

Jewish Welfare Body in Annual Meeting Tonight

Judge Harry M. Fisher of Chicago to Deliver Principal Address at Hotel Fontenelle.

Twelve hundred subscribers of the Jewish Welfare federation of Omaha are expected to attend the annual meeting Sunday evening, February 17, at Hotel Fontenelle. The meeting will be public.

Harry M. Fisher, Chicago judge, arrived in Omaha Saturday to deliver the address of the evening.

Dr. Philip Sher, president of the federation, will read the president's annual message, and Samuel Schaefer, superintendent, will speak on the social service activities of the past year.

Harry Malashock, chairman of the finance committee, will report, and Mrs. Nathan Mantel, president of the women's auxiliary of the federation, will detail the activities of the organization. Officers for 1924 will be elected. Musical numbers will be given by the Misses Dorothy and Ida Lustgarten. William L. Holzman will preside.

The Jewish Welfare federation embraces 21 institutions and agencies. Last year the federation spent approximately $48,000 for welfare work, $41,000 of which was spent in Omaha, and $7,000 appropriated to institutions throughout the country which the federation helps maintain.

A Queer World

"Bleeding Hawk," Mummy Taken From Egyptian Tomb, Is War Barometer

Never Falls. Cullompton, Devonshire, Feb. 16.—A mummified hawk, taken from an Egyptian tomb and probably 2,500 years old, has gained fame in Devon as the "bleeding hawk."

W. J. A. Grant, a magistrate of this place, who owns the hawk, relates that just before the Boer war the bird, which was up to that time "bone dry" turned moist and shed drops of blood, but before the peace treaty was signed, became dry again.

Blood appeared again in July 1914, and the bird did not become dry again until shortly before the armistice.

When war threatened in the Near East, a distinguished general from Gallipoli, taking tea with Mr. Grant, declared that hostilities were inevitable.

Mr. Grant, consulting the hawk and finding it dry, offered to bet the general one hundred to one that there would be no war. His prediction proved true.

Not This Week. Chicago, Feb. 16.—An over-zealous press agent is blamed by Miss Jessie Reed, follies dancer, for the report of her engagement to Russell Griswold Colt, former husband of Ethel Barrymore.

"One of woman's rights is to know to whom the press agents are engaging her," she states. "Mr. Colt's name was not on the list for publication this week. I know him, that is all."

"I don't want to be Ethel Barrymore's successor in any way," she declared. "She never was a show girl."

Americans Come From Mexico

By Associated Press. Vera Cruz, Feb. 16.—The United States cruiser Richmond has arrived from Puerto Mexico, where a battle is brewing, bringing four American oil men and 35 other refugees, including Englishmen, Spaniards and Frenchmen. The Americans are J. A. Balduette, John B. Orynski, J. Langstroth and R. K. Manning.

The new arrivals say the rebels are feverishly engaged in erecting fortifications and otherwise preparing to defend Puerto Mexico, against attack by government forces from Santa Lucresia.

The rebel general, Benito Torruco, in charge, has received reinforcements of 400 men from Yucatan, and the gunboat Zaragoza will be used in the defense.

Chicago Inn Bombed. Chicago, Feb. 16.—Two occupants of the place were pitched down into the basement and bruised today when a bomb tossed through a window of the Gingham Inn, on the South Side, exploded with terrific force.

Every window in the inn, as was many in adjoining buildings, were shattered. The detonation was heard for blocks.

Norris Frane, porter, and William Wing, another employee, were the men hurt.

French Receive Von Hoesch. Paris, Feb. 16.—Dr. Leopold Von Hoesch was formally received as the new German ambassador to France by President Millerand today.

"Observance of treaties," was declared by President Millerand in his remarks to be the keystone of the solution of the difficulties surrounding the reparations problem.

Dr. Von Hoesch, in an unusually brief address, said he fully realized the difficulties of his task, but was confident that with French good will to aid him he would be successful.

Condition Unchanged. Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 16.—Theodore Roberts, noted character actor, who was stricken ill two months ago while appearing in a local vaudeville house, today was reported in fair physical condition with no danger of a relapse.

The management of the hotel where Roberts is living issued a statement today declaring the actor was in excellent condition.

Lone Penny Sets Aged Romeo Off Guard and Alert Camera Man Wins

La Follette Asks Probe on Alaska

Washington, Feb. 16.—Senator La Follette, republican, Wisconsin, who introduced the resolution that started the oil inquiry, proposed another, also dealing with the leasing policies of former Secretary Fall.

Mr. La Follette's new measure, prepared after John E. Ballaine of Seattle, an Alaskan railroad contractor, had presented allegations to President Coolidge relating to the transfer of the Matanuska coal reserve, from the navy to the interior department, calls upon the interior secretary to submit his department's records on the matter to the senate.

