

Osteopaths to Hold Convention Here This Week

Banquet, Motion Pictures and Radio Program to Feature Convention Activities.

Convention of osteopaths at Hotel Fontenelle Monday, followed by a banquet, motion pictures and a radio program in the evening, will open Omaha's observance of osteopathic week, which will feature a series of clinics and educational programs.

Dr. J. C. Gaddis of Chicago, national secretary and editor of the American Osteopathic Association, will address the convention and will also make a short talk by radio.

The convention proper will open at the hotel at 1:45 in the afternoon with an introductory talk by Dr. A. D. Laird, president of the Greater Omaha Osteopathic Association.

Radio Program.

Other speakers during the afternoon on technical subjects will be Dr. Charlotte McCuskey, Dr. W. K. Stefan, Dr. H. C. Leopold and Dr. B. S. Peterson.

Dr. Gaddis will speak on "Fifty Years of Osteopathy."

Dr. J. A. Niemann will be toastmaster at the banquet, which is scheduled for 7:45 p. m. The film, "How Life Begins," will be shown by courtesy of Dr. Jennie M. Laird.

At 9 a radio program under the auspices of the Greater Omaha Osteopathic Association will be broadcast from station WOAW. The program has been arranged by Stanley Jan Letovsky, Omaha pianist and composer. Mr. Letovsky also will appear on the program.

Henry Cox on Program.

Mrs. Walter Lawrence Pierpont of Omaha, contralto, will sing two groups of songs. She was graduated from the Stockholm conservatory at Stockholm, Sweden.

Another artist on the program will be Miss Frances Mabel Pope, dramatic soprano, who overcame a childhood illness to achieve musical success. Her early musical education was obtained at Holdrege, Neb. Later she entered the Bush conservatory at Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cox of Omaha also are included on the program.

Wealth, Crops in 1923 Exceed Previous Years

More Produced Than in 1921 and 1922, Federal Reserve District Report Shows.

A larger volume of commodities was produced and more wealth created in the 10th federal reserve district, in which Omaha is located, during 1923 than in either 1922 or 1921, according to summary of reports to reserve banks.

Agricultural production outran that of 1922, both in quantity and value, figures set forth in the monthly review of the district indicated, notwithstanding the severe drought which affected crops in the southern half of the district.

The wheat crop was about 66,538,000 bushels less than that of the previous year. The reduced wheat yield, however, was more than offset by an increase of 120,965,000 bushels of corn, an increase of 31,867,000 bushels of oats and increases in other crops, except apples, peaches, potatoes and cotton.

Livestock from the farms and ranges was moved to the market centers in numbers which exceeded those of the previous year. Meat packing operations were correspondingly increased. The December reports reflected a larger number of cattle, hogs and sheep on feed than a year ago.

Wells in four states of the district produced 12 per cent more crude oil than in the previous year, while production of coal in six states increased about 21 per cent. Zinc ore shipments in Missouri, Oklahoma and Kansas increased about 42 per cent; lead ore shipments decreased about 8 per cent, while a revival in precious metal mining was experienced in Colorado with a greatly increased output for the year.

Manufacturing operations in the district were heavy during the year and the volume of mercantile trade, wholesale and retail, was larger than in 1922, with underlying conditions improved.

Building throughout the district continued at a high rate of activity, exceeding that of the previous year and in many cities and towns ever coming the housing shortage which had existed since the world war.

Highway building and public improvements made rapid progress, although increased taxation and high cost of material and labor caused much work of this character to be held back.

were at the door to meet her. One took her hat and another her coat and the little fellow had her rubbers on for her. "You could have waited a minute to wait on people who appreciate it, and if you don't wait on you they'll look for somebody else to wait on. Now mark my words."

But Mary MacNab was already halfway up the stairs to lay out Pettie's evening gown.

New German Oil Formula Rubs Out Rheumatic Pains

Remarkable Discovery Promises Relief to Rheumatic Sufferers

German chemistry that has given to the world the boon of Aspirin for the relief of headache, pain, and Neurasthenia for painless dentistry, has now come forward with another scientific discovery that promises to make rheumatic pain a thing of the past for thousands who have suffered terrible tortures.

A new combination of certain oils has been discovered, which produces a clear amber liquid that affords immediate relief from pain in many instances. It is so penetrating that it disappears within a few seconds, so that it must be entirely absorbed by the body tissue. Even in the most advanced and stubborn cases the use of this remarkable oil has shown astonishing improvement at once in many cases. Tired muscles regain life, creaking joints with the pain all gone become supple, and the annoying twinges cease.

Rheumatism, in many cases, is due to internal abscesses, such as a blind pus pocket in a tooth, which gives off poisons. These poisons are carried by the blood to the muscles and joints and this new oil is designed to neutralize these pain-causing poisons.

