Women Leaders Silent on Resolution Condemning Normand Film

Other women's organizations of Omaha seem unlikely to follow the lead of the Omaha Woman's Christian Temperance union in demanding that films by Mabel Normand be barred from the screen, according to statements by several club leaders.

Of the two other unions in the city, neither has taken any action to date and no movement is on foot at present to take up the matter, according to their presidents.

"Miss Normand is no more guilty than a lot of the rest of the stars," said Mrs. H. Gotscher, president of the Johnson union. "Of course, if she were really implicated in the shootings in any way, she should be punished; but we are not the ones to do it."

Members of the Frances Willard union have had no business meeting since the unanimous passage by their sister union of the resolution condemning the Normand films, said their president, Mrs. H. N. Craig, and so she has no means of knowing their opinion of the resolution. She thinks a similar action by her chapter is unlikely.

Mrs. Philip Potter, president of the Omaha Woman's club, said no mention of the matter had so far been made before the Woman's club, and that she had no comment to make upon the action of the W. C. T. U.

Legion Auxiliary Speaker.

Mrs. T. J. Gist of Falls City will be in Omaha next Tuesday to present to members of the American Legion auxiliary of which she is a national committeewoman, the results of the Indianapolis convention. She speaks at the meeting of the auxiliary that evening in Memorial hall, courthouse.

Lutheran Men Get Royal Banquet for Families

Men of the Lutheran brotherhood proved themselves expert chefs at a mother and daughter banquet cooked and served to the queen's taste last night at Our Savior's Lutheran church. One hundred seventy-five mothers and daughters were present.

A committee of devoted fathers worked hard all day preparing the feast and decorating the church with palms and colored paper streamers. George D. Gibson, assisted by a committee of three, was in charge of the affair; but nearly all the members of the brotherhood were drafted for some form of service.

The program alone was left to feminine ingenuity. Mrs. Reinhardt Ullviden was toastmistress. Mrs. Peter Wig spoke on behalf of the mothers, and Miss Jennie Hansen replied for Press It at Home.

To retain the crease in trousers and prevent bagging at the knees use the following method: Reduce to a fine powder one ounce of gum tragacanth and one ounce of gum arabic and mix well.

Now dissolve one tablespoonful of this powder in half a pint of hot water and shake thoroughly. Turn the trousers wrong side out and moisten with this preparation a strip one inch wide down the front of the leg. Turn on the right side again and press the trousers with a hot iron along the crease.

If the goods is the kind that stretches easily and gets out of shape quickly give extra protection in this way: Turn the trousers wrong side out and attach to the edge of the leg seams, just over the knee, a silk patch eight inches long and as wide as the width of the trousers leg. Sew this securely along the outer edge of the seams.

Now turn again to the right side and press the crease firmly from top to bottom of the leg. The silk helps to retain the crease, permitting the cloth to slide freely over the knees when the wearer is sitting or stooping, thus preventing bagging at the knees.

Decorative Watch Fob

A watch fob to be worn on the upper left hand pocket of the tailored suit, a watch fob that reverses its original position, in that it no longer hangs down from the watch, which is in some pocket out of sight. This tailored fob is pinned to the top of the pocket and from it dangles the watch. If one has any objection to wearing one's watch on one's pocket in these days when holdups make the earning of a livelihood so easy for so many, one can be just as smart and up to the minute if dangling from the fob is a silver, platinum or jewel pendant of some sort.

Clam Fritters.

Clean, drain and chop one pint of clams. Next beat two eggs until light, add one-third cup of milk and one and a third cups of flour stirred with two teaspoons of baking powder, one teaspoon of salt and one-fourth teaspoon of pepper. Drop by spoonfuls and fry in deep fat.

The End of the Shade.

It is often worth while to reverse the ends of window shades if but one end is worn or faded. Simply reverse the ends and tack the worn portion to the slat stretcher. Hem on the sewing machine with a very long stitch because a short stitch will cut the fabric.

Colored Tablecloths and Napkins.

The old red tablecloth which once made us bow our heads in shame when we recalled that it covered our parents' or grandparents' table has returned with a vengeance. In its tow are tablecloths of every color that can be conceived and white tablecloths with colored borders. Napkins match the cloths.