A copy of the transfer agreement between Secretaries Fall and Denby is asked in the resolution together with all executive orders and other papers, including any lease made, applications for leases and correspondence on the subject.

Labor Union in Chest Fund Row

Exonerates Former President—Withdraws Support of Midwest Labor News.

Central Labor union Friday night exonerated J. M. Gibb, former president, censured David Coutts, delegate from stone cutters' union, and withdrew its support of the Midwest Labor News, as the result of a letter which appeared in the News on January 17, over Coutts' signature.

This action followed a request from Gibb, that an investigation be made into the circumstances of his name being placed on the list of the board of directors of the Omaha Welfare federation without his approval. Coutts' letter was a demand that Gibb resign from the Central Labor union or from the Welfare federation which directs the Community Chest.

Gibb Statement. Gibb offered the following statement of the situation:

"When the Community Chest was being promoted the directors wanted someone to represent organized labor in their organization. Without consulting me they used my name and later even placed my name on the board of directors. I did not accept either appointment and advised the Community Chest people to that effect. They sent two representatives before the Central Labor union, which decided not to participate in the Community Chest. I took no part in the affairs of the Community Chest organization. When Coutts published his letter I asked the Central Labor union for an investigation, which was held."

Lochray Replies. J. A. Lochray, editor of the Midwest News, which published the Coutts letter, said:

"Gibb did not resign from the Community Chest organization although he had sufficient time to do so. There is a bunch in the Central Labor union that is trying to control our paper. This paper will serve the rank and file of labor and will go right along without indorsement at the labor temple."

Fair Visitors

Omaha's Annual Auto Show

This is your invitation to view new apparel styles. You may choose, here, Spring apparel that unites glorious promise with happy fulfillment. Wear new fashions first—but wear new fashions that will last.

Spring Waits Just Beyond the Threshold

With spring just around the corner, one must give attention to the planning of her new-season wardrobe. The simple sports frock, for now or later, with its slender grace—the new and mannish tailleur—the glimpse of white on black satin—the prominence of sleeves and necklines—all these will be important to you. Make a note on your visiting calendar—Thompson-Belden's, Monday and Tuesday mornings.

Tailored suits are in the foreground Correct in every detail, O'Rossen of Paris has brought the suit back to prominence, and smarter than ever.

Beaded georgette dinner dresses have never met the mode that could replace them. This season they have taken unto themselves tiny pleats and the shoulder cape.

Coats of varying lengths—plain or plaided Checkerboards in striking colors—their enveloping folds make them motor coats of utility.

Betty Wales dresses for smaller women are offered in sizes as small as 14. Their lines are youthful; their styles essentially becoming.

THIRD FLOOR

Blouses, more and more tailored, take the long straight lines of the midday. Straight and plain with the exception of tucking or embroidery in expected places.

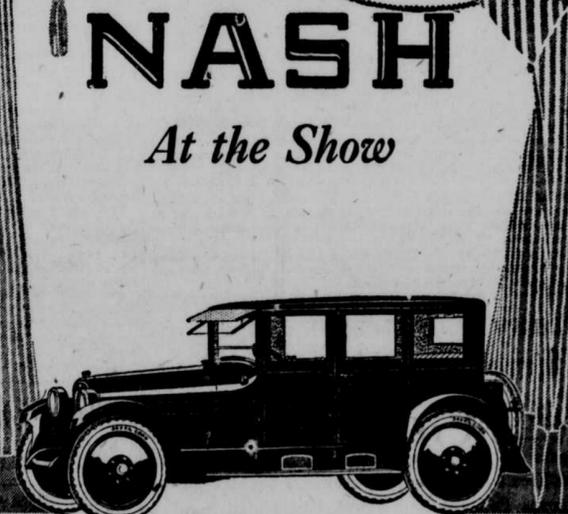

The elimination of the belt has at last been achieved. The result is a perfect tube silhouette, formed by a tunic which falls almost to the hemline. This mode is smartly worn.

Flannel grows more and more popular as a sports fabric. Dresses will be brightly plaided and as short as eleven inches from the ground. Very clever models at $25.

For the smartness that it gives to her tailleur, one wears a choker of sable or marten. Hudson Bay, $65; Stone Marten, fine dark skins, $37.50.

NASH At the Show

The Six Four-Door Coupe

No Nash achievement more keenly illustrates the decisive individuality of Nash body building than this Four-Door Coupe model.

Broadly spacious as regards seat space and leg room, it is nevertheless of a compactness that measurably increases the convenience of handling in snug places.

And in sheer performance ability the car owns a prowess as unique and individual as the body design.

All in all, it surpasses the very best that Nash has disclosed at past shows and lends itself to ready road demonstration that the value it offers is a wider and greater value in every worth-while element.