So astonishing have been the results from the use of this oil that the American distributors have authorized local druggists to dispense it to rheumatic sufferers in this city, with a positive written guarantee, signed by themselves to return the full purchase price of the first bottle if the rheumatic pains are not wonderfully relieved. All who suffer from rheumatic pains should take advantage of this liberal offer. Unless you get relief from the very first bottle, your druggist will return your money. It is called "Bubler Oil" and can be had at most good druggists, such as Sherman & McConnell Drug Co., Heaton Drug Co., Merritt Drug Co., Heaton Drug Co., Pope Drug Co., Haines Drug Co., Unit-Doekal Drug Co. and Saratoga Drug Co.

A Nebraskan in Washington

By F. C. POWELL.

Washington Correspondent: The Omaha Bee From Congressman Willis G. Sears of Omaha, comes severe condemnation of the act of the senate in passing the Robinson resolution calling for dismissal of Secretary Denby. Sears points out that the senate, as the court of impeachment of any official, is the highest tribunal in the land.

"Imagine the indignation in Omaha if when I was a district judge there and a murder trial was to be held in my court I would make a statement that the person to be brought to trial was guilty," the Omaha congressman said. "The other judges rightfully would meet and hold I shouldn't hear the case."

"Yet," continued Sears, "the senate which is even now threatened with being forced to sit as a court of impeachment against Denby, went on record as believing the man guilty before he had been given a trial. I am proud of the fact that Senator Howell voted against such procedure."

The entire Nebraska delegation in the lower house is grinning broadly and saying Edgar Howard is running true to his usual campaign form in charging everyone who doesn't vote his way with being tools of Wall Street. The entire delegation, including Shallenbarger and Morehead, played Wall street's game in voting for passage of the Green resolution to put "lazy dollars" to work by discontinuing issuance of tax exempt securities, according to a statement made by Howard in explaining why he voted against the resolution.

Senator R. B. Howell is one of the few senators who answers all correspondence. In one day he sent 150 letters from his office. There's no waiting around the Howell office.

J. W. Shortbill of Omaha appeared before the senate agricultural committee this week and asserted he didn't believe any of the bills pending before the committee farmers. His claim was that all tended toward price fixing and would stimulate production, which, Shortbill asserted was the one thing to be curtailed.

Asked by Senator Norris what he did propose to aid the farmers, Shortbill replied that an extension of credit by private individuals was the only remedy he could name. Shortbill supplemented his remarks by stating that the opinion expressed was individual and was not the opinion of any organization in which he was an officer.

Congressmen estimate that fully one-half the time of the lower house is consumed with speeches by Blanton of Texas. What's more the next day after the speeches are delivered a printed copy of them is received by every newspaper man in Washington.

There's something uncanny about the silence of Congressman John H. Morehead concerning his plans for the future. That Morehead can break the habit of a lifetime in being a candidate for some office seems improbable. That he would like to be a United States senator has been proven. Will he run for senator? That's a question that must be answered in the next few weeks.

Crawford Kennedy has decided that instead of running for delegate-at-large to the national convention, he will save his money and buy a car. He's gotten to that stage where every time a person shifts a gear he wants to know what that does.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI.

The Selfish Mother.

"I don't see how she can do it," sighed busy little Mrs. MacNab. "She makes those children do everything for her and she doesn't do a thing she can help."

"But her children are fine, Mary. You can't deny that."

"No-o," said Mary MacNab grudgingly. "I'll say that. But that's why I say she's so selfish. If I had such children I'd wear myself to the bone for them."

"By the looks of you that's what you've done already," said the heartless sister.

"I only do my duty by mine," said Mary primly. "What more can a good mother do?"

"Less," came promptly from the college sister who thought that Mary was rapidly making a doormat of herself for the two husky youngsters.

"No. I never expect to hear my children say that their mother was selfish. I never spare myself. They'll never have it to say that their mother neglected them or took advantage of them."

"What I'm afraid of is that they'll take what you do for them as their due and never think what it cost you. You know children have to be taught appreciation. They aren't born with it."

"And I suppose you're thinking that she is teaching hers to appreciate her? The lazy thing. Do you know that Josephine gets up the first thing in the morning and carries a cup of coffee to her mother in bed?"

"And doesn't Josephine like to do it for her? From what I saw of them they think it's a privilege to wait on their mother and they know well how to do it at that."

"When I was over there for luncheon the other day they got the luncheon and served it to us and their mother never had to lift an eyebrow."

"The more shame to her," put in Mary hotly.

"The more power to her, say I. Don't you see Mary that she must have taught those children to work. Doesn't it mean that she took all sorts of trouble with them? Girls don't know how to cook and serve a luncheon unless they've been taught. Somebody had to do it."

"When she got home the other night tired and cold and hungry they
