immigration question will be debated.

Ord—At the regular meeting of the board of education, Supt. Herbert L. Cushing was re-elected at a substantial increase in salary. Mr. Cushing is now serving his third year as head of the Ord schools.

Tecumseh—Fifty-one persons united with the Christian church of Tecumseh as the outcome of a two weeks' evangelistic campaign. The evangelist was Rev. J. S. Beem of Geneva, and he was assisted by the local pastor, Rev. F. H. Kennedy.

Tecumseh—Lincoln newspapers have printed a statement that Representative Elmer J. Lamb of Tecumseh might enter the ring as a republican candidate for state auditor. Mr. Lamb advises that he has no intention of filing for auditor. However, he will be a candidate to succeed himself as a member of the state legislature, representative from the Third district, which is Johnson county.

Tecumseh—Hon. O. A. Corbin, former state legislator, is quite sick at the home of his daughter, Mrs. V. D. Douglas, at Crab Orchard. Mr. Corbin, who is 82, suffered a light paralysis stroke. Two other daughters, Mrs. P. J. Turner and Mrs. George Harrah, are on their way to Nebraska from California.

Newcastle—Mrs. H. O. Salmons, wife of the editor of the Newcastle Times, became critically ill and was taken to the hospital where she underwent a serious operation. Chances for her recovery are favorable. Mrs. Salmons has been assisting in editing the local paper.

Newcastle—C. C. Omer was trying to start his coupe here when it caught fire. The oil and gasoline fed the flames so that the entire car was enveloped in a few minutes and entirely destroyed.

Obert—Lola Ehle, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Ehle of this place, has returned from the hospital where she has been confined since being kicked in the face by a horse. The side of her face was badly crushed and the jawbone broken, but by skillful attention in having the bone reset and the lacerations healed there is scarcely any deformity.

Medical School Junior Working Way as Church Gymnasium Director

C. H. Folsom

Clarence H. Folsom Teaching Youth of First Central Congregational Intricacies of Basketball.

He was instructing a crowd of the younger generation in the intricacies of basket ball, was this gymnasium director of First Central United Congregational church. The youngsters crowded around and waited expectantly for each word. He was their hero, their ideal.

Clarence H. Folsom, although but 22, has an A. B. from Wesleyan University and a B. S. from the University of Nebraska. His home is in University Place. At present, he is a junior at the University of Nebraska College of Medicine.

"I'm working my way through," said young Folsom, with some degree of pride. "I don't exactly have to, but it's sort of fun. For a while, I taught in the Y. M. C. A. night school. I've spent a good deal of time on the medical school telephone switch board. Now I'm here."

Participates in Meet.

In his school life the youthful gymnasium director has participated in every game with the exception of football. In 1921 he was captain of the Wesleyan basket ball team.

Last summer he represented the Omaha Athletic club in the second annual track meet of the A. A. U.

All classes in the gymnasium, beneath the church, are under his supervision and personal direction. There are 18 of these groups, divided into four sections. One section comprises boys in the sixth and seventh grades; another is of eighth grade youngsters. Then come the first three-year students in high school and finally the seniors and larger youths.

Ligaments Torn.

"It's the kind of work I like, and I'm very much interested in the classes of this church," said Folsom, as the youngsters tossed a basket ball from one to another.

Three weeks ago, he tore ligaments in his right arm in a basket ball skirmish and is carrying the injured member in a sling.

"Mr. Folsom is a fine young chap, and we expect great things from the young men being trained in the gymnasium under him," said Rev. Frank G. Smith, pastor of the church.

Wild Animals Killing Deer

Coyotes, Wolves and Mountain Lions More Serious Menace Than Hunters.

Pierre, S. D., Feb. 11.—Coyotes, wolves and mountain lions constitute a far more serious menace to the preservation of deer in the Black Hills than attacks by hunters, according to a report submitted to Gov. W. H. McMaster by A. S. Peck, United States district forester.

While elk in the Black Hills and Harney national forests in this state have increased from an estimated 50 in 1914 to 850 last year, the total estimated number of deer in the two areas dropped from 2,065 to 1,298 during the same period, the report stated. The figures were computed from direct observations by forest officers and were declared to be reasonably accurate.

The increase in number of elk is set forth as a benefit from the protection afforded during the period. The report said that while some ranchers have complained of destroyed fences, the general sentiment in the hills is favorable toward the elk increase. Black-tailed deer fell away in numbers from 1,690 to 663, the estimate showed. The number killed by hunters the last year, 175, was said to be less than the normal increase.

Adequate protection of deer and the hope of a continued open season seems to be largely dependent on complete eradication of lions and wolves and continuous warfare against coyotes," the report continued. "At present it is estimated there are 1,600 coyotes, 25 wolves and eight mountain lions in the two forests."

Attempt Made to Burn Old Sale Barn Is Thwarted

Ord, Neb., Feb. 11.—The fire department was called to the third blaze of the week when fire of incendiary origin was discovered by Night Watchman Roy Pardue in the old Albert McMinden sale barn, now owned by Frank I. Olson of Grand Island. The blaze was extinguished before serious damage was done. Investigation revealed several piles of papers and refuse saturated with kerosene in different parts of the barn. The barn is situated just north of the Koupal & Barstow lumber yard and had it not been for the timely action of Pardue this yard and the business section of the city might have been seriously threatened.

Perfect biscuits every time

MOTHER has made hot biscuits for supper. A big heaping plate of them, brown and crusty on top and like ciderdown for lightness. You split one in half and top each bite with golden butter or maybe apple butter, or some fragrant honey. You wouldn't trade places with an emporer.

"You've always been a whiz at biscuits, Mother, but of late you're getting better than ever," you say.

"It isn't I, my dear," she answers, "it's just my same reliable recipe, but that Omar Wonder Flour you bought certainly makes the nicest of any flour I ever used."

Selected spring and winter wheat goes into Omar Wonder Flour. A marvelously perfect selection produces a flour rich in wholesome, healthful gluten. Test bakings in our own kitchens precede the release of every run of flour from our mills.

Go to your grocer to-day and buy a sack of Omar Flour. From it you may make bread, cakes, muffins, waffles, biscuits, rolls and hot cakes, gravies and cream sauces with a goodness that you never before enjoyed and with a regularity that is unflinching.
